BY AUTHORITY.

By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation.

Whereas a Convention of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation, between the United States of America, and the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, was concluded and signed, by their Plenipotentiaries, at Washington, on the twentieth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, which Convention, being in the English and French languages, is, word for word, as follows:

[ORIGINAL.]

CONVENTION

Of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation, between the United States of America and the Free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg.

The United States of America, on the one part, and the Republic and Free Hanseatic City of Lubeck, the Republic and Free Hanseatic City of Bremen, and the Republic and Free Hanseatic City of Hamburg, (each State for itself separately,) on the other part, being desirous to give greater facility to their commercial intercourse, and to place the privileges of their navigation on a basis of the most extended liberality, have resolved to fix, in a manner clear, distinct, and positive, the rules which shall be observed between the one and the other, by means of a Convention of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation. For the attainment of this most desirable object, the President of the United States of America has conferred full powers on HENRY CLAY, their Secretary of State; and the Senate of the Republic and free Hanseatic City of Lubeck, the Senate of the Republic and free Hanseatic City of Bremen, & the Senate of the Republic and free Hanseatic City of Hamburg, have conferred full powers on VINCENT RUMPF, their Minister Plenipotentiary near the United States of America, who, after having exchanged their said full powers, found in due and proper form, have agreed to the following articles:

ARTICLE I.

The contracting parties agree, that, whatever kind of produce, manufacture, or merchandise, of any foreign country, can be, from time to time, lawfully imported into the United States, in their own vessels, may be also imported in vessels of the said free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, and that no higher or other duties upon the tonnage or cargo of the vessel, shall be levied or collected, whether the importation be made in vessels of the said Hanseatic Republics. And, in the same manner, that whatever kind of produce, manufacture, or merchandise, of any foreign country, can be, from time to time, lawfully imported into either of the said Hanseatic Republics, in its own vessels, may be also imported in vessels of the United States; and that no higher or other duties upon the tonnage or cargo of the vessel, shall be levied or collected, whether the importation be made in vessels of one party, or of the other. And they agree, that, whatever may be lawfully exported, or re-exported, by one party, in its own vessels, in any foreign country, may, in like manner, be exported or re-exported in the vessels of the other party. And the same bounties, duties, and drawbacks, shall be allowed and collected, whether such exportation or re-exportation be made in vessels of the one party, or of the other. Nor shall higher, or other duties, of any kind, be imposed in the ports of the one party, on vessels of the other, than are, or shall be, payable in the like ports by national vessels.

ARTICLE II.

No higher or other duties shall be imposed on the importation, into the United States, of any article, the produce or manufacture of the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg; and no higher, or other duties shall be imposed on the importation, into either of the said Republics, of any article, the produce or manufacture of the United States, than are, or shall be, payable on the like article, being the produce or manufacture of any other foreign country; nor shall any other, or higher duties or charges, be imposed by either party on the exportation of any articles to the United States, or to the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, or Hamburg, respectively, than such as are, or shall be, payable on the exportation of the like articles to any other foreign country; nor shall any prohibition be imposed on the importation or exportation of any article, the produce or manufacture of the United States, or of the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen or Hamburg, to, or from, the ports of the other party, which shall not equally extend to all other nations.

ARTICLE III.

No priority or preference shall be given, directly or indirectly, by any or either of the contracting parties, nor by any company, corporation, or agent, acting on their behalf, or under their authority, in the purchase of any article, the produce or manufacture of their States, respectively, imported into the other, on account of, or in reference to, the character of the vessel, whether it be of the one party or of the other, in which such article was imported; it being the true intent and meaning of the contracting parties, that no distinction or difference whatever shall be made in this respect.

ARTICLE IV.

In consideration of the limited extent of the intimate connexion of trade and navigation subsisting between these Republics, it is hereby stipulated and agreed, that any vessel which shall be owned exclusively by a citizen or citizens of any or either of them, and of which the master shall also be a citizen of any or either of them, and provided three-fourths of the crew shall be citizens or subjects of any or either of the said Republics, or any or either of the States of the Confederation of Germany, such vessel so owned and navigated shall, for all the purposes of this Convention, be taken to be, and considered as, a vessel belonging to Lubeck, Bremen or Hamburg.

ARTICLE V.

Any vessel, together with her cargo, belonging to either of the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen or Hamburg, and coming from either of the said ports to the United States, shall for all the purposes of this Convention, be deemed to have clearly from the Republic to which such vessel belongs; although, in fact, it may not have been the one from which she departed; and any vessel of the United States, and her cargo, trading to the port of Lubeck, Bremen or Hamburg, directly or in succession, shall, for the like purposes, be on the footing of a Hanseatic vessel, and her cargo, making the same voyage.

ARTICLE VI.

It is likewise agreed that it shall be wholly free for all merchants, commanders of ships, and other citizens of both parties, to manage themselves, their own business, in all the ports and places subject to the jurisdiction of each other, as well with respect to the consignment and sale of their goods and merchandise, by wholesale or retail, as with respect to the loading, unloading, and sending off their ships; submitting themselves to the laws, decrees, and usages there established, to which native citizens are subjected; they being, in all these cases, to be treated as citizens of the Republic in which they reside, or at least to be placed on a footing with the citizens or subjects of the most favored nations.

ARTICLE VII.

The citizens of each of the contracting parties shall have power to dispose of their personal goods, within the jurisdiction of the other, by sale, donation, testament, or otherwise; and their representatives, being citizens of the other party, shall succeed to their said personal goods, whether by testament or ab intestate, and they may take possession thereof, either by themselves or others acting for them, and dispose of the same at their will, paying such dues only as the inhabitants of the country wherein said goods are, shall be subject to pay in like cases; and if, in the case of real estate, the said heirs would be prevented from entering into the possession of the inheritance on account of their character of aliens, there shall be granted to them the term of three years to dispose of the same, as they may think proper, and to withdraw the proceeds without molestation, and exempt from all duties of detraction on the part of the government of the respective States.

ARTICLE VIII.

Both the contracting parties promise and engage mutually, to give their special protection to the persons and property of the citizens of each other, of all occupations, who may be in the territories subject to the jurisdiction of the one or the other; transient or dwelling therein, leaving open and free to them the tribunals of justice for their judicial recourse, on the same terms which are usual and customary with the natives or citizens of the country in which they may be; for which they employ, in defence of their rights; such advocates, dele-gators, notaries, agents, and factors, as they may judge proper, in all their trials at law; and such citizens or agents shall have as free opportunity as native citizens to be present at the decisions and sentences of the tribunals, in all cases which may concern them; and likewise at the taking of all examinations and evidence which may be exhibited in the said trials.

ARTICLE IX.

The contracting parties, desiring to live in peace and harmony with all the other nations of the earth, by means of a policy, frank, and equally friendly with all, engage mutually not to grant any particular favor to other nations, in respect of commerce and navigation, which shall not immediately become common to the other party, who shall enjoy the same freely, if the concession was freely made, or on allowing the same compensation, if the concession was conditional.

ARTICLE X.

The present Convention shall be in force for the term of twelve years, from the date hereof; and, further, until the end of twelve months after the Government of the United States, on the one part, or the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, or Hamburg, or either of them, on the other part, shall have given notice of the intention to terminate the same; each of the said contracting parties reserving to itself the right of giving such notice to the other, at the end of the said term of twelve years; and it is hereby agreed between them, that, at the expiration of twelve months after such shall have been received by either of the parties from the other, this Convention, and all the provisions thereof, shall, altogether, cease and determine, as far as regards the States giving and receiving such notice; it being always understood and agreed, that, if one or more of the Hanseatic Republics aforesaid, shall, at the expiration of 12 years from the date hereof, give or receive notice of the proposed termination of this Convention, it shall, nevertheless remain in full force and operation, as far as regards the remaining Hanseatic Republics, or Republic, which may not have given or received such notice.

ARTICLE XI.

The present Convention being approved and ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof; and by the Senates of the Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington within nine months from the date hereof, or sooner if possible.

In faith whereof, we, the Plenipotentiaries of the contracting parties, have signed the present Convention; and have thereto, affixed our Seals.

Done, in quadruplicate, at the City of Washington, on the twentieth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, in the fifty-second year of the Independence of the United States of America.

[L. s.] H. CLAY,
[L. s.] V. RUMPF.

And whereas the said Convention has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective Ratifications of the same were exchanged, at Washington, on the second day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight, by HENRY CLAY, Secretary of State of the United States, and VINCENT RUMPF, Plenipotentiary of the free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, near the said United States, on the part of their respective Governments;

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, President of the United States of America, have caused the said Convention to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States, and the citizens thereof.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this second day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States the fifty-second.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

By the President:
H. CLAY,
Secretary of State.

RANAWAY

FROM the Subscriber near Avery's Ferry, on Cape Fear River, Chatham County, N. C. on the evening of the seventeenth instant, a Mulatto man called WILEY, about twenty-two years of age, and five feet nine or ten inches in height. No particular marks on his person are recollected. He was raised by Mr. Isaac Oliver, on the road from Petersburg, Va. to Halifax, N. C. about twenty miles from the former place, and was sold in Richmond, where I purchased him a fortnight ago. The same fellow escaped from a former owner a few months since, and was apprehended and lodged in Petersburg Jail. A handsome reward will be given to any person who will apprehend and confine him in prison at Raleigh, Warrenton, Petersburg, or Richmond, and give information thereof to Mr. G. W. Denton, or Messrs. E. & A. H. Cosby, Richmond, Va. W. BARTON.

James's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills.

DYSPEPSIA has of late become so frequent, and is so well known, that it is considered unnecessary to describe minutely its characteristic symptoms. The most prominent, however, and some of all of which will at once be recognized by every dyspeptic, are flatulency, acid stomach, occasional nausea in the morning, and bitter taste in the mouth; costiveness, but sometimes diarrhoea and a loose state of the bowels; loss of appetite, or an unnatural craving for food; pites, yellowness of the eyes and skin, uneasiness of the stomach after eating, &c. The above Pills are confidently believed to be a remedy for this formidable disease. They are not recommended on the principle of any mysterious or specific operation; their use is predicated upon a consistent theory of the disease and a thorough knowledge of the physiology of the human system, and the nature of the remedy employed. Their efficacy has been tested by long experience, attended with a degree of success very far beyond the most sanguine expectations of the inventor.
