

THE NEGLICTED WIFE
BY J. B. GOSWELL

He comes not—I have watch'd the sun go down, And yet he comes not—once it was not so.
He thinks not how these bitter tears do flow,
That while he holds his riot in that town, Yet he will come and chide, and I shall weep;
And he will take my infant from my sleep,
To bind its feeble wailing with my tear; Oh how I love a mother's watch to keep,
Over those sleeping eyes, that smile which cheers
My heart, that sink in sorrow fixed and deep, I had a husband once, who loved me—now He ever wears a frown upon his brow,
And feeds his passion on a wanton's lip;
As bees from laurel flowers poison sip;
But I cannot hate—O! there were hours,
When I could hang forever on his eye, Add time, who stole with silent swiftness by, Strew'd, as he hurried on, his path with roses, I loved him then—he loved me too—my heart Still buds in fondness, kindle if he smile;
The memory of our loves will ne'er depart;
And though he often stung me with a dart Venom'd and barbed, and waste upon the vile, Carresses which his babe and mine should share; Tho' he should spurn me, I will calmly bear, His madness—and should sickness come, and die.

His paralyzing hand upon him, then I could with kindness all my wrongs repay, Until the penitent should weep and say, Now injured and how faithful I have been.

THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER, Published in the
CITY OF WASHINGTON, BY
GALES & SEATON.

THE National Intelligencer is an old establishment, at the Seat of the General Government. It publishes, originally, regularly, and fully, the Proceedings and Debates of Congress; also, all the State Papers and Documents of public interest, laid before Congress, or originating in that body, and all the Acts passed by them. These recommendations, in addition to a variety of other information which is to be found in its columns, connected with the General interests of our own country, with Literature and Science, and the Affairs of the world at large; together with the character of general fairness which the paper has sustained under its present editors for many years, make the National Intelligencer useful and even valuable, to all who feel an interest in the concerns of this or of other countries.

The National Intelligencer is not a party paper, but censures or approves where censure or approbation seems to be due to public measures.
It supported the late Administration of the General Government, when the measures of that Administration were such as to meet its approbation.
It avows a determination, though it opposed the election of General Jackson, to support the just measures of this Administration, but as certainly to oppose the unjust or the prescriptive. It will be, in principle, opposed to any Administration of the Government, whose measures shall show it to have the interests of a party at heart, rather than the great interests of the country. It is, in a word, what its title denotes, a National Paper.

For its independent and impartial course which it has pursued, the National Intelligencer has been denounced, and an attempt has been made to put it down, right or wrong, by the strong arm of power directed by causality.
The attempt is as vain as it would be for any modern prophet to bid the sun to stand still—Thirty years old, this National paper is not yet in its prime, but acquires strength and power with every day of its existence.

Without having ever sought for popularity, or counted public patronage, the National Intelligencer enjoys already the widest circulation of any newspaper in the United States. It is read in every State and Territory in the Union, and in every city and town, as well as in the country. It is read in every capital in Europe, and possesses sources of information exceeded by no other Journal.

For the first time, an effort is made to enlarge the subscription to it, by sending forth this Prospectus, which our adversaries in politics are expected to deal so generously with as to let it be seen, and our friends so kindly as to further our purpose with their aid and countenance. Heretofore, we have hardly wished to enlarge our subscription list. Intending hereafter, however, to devote ourselves wholly to the newspaper, and to a proper improvement of the condition of the Press, we invite such further subscriptions, as, being punctually paid, will render us able to labor and expend.

The National Intelligencer is published daily, at ten dollars per annum, payable in advance.
It is published, also, for the more convenient circulation where a daily mail does not penetrate, three times a week at six dollars per annum, payable in advance. A remittance of either of these amounts in bank paper, by mail, will ensure the prompt and regular transmission of every paper that may be ordered.

Those subscribing will please to signify whether they desire the paper for a year only, and then to be stopped without further notice, or wish it to be continued until countermanded.
