I saw a tear—it gently stole Along a pailed cheek : It spoke of sorrows in her soul-It told of smothered grief.

It spoke of joys, forever fled-Of grief, no mortal knew-Of friends, who slumbered mong the dead, And those who leved her true.

it told of childhood's happy hoursparent's fond embrace Of pleasant walks-of blooming flowers, And days of joy and peace.

Of times, when she was blithe and gay, When friends, and fortune smiled-Of pleasures, snatched too soon away, And comforts, left behind.

That tear is dried-I asked her, where She found the healing balm? She answere !- Hope has entered here, And left a heavenly calm?

MEDICAL COMPANION,

FAMILY PHYSICIAN; TREATING OF THE DISEASES OF THE UNITED STATES,

With their symptoms, causes, cure, and means of prevention : common cases in Surgery ; the management and diseases of Women and Children; a Dispensatory, for preparing Family Medicines, and a Glossary explaining Technical terms-Also, the Nurse's Guide.

The Seventh Edition. Revised, enlarged, and very considerably improved. BY JAMES EWELL, M. D.

On the important subject of domestic medicine, many books have been written, which, h excellent in other respects, have greatly failed of usefullness to Americans; because they treat of diseases which, existing in very foreign climates and constitutions, must widely differ from ours. The book now offered to the public has, therefore, the great advantage of having been written by a native \merican, of long and successful practice in the southern states, and who, for years past, has turned much of his attention to the composition of it.

To every family, more especially those in remote situations, the possestion of this book must unquestionably, be of incalculable value: for, conducted by such a guide, it will not be presumptuous to say that any person of tolerable capacity, and reasonable attention, may be enabled to pracctise with safety and advantage, in those cases of simple diseases most incident to our climate.

prepared in the form of a Powder, & taken as an infusion, with the most happy success. It is now offered to the afflicted in the form of a Sirup of in Pawder, as the Patient may prefer, under the conviction, that either form will produce the Institutes and Practice of Medicine—by Samuel qualities the following may be mentioned, as entitled to particular consideration. It prom that wentle perspiration which is deemed healthy and checks those sweats which are merbid and pernicious. It relieves chronic affections and congestions of the lungs by giving force to the motes free and bland expectoration. It removes Puthological and Surgical Anatomy—by John pain from the chest. It relieves asthmatic and difficult respiration. It corrects obstinate cost tiveness, and thus leaves the bowels in a regular and healthy state.
