

CONGRESS

SENATE

Saturday, February 15. The Senate did not sit to-day.

Monday, Feb. 15. The Senate sat with closed doors nearly all day.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Saturday, February 15.

Mr. Buchanan reported a bill in addition to the act authorizing the President of the United States to run a line between Georgia and Florida.

Monday, Feb. 15.

Amongst the numerous petitions presented to the House this morning, was one by Mr. Mercer, from James Monroe, late President of the United States, for a settlement of his claims against the government.

Another of the petitions presented, was one by Mr. Goodenow, from the ladies of Steubenville, Ohio, against the forcible removal of the Indians beyond the limits of the United States.

Mr. Thompson, of Georgia, required that the petition be laid on the table one day, and hoped the motion to print would be withdrawn.

The question being put on printing it, it was decided in the affirmative—ayes 85, noes 40.

After the morning business, the orders of the day were postponed, and the Judiciary Bill taken up.

EDUCATION & INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT

Mr. Bixess, from Rhode Island, recently made a long argumentative and masterly speech in Congress in favor of the Resolution for appropriating the future proceeds of the sales of Public Lands amongst the several States of the Union.

If this Resolution is adopted, the provision of it, when finally adjusted and carried into full operation, will mightily strengthen the Union.

Distribute to every State a fund for Education and it will be divided, and subdivided into streams, until it shall reach every town, every village, every plantation, farm and family throughout the U. States.

When this system shall have gone into full operation over all the land, and but one generation has been cultivated and reared up under its fertilizing nurture, no Demagogue will ever rise up in our country hardy and desperate enough to divert or obstruct the current of its progress.

If, therefore the United States would make the inhabitants of every distinct district of our territory one people, a nation, united, great, wealthy and prosperous, let them provide, and put into successful operation in every State appropriate funds for Internal Improvement.

should render her Union and existence precarious, if she would place deep and broad foundations of her prosperity, if she would distinguish herself eminently above all other nations of this or any other time.

UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, Feb. 15.

We do not know when, in the most reckless violence of contending factions, we have seen such evidences of systematic design to calumniate a public body, as we find in the publications in papers from a distance to which the articles have, to all appearances, been forwarded hence, from a common mint of falsehood, the purpose of which is to calumniate the Senate of the United States.

The object is palpable: it is to intimidate that body from the conscientious discharge of those duties, which upon the word of God they have sworn to discharge to the best of their ability.

EXTENSION OF MANUFACTURES

The manufacturing enterprise of the United States is still extending. The Newburyport Hosiery Manufacture supplies its neighborhood with excellent cotton stockings, superior to the imported.

The manufacture of Tacks is carried on extensively at Abington, Mass. about twenty miles from Boston, by patent machines, which turn out the best ever made.

The article of Penknives, heretofore almost exclusively imported, has recently been undertaken in Worcester, Mass. on an extensive scale.

Buttons are made in abundance at Attleborough, Mass. Upwards of forty trading houses in Philadelphia are supplied by this manufactory.

In Vermont, Mathematical instruments are made in a superior style. Gunter's scales, rules, &c. in every variety, are stamped by a machine invented by Samuel Hedge.

Paul Beck's Shot factory, on the banks of the Schuylkill, can furnish Shot sufficient for the consumption of the United States. Six factories are erected on the Atlantic coast since the tariff, and several in the Mississippi.

Hats and Bonnets of Straw, a beautiful employment for females, has widely extended throughout New-England, and prospers well.

Lace.—This manufacture is worth at least half a million, is a pleasing employment for delicate females, and others denied the means of a livelihood, except by the labor of their hands.

Artificial Flowers are made in a great variety in our towns and villages. A great part of the on sale are of domestic manufacture.

Carpets are now used almost entirely of American manufacture, no matter by what name they are sold.

NORTH-CAROLINA

The following extracts from the second volume of Judge Martin's History of North-Carolina, possess some interest for many of our readers.

The first distinct proposition of the great Erie and Hudson Canal was in 1807, forty years before which time, to wit, in 1767, North-Carolina legislated upon the subject of this Canal.

The Presbyterian Clergy increasing, especially in the western parts of the province, were authorized to celebrate the rites of matrimony. The trustees of the Newbern Academy were incorporated.

A charter was granted to the inhabitants of the town of Hillsborough, authorizing them to choose a representative in the lower House, a measure which is said to have been taken to secure a seat for Edmund Fanning, an attorney of influence.

PENNSYLVANIA

Our State.—It was the fashion a year or two ago, with most of our citizens, to decry the State of Pennsylvania as having pursued a mean and niggardly policy in her system of internal improvements.

More than ten millions have been spent on canals, while further sums are constantly expended, until at this moment we have near two hundred and fifty miles of inland navigation actually completed.

Philadelphia alone has done more than any seven cities in the Union. The Fair Mount Water Works present a monument which no country in the world can even approach.

hence, will be pushed into every street within the adjoining districts.

To those who have been accustomed to despise the policy of Pennsylvania as mean and parsimonious, we recommend a little enquiry into the merits of the question, lest facts come out and shame them with their own ignorance.
