SLEEP WALKING.

A singular case of somnobulism was Sturday. It appears that a Captain house." X-, of that city, is in the habit of getting up in his sleep. One night last winter, soon after the ice formed upon the riser, and while its surface was as bright as a polished mirror, Mr. X. was discovered in the course of the night to have left he bed and board, with nothing but his other by crying oysters, went to Washingshirt, drawers and stockings fur a coverlength, finding his pursuers to gain upon most distinguished circles. hin, he took to the river, and ran out up- One morning he wished to be introduced on the ice, where he put them at defiance, to the Senate of the United States. He whe sported upon its glazed surface, wished to see the place where Randolph knowing the cause, and some doubting his .. Why, really, Gentlemen," said he "you until he had clean passed the village of be seated." Claverack, crossing the bridge at Van When our man of wealth and fashion relate from a blissful visit to his dingy Amarylis, perceiving that the man must either be crazy or asleep, sprang before and grasped him in his arms. The white rover struggled with him for a moment, but Jugartha threw lim to the ground, and he anoke by the shock of the tumble in wild affright-believing himself in the hands of the devil, and uttering a wild note of alarm accordingly-to which Sambo very phiosophically replied-"You berry hard to wake massa." After the hypno-patetic had picked himself up, and found out by the light of the moon, and the protestations of Symphax, that he was no nearer Genenna than the border between Claverack and Spencer town, and that his companion was as honest a fellow as though his skin was white, he went to a farmhouse, much exhausted, and was kindly taken in, after the inmates had become satisfied that ghosts do not walk abroad in such muscular and substantial frames.-N st morning he returned home in a borrowed suit, much to the relief of his friends, who were greatly discressed by the supposition that in altempting to go on board his vessel in his sleep, he had fallen into the river from the wharf. The fleet ness and energy of Mr. X. were remarka bly displayed on this occasion; for by calculation of the time, he must have travel ed above six miles in the space of an hour. N. Y. Com. Adv.

NOTICE. Twenty Dollars Reward. TAN AWAY from the subscriber on the 10th Lo of February last, a white Slave, named CUL LIN, or CULLIN MEDLIN, as he calls himself. He is about 23 years old, 6 feet high, weight about 165 lbs. his neck, hands and mouth are of a reddish look, gray eyes, light hair, and kinkey thick feet ; he stammers when talking, has a small scar on the first joint of the great foe on his right foot, occasioned by the cut of an axe. It is probable that he will after his name and try to pass among the lower class of white people, as he is bright himself, his cheeks are very very white, with yellow spots; his clothing when he was last heard from consisted of a blue sattinet cost and pantaloons, and white fur hat. Likely he is in Robeson county, on Drowning Creek, as he has relations there, or in Cumbercounty, on Cape-Fear.

I will give the above reward for his delivery. to me in Lenoir county, free of any other expense: or to have him secured in any Jail so land that I get him again.

SUICIDE.

The victims of this species of murder have latterly multiplied to a frightful ex tent in our country. More persons have, within the last few months, taken themselves off the stage of life, than have ever perished by any similar means, within thrice the same measure of time, at any antecedent period. To trace the causes of all these cases of self-destruction is not in the power of living mortals ; but some secrets have been revealed which disclose the real or pretended reasons why some of the victims of self-immolation conspired against their own temporal existence. One, we hear has a family consisting of a wife and six children, which he cannot respectably support, and off he travels to the other world, and leaves them to get their own leving or starve. Another has swallowed his doseof aqua vitæ until, in a fit of mania a potu, with a razor divides an artery, and bleedto death. A third has lost his money at play, and being beggared in purse and resources, he pops out his brains and rushes into the other world in a hurry to try his fortunes there. A fourth receives an insult, and shoots half of his head away in revenge. A fifth gets in love, and being disappointed in gatting another to love him, gets out of the difficulty as he imagines, by taking opium and gets into eternity he THE Subscribers having been appointed Com
