THE GRAVES OF A HOUSEHOLD. By Mrs. Hemans.

They grew in beauty side by side, They fill'd one home with glee; heir graves are sever'd, far and wide, By mount, and stream, and sea.

e same fund mother bent at night O'ce each fair sleeping brow; had each folded flower in sight,-Where are those dreamers now nidst the forests of the West, a dark stream is laid e Indian knows his place of rest, ar in the cedar shade.

The sea, the lone blue sea, hath one, He lies where pearls lie deep ; was the lov'd of all, yet none O'er his low bed may weep.

One sleeps where southern vines are drest Above the noble slain; he wrapp'd his colors round his breast, On a blood-red field of Spain.

And one-o'er her the myrtle showers.
Its leaves, by soft winds fann'd, She faded midst Itailan flowers,-The last of that bright band.

And, parted thus, they rest, who play'd Beneath the same green tree; Whose voices mingled as they pray'd Around one parent knee!

They that with smiles lit up the hall, And cheer'd with song the hearth,las! for love, if thou, wert all, And nought beyond, O Earth!

TESPECTFULLY informs the Ladies and Gentlemen of Plymouth, Washington, Newbern, Raleigh, Payetteville, and other places in the route through North-Carolina, that he is now on his tour visiting the above mentioned places, for the purpose of TUNING & STRING-ING PIANO FORTES.

Mr. G. makes it for the present, expressly his business, travelling through the State, for the purpose above mentioned; not because he cares for how many persons have gone or intend going through that district ignorant of their business, but simply because he feels desirous of honorably earning a few dollars. He will take care to procure recommendations from highly respectable persons in Edenton, where he is now employed in Tuning PIANOS & ORGANS, so that those who in future may feel disposed to honor him with their patronage, may not be deterred from doing so, by the repeated malicious insinuations of a certain unworthy individual. en by the State of seventeen years, from the The Erie and Wabash Canal, on or within five miles of which these lands are situated, is 128 miles in the State of Indiana, the vallies of the Wabash and Maumee rivers, which for fertility of soil, abundance of lime-stone, springs, good timber interspersed occasionally with small prairie, navigable rivers, and water privileges, (independent of the Canal,) is decidedly amongst the finest portions of the Western country. The greatest part of the lands in the Canal Donation, is of the richest quality, in a healthy country, well adapted for agricultural, commercial and manufacturing purposes, and is daily increasing in value, from the rapidity of emigration to the lands adjoining, which is believed to be unprecedented, hitherto, in this State, and which must re commend this sale as particularly worthy the attention and interest of the Farmer, Mechanic, Merchant, and Capitalist.
