EDITOR'S CORRESPONDENCE.

Washington, June 2, 1840.

I see a publication in the Standard, of the little Multicaulis Colonel, who is the Superintendent of the Branch Mint in Charlotte, whose consequence seems to have taken fire at the allusion of Mr. Stany to his purchase, at the public expense, of Trees and Flowers to adorn and perfume the grounds of the Mint.

But observe what ground the Colonel takes on the subject of his purchase. He stands upon precedent and patriotism. First, he says he deemed it proper "on consultation." Consultation? With whom? With the public Gardener, here! Or with one of his own Clerks? He did not consult with any member of Congress, for they all said it was wrong and unjustifiable.

But says this Botanic Colonel, "this is a practice sanctioned by the gentleman himself," because Congress sanctions such appropriations for the Public Buildings in Washington City! Congress has sanctioned such appropriations, but does this prove Mr. Stany sanctioned them? The Capitol grounds of the United States are full of visitors daily, from all parts of the Union. They are National grounds.

The Colonel says—"The shade these Trees afford, and the odour they emit, are inhaled alike by the poorest men of the State, as well as the most wealthy." The poor men in North Carolina work for their living—they do not repose in the shade and inhale odour at the public expense.

But he asks why has this matter just been presented by Mr. Stany? Those who attend to the proceedings of Congress, know that he has, this Session, for the first time, been placed on the Committee of Expenditures on the public buildings, and thus had such expenditures brought under his special notice.

By the way the Colonel's bill shows an item of Morus Multicaulis. Is it in contemplation to attach a silk manufacture to the Mint? Does the superintendent propose in due time, to rival Mr. Van Buren by sleeping in silk sheets?

In reading the Colonel's curious account of himself, and the purchases for the Branch Mint, it is difficult to tell which taste to admire—his happy style of writing, his elegant taste for flowers and shrubbery, his entire self-satisfaction, or his all-engrossing patriotism.

But the Colonel, in supposing himself justified by Mr. Stany's example, has altogether mistaken the matter. Mr. Stany moved on the floor of the House, this very session, to reduce the amount of appropriation for the Trees and Shrubs for the public grounds, and made a speech on the subject.

the whole Legislature. It is objected against him, that he has spent the public money without authority. He answers—"I did not follow the example of Congress—Congress made an appropriation to ornament the public grounds at Washington, and I, following their footsteps, made an appropriation to ornament the grounds at the Mint."

But the Colonel feels justified in this, provided Mr. Stany can find nothing else to censure. What excellent logic! This would equally justify the Colonel, if instead of Trees and Flowers, he had bought a Carriage and Horses at the public expense.

But if the Colonel shall ever see and read Mr. Stany's Speech, he will find that there are other of his doings quite as worthy of attention, as that already mentioned. What does the Superintendent think, for instance, of hiring his own servant to the Branch Mint, at high wages? Of making the people pay for his "Mahogany Chairs"?

Now a plain man, unacquainted with the elevating tendency of democratic "patriotism," might suppose these expenses of the Colonel properly chargeable upon his Bank Stock! Start not Mr. Editor, it is even so.

The paragraph alluded to is in the following words: "I regret to admit the fact that, in my own State, modern Whiggery not only denies recorded facts, but proclaims and vouches for that which is precisely the very opposite of recorded facts and truth; for on the eve of the last Congressional election, a forgery, with the certificate of five volunteers, or willing witnesses, as a passport, and the name of one of them is now one of the Whig Harrison electors."

Now it happens that Mr. Manly was nominated an Elector by a Convention of Delegates from the several counties of the District assembled at Smithfield on the 24th of March, at a distance of about 300 miles from Washington, and only on the afternoon of the day before this speech was delivered.

Our chief concern, however, is to call the attention of the Public to the preceding part of the paragraph and to submit the facts connected with the affair alluded to.

A short time before the Congressional election of 1839, Weston R. Gales, Esq. of this City, Editor of the Raleigh Register, received a letter from a respectable gentleman of Fayetteville, purporting to be the substance of a communication from the same William Montgomery to W. F. Leake, Esq. as read by Mr. Morris, to prejudice the election of Mr. Deberry to whom Mr. Morris was opposed.

Dear Sir: Your letter has been received. You ask for more information relative to the votes and conduct of Mr. Deberry when in Congress, and refer to a letter I wrote Mr. Holmes last month, which you state you have seen, &c. I am very sorry our friend Morris has read the letter publicly; he ought to have had more sense.

It never was intended so to be used, but on the contrary, slyly and secretly; then it would have been a lie, and could not have been contradicted. I am afraid now, Deberry will produce his Journals and upset the whole of it; however this may be, don't give up, but continue to charge him with having voted for all these appropriations except one of about a million and a quarter.

Some might say perhaps, let amidst these occupations of tests, these arduous labors of patriotism, the proper duties of the Mint should be neglected by the Superintendent. But happily it requires little time or skill to superintend all the coinage done at Charlotte; and he must be a clever and ingenious man indeed—clever and ingenious, even beyond the little Colonel, who can contrive to leave much undone, where there is but little to do!

TO THE PUBLIC.

The attention of the undersigned was a few days ago called, for the first time, to a paragraph in a speech printed and distributed in pamphlet form and purporting to have been delivered on the 25th of March last, in the House of Representatives by one William Montgomery, a member from the eighth Congressional district of North Carolina.

The absence from the City of some of the undersigned, has delayed this notice, and if the Speech were circulated only at home, where our characters and that of the member are duly appreciated, we should not condescend to notice it.

"I regret to admit the fact that, in my own State, modern Whiggery not only denies recorded facts, but proclaims and vouches for that which is precisely the very opposite of recorded facts and truth; for on the eve of the last Congressional election, a forgery, with the certificate of five volunteers, or willing witnesses, as a passport, and the name of one of them is now one of the Whig Harrison electors."

Now it happens that Mr. Manly was nominated an Elector by a Convention of Delegates from the several counties of the District assembled at Smithfield on the 24th of March, at a distance of about 300 miles from Washington, and only on the afternoon of the day before this speech was delivered.

Our chief concern, however, is to call the attention of the Public to the preceding part of the paragraph and to submit the facts connected with the affair alluded to.

A short time before the Congressional election of 1839, Weston R. Gales, Esq. of this City, Editor of the Raleigh Register, received a letter from a respectable gentleman of Fayetteville, purporting to be the substance of a communication from the same William Montgomery to W. F. Leake, Esq. as read by Mr. Morris, to prejudice the election of Mr. Deberry to whom Mr. Morris was opposed.

Dear Sir: Your letter has been received. You ask for more information relative to the votes and conduct of Mr. Deberry when in Congress, and refer to a letter I wrote Mr. Holmes last month, which you state you have seen, &c. I am very sorry our friend Morris has read the letter publicly; he ought to have had more sense.

and of course not finding blame among them charge that he had voted for it, and in this way gained a great many votes. I charged him too with having voted for all the necessary appropriations of Government, and showed his votes for them, without further explanation, and as they naturally appear very large to our backwoodsmen, I made the most of it; the consequence was, I was elected, and down he went, and so will any hypocrite, well managed. I am to have the hottest sort of opposition, but think I shall succeed by a diminished majority. Wishing our friend Morris every success,

I remain your most ob't. serv't., &c. A short time after this publication, Dr. Montgomery issued a Card, pronouncing it false, and insinuating that it was concocted to defeat his election. Mr. Gales called upon us and requested that we should examine the letter—compare the printed with the original letter received from Fayetteville, and if we considered it proper, certify that it was published correctly, if we should so find it. This we could not decline, as we considered that great injustice had been done Mr. Gales, in the attempt to fix the charge of forgery on him.

Accordingly, we gave the following certificate: Raleigh, August 5, 1839. Having been requested by Mr. Weston R. Gales to examine a Letter received by him from a gentleman in Fayetteville dated July 25, 1839, on the subject of certain communications addressed by Dr. Montgomery of Orange, to two individuals in Mr. Deberry's District, and being furthermore desired to compare the said Letter with the printed copy issued in an Extra from the office of the Raleigh Register, we hereby certify that we have carefully done so, and find that the printed letter is a correct and exact copy, except that the original contains the phrase, "sub silentio," which, in the extra, is rendered "silent vote," the English signification of those words.

CHAS. MANLY, H. W. MILLER, A. WILLIAMS, JAMES LITCHFORD, S. W. WHITING, THOS. J. LEMAY. With the inquiry, whether the letter received from Fayetteville correctly represented the one written by Dr. Montgomery to Mr. Leake, or not, we had nothing to do; nor did we allude to it in the certificate. This was a matter between Dr. Montgomery and the writer, who, no doubt, has been and is willing and ready to assume any responsibility with which he is justly chargeable. The only object, purport or tenor of our certificate, as appears from its very face, was to show, as requested, that the published letter was correctly copied from the original from Fayetteville, except in the slight variation referred to therein.

We gave the certificate, as we hope we always shall be ready to do, when asked, to expunge an estimated fellow-citizen from a false charge, and for aught we know, it may be entirely incompressible to the Doctor, how men can honestly be "willing witnesses" in the cause of truth; but if in the preceding extract from his printed Speech, William Montgomery intends to charge or insinuate that we willingly consented to, certified to, or participated in a forgery, directly or indirectly, or that we circulated or gave "passports" to the letter, knowing or believing or suspecting it to be a forgery, then we do hereby pronounce and publish him to be a vile Calumniator and a Scoundrel.

CHAS. MANLY, H. W. MILLER, ROBT. W. HAYWOOD, S. W. WHITING, A. WILLIAMS, JAMES LITCHFORD, THOS. J. LEMAY. Raleigh, N. C. 8th June, 1840.

CONGRESS.

EDITOR'S CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 2. To-day, the House took up the Sub Treasury bill in good earnest, and its attention was exclusively confined to it. Mr. Leet, of Penn. spoke in its defence, and Mr. Brockway, of Conn. against the measure.

The Senate was the greatest theatre of attraction. Mr. Clay presented a memorial from J. C. Reynolds, late Postmaster at Reynoldsborg, Ohio. The memorial says he has recently been removed and without cause, having as he thinks always discharged the duties of his office faithfully.

Mr. Clay said that he was requested to present the petition to the Senate. He did not feel himself at liberty to decline the request, especially as the petition had been placed in the hands of another Senator, who had declined to present it.

Mr. Clay went on to speak more at length, in regard to the power of the Executive, which had been exercised in the removal of officers. Instead of paying any respect to the people, the President, in his appointments, rewarded those whom the people rejected.

The Bankrupt bill was then taken up, and Mr. Calhoun expressed his views at length upon the two bills before the Senate. He opposed both bills—that of the majority because it was altogether unconstitutional, and that of the minority because it was unconstitutional in important particulars.

The vote was then taken upon the question—"Shall Banks be excluded?" The following are the Yea and Nays: Yea—Messrs. Anderson, Calhoun, Clay of Ala., Clay of Ky., Clayton, Crittenden, Cuthbert, Davis, Dixon, Fulton, Huntington, Henderson, King, Knight, Lumpkin, Merrick, Meason, Nicholas, Phelps, Porter, Prentiss, Preston, Robinson, Sevier, Smith of Indiana, Southard, Tallmadge and Webster—28.

NORTH-CAROLINA MANUFACTURES. A Convention of all who are interested in the Manufacturing business in this State, is proposed to be held in this City, on the 15th day of June next, for the purpose of arranging the Domestic Market of Cotton Yarns, and to take such steps as may be deemed of importance in calculating information calculated to show the usefulness and propriety of a more extensive operation. All papers friendly to the cause will please to notice the above.

CONCERT.—Mr. and Mrs. GAWTHORPE have the honor to announce to the Ladies and Gentlemen of Raleigh, that they will give a Sacred Musical, with a new performance in the style of the celebrated Paganini, on the Violin and Harp, this evening, (Tuesday,) at Mr. Smith's Concert Room. Raleigh June 9.

THE EXERCISES of my School will be resumed on Monday, the 23rd inst. in the East Building, recently occupied as the Episcopal School. P. L. B. MESSURIER. Raleigh, June 8, 1840.

ATTENTION! RALEIGH GUARDS!! Parade at the Capitol Square, on Saturday the 13th day of June, at 3 o'clock, armed and equipped according to Law, in Summer Uniform. By order of the Captain, JAMES LITCHFORD, O. S. Raleigh, June 8, 1840.

A Private Meeting will be held on the evening preceding, at 8 o'clock, at the Captain's Office.

HILLSBOROUGH ACADEMY.—The Fall Session will begin on Thursday, the 15th of July. This being the commencement of the Academic year, a class of beginners will be received. W. J. BINGHAM, JOHN A. BINGHAM. Assisted by A. C. LISBURN, and S. W. HUGHES; the former of whom devotes a portion, and the latter the whole of his time to the English Department. Tuition, as heretofore, payable in advance. June 8, 1840. 47—51w

FEMALE SCHOOL, IN HILLSBORO'. The Fall Session of Mr. and Mrs. Burrell's School will commence on Monday the 13th of July. Multitude studies, which must necessarily be superficial, are avoided; and though the higher branches of female education are not neglected, when the pupil is prepared for them, greater attention is paid to Spelling, Reading, English Grammar, Geography, Writing, Composition and Arithmetic.

Terms.—English Studies, $17 50 French (by a native), 25 00 Music, 25 00 Drawing and Painting, 10 00 Parents and Guardians wishing further information, are referred to: Hon. Frederick Nash, Hillsborough; John W. Norwood, Orange; Hon. W. P. Mangum, William Cain, sen., Raleigh; Rev. Drury Lacy, Rev. Frederick Nash, Samuel Simpson, Esq., Lincoln; John M. Roberts, Esq., Newbern. June 5. 47—51w

A CARD.—Miss MELISH returns her grateful acknowledgements to those, who, with generous confidence, have entrusted their children to her care. As she is a stranger to many in Raleigh, it has been suggested to her that she ought to state to those who may deem the information important, that her education she was for some years a pupil of the celebrated Mr. BAKER, Professor of Rhetoric and Education, and she completed her studies under the best masters in Philadelphia. In New-York, she was engaged as Governess in the first families, among whom were FREDERICK COOPER, Esq., author of the Spy, PIONEER, &c. GEORGE BRITTON, Esq. Col. TRACY, now in Europe. She is prepared to teach the plain and higher branches of a thorough English Education, together with French and Spanish and Italian Languages; also Music.

Miss Melish recommends to her pupils to study French upon the Old system, introduced by Messrs. MARTELL and VAL, but she will teach either upon the old principle, or the new, as she has studied both. As to her mode of instruction, she would beg leave to state that her object is not to cram her pupils with masses of undigested matter, because she is fully aware that the memory can be cultivated at the expense of the higher faculties of the mind. For instance, a child might commit the contents of a Geography or Grammar, and recite it perfectly, and yet be very ignorant on the score of both studies, and so on with every thing else. Miss Melish cannot therefore, proceed cautiously, grinding her pupils thoroughly, step by step. This may be slower work, but long experience has convinced her of its superior efficacy.

If she succeeds, she will have her School room fitted up with the best Maps and Globes; in short, with every thing that will be necessary to facilitate her Pupils' improvement. As she has limited herself to a very small number, she begs those who may wish to avail themselves of her services, to apply early in the Season. Her Second Session will commence on Monday, the 15th of June.

For Terms, &c. apply to Miss MELISH, at Mr. WILLIAM TUCKER'S, Hillsboro' Street, Raleigh. P. S. Miss MELISH begs leave to mention that she has not discovered any rival school to science; there must be regular attendance and faithful application, or she cannot insure her Pupils' success.
