THE OIL.
MASTER HUMPHREY.

Extract from the new work of "Master Humphrey's Clock," No. 1, published this day by Lea & Blanchard, with the portrait of the author:

"That I may not make acquaintance with my readers under false pretences, or give them cause to complain hereafter that I have withheld any matter which it was essential for them to have learnt at first, I wish them to know—I smile sorrowfully to think that the time has been when the confession would have given me pain—that I am a misshapen, deformed, old man.

I have never been a misanthrope by this cause. I have never been stung by any crooked figure. As a child I was melancholy and timid, but that was because the gentle consideration paid to my misfortune sunk deep into my spirit and made me sad even in these early days. I was but a very young creature when my poor mother died, and yet I remember that often when I hung round her neck, and oftener still when I played about her room before her, she would catch me to her bosom, and bursting into tears, soothe me with every term of fondness and affection. God knows I was a happy child in those times—happy to nestle in her breast—happy to weep when she did—happy in not knowing why.

These occasions are so strongly impressed upon my memory, that they seemed to have occupied whole years. I had numbered very few when they ceased for ever, but before then their meaning had been revealed to me.

I do not know whether all children are imbued with a quick perception of childish grace and beauty, and a strong love for it, but I was. I had no thought that I remember, either that I possessed it myself or that I lacked it, but I admired it with an intensity I cannot describe. A little knot of playmates—they must have been beautiful, for I see them now—were clustered one day around my mother's knee in eager admiration of some picture representing a group of infant angels, which she held in her hand.

Whose the picture was, whether it was familiar to me or otherwise, or how all the children came to be there, I forgot: I have some dim thought it was my birthday, but the beginning of my recollection is that we were all together in a garden, and it was summer weather—I am sure of that, for one of the little girls had roses in her sash.—There were many lovely angels in this picture, and I remember the fancy coming upon me to point out which of them represented each child there, and that when I had got through all my companions, I stopped and hesitated, wondering which was most like me. I remember the children looking at each other, and my turning red and hot, and their crowding round to kiss me, saying that they loved me all the same; and then, and when the old sorrow came into my dear mother's mild and tender look, the truth broke upon me for the first time, and I knew, while watching my awkward and ungainly sports, how keenly she had felt for her poor crippled boy.

I used frequently to dream of it afterwards, and now my heart aches for that child as if I had never been he, when I think how often he awoke from some fairy change to his own old form, and sobbed himself to sleep again.

Well, well—all these sorrows are past.—My glancing at them may not be without its use, for it may help in some measure to explain why I have all my life been attached to the inanimate objects that people my chamber, and how I have come to look upon them rather in the light of old and constant friends than as mere chairs and tables which a little money could replace at will.

Chief and first among all these is my Clock—my cheerful companionable Clock. How can I ever convey to others an idea of the comfort and consolation that this old clock has been for years to me!

MANUFACTURE OF MARBLES IN GERMANY.
[From the Franklin Journal.]

These well known articles are made in great quantities to serve in the games of children; some are made of potter's clay, covered with a glaze and burnt in a proper furnace; others are made of marble and alabaster, but chiefly of very hard calcareous stone, found in the neighborhood of Coburg in Saxony. These stones are first broken into square blocks by means of a hammer, and are finally rounded into spheres or small balls by a mill. In order to do this, they are placed from one hundred to a hundred and fifty at a time, upon a fixed slab of stone having a number of concentric circular grooves or furrows made in its flat surface. Above this stone another flat slab or block of oak of the same diameter, is supported by means of a lever, and turned round by the power of the mill. During the rotary action, of the mill, small threads of water are made to enter each of the concentric grooves, which favour the rounding and polishing of the balls and prevent the wood from heating. The operation for each of the quantities above mentioned, lasts for a quarter of an hour, and the balls or marbles become perfectly spherical and fit for sale. Immense quantities of them are exported to India and China. A mill with three turning blocks will manufacture 60,000 marbles a week.

DOUBLING CAPE HORN.

The following graphic account of doubling Cape Horn we copy from a letter from an officer of the U. S. Ship Constitution dated the 9th of January last.

Whilst doubling Cape Horn, we experienced a tremendous gale. For twenty-two days it blew with awful violence, and snowed, and rained and hailed almost incessantly. Occasionally, there would be a cessation of the gale, and the sun would shine out clear and beautiful; but this was only the precursor of more gales, blacker clouds, and if possible more tremendous seas. One can hardly form an idea of the power and sublimity of a storm at sea, who has not experienced one. You must hear the howling of the wind—the incessant roar of the ocean, and behold the mountain waves, appearing as if they would swallow the ship—at one moment lifted up on the monstrous waves, and then pitched headlong into the trough of the ocean—the waves breaking over the decks, the masts creaking, the vessel groaning, and hear the hoarse trumpet as the orders are given—in order to resist it. Nearly all the time, during the height of the storm, we lay to under storm stay-sails. All the higher masts were sent on deck with the yards and sails, leaving the ship with only her main and top masts, in order that as little surface as possible might be exposed to the wind. The most wearying thing during the storm, is the pitching and rolling of the ship, which you must be constantly guarded against, or you may be killed at any moment. A number of the midshipmen were injured by being precipitated down the cock-pit hatch. One night a large mahogany table came tumbling down and deposited itself, legs up, alongside my cot. Camp stools and chairs went dancing about, as if possessed of life.

But the most amusing occurrence during a gale, is the eating, or rather the manner in which it is performed. The table being lashed, and the plates and dishes placed upon it, we sit down to dine. Now on shore it is a perfectly easy thing to eat your dinner, and if hungry, quite agreeable. But suppose some one should get under your table, and suddenly raise one side up so high as to form an angle of nearly forty-five degrees with the walls of the room, and another standing behind, jerk your chair from under you sliding away on hands and feet to leeward, while your neighbour, who may, by holding on to the table, maintain his seat, gets the contents of the soup tureen in his lap; and then after picking up the fragments of the broken dishes, and re-seating yourself at the table, you have time to eat a moment, and the same operation is repeated. You would not, I am sure, think this a very agreeable way of dining. Some of my messmates secured themselves at table by holding on to life lines, which are cords secured to the beams overhead, which was the only way of maintaining a fixed position. When the caterer, who presides at the table, finds a sea coming, which can be known by the motion of the ship, he sings out, "hold on to the potatoes," "take care of the soup," "look out for the dishes," or what ever may be on the table, and each one secures whatever he can; but notwithstanding all our precaution, we lost most all our crockery. The ship was much strained, in consequence of her rolling in the trough of the sea, and her masts loosened; but we did not sustain any serious damage.

BUFFALO SPRINGS.—These Springs, situated in the County of Mecklenburg, Va., are again ready for the reception of visitors, with some additional improvements, since the last season. Of the healing effect of these waters in cases of dyspepsia, liver complaints, and cutaneous affections, it is needless to say anything, as the numerous visitors who have experienced their benefits, will attest their efficacy and virtues, more fully and satisfactorily than can possibly be done by an advertisement. With other amusements for the entertainment of visitors, we have provided a select band of Music, and every necessary to render the visit of those who may choose to patronize us, both pleasant and beneficial.
Mr. Field will again take charge of the establishment, and flatters himself, with the experience of the past season, will be able to give general satisfaction.
The charge for board per day $1, for a single meal 50 cents—children under 15 years of age, and servants, half price; horses 75 cents per day.

PROSPECTUS OF THE HIGHLAND MESSENGER, a weekly paper published at Asheville, N. C. Devoted to Religion, Morality, Science, Politics, and General Intelligence.
Edited by D. R. McAnally & J. Roberts.

In proposing to publish a new Journal, and thereby to swell the number of periodicals circulating in our country, it will naturally be expected of us to give an outline of the principles by which we expect to be governed. This we will do as concisely as possible: And.

1st. While we cautiously exclude all sectarian controversies on abstract and disputed points in Christian Theology, we will carefully and constantly hold up the Bible and the Christian Religion as indispensable to the moral, social and political interests of any community.
2d. We shall industriously labor to set forth and maintain sound principles of morality, correct taste and good manners. Vice in all its varied forms will meet its merited rebuke, and a decided stand will be taken against all immorality of expression or representation, as all clownishness and vulgarity. In short, no pains will be spared to make our paper a welcome Messenger to the virtuous and good of every age and of every sect.
3d. A liberal share of our attention shall be devoted to those branches of natural science so necessary to be at least partially understood by every farmer and every mechanic of the country.
4th. The Political Department will be under the immediate and sole control of J. ROBERTS, who believes himself to be a true Republican, and as such cannot, and will not, support the leading measures of the present Administration. On this subject, his course will be firm, though decided. He will, at all times, take the liberty of promptly and plainly expressing his opinions on all subjects bearing on the political interests of the community, without, at any time, prostituting his paper to the unwholesome purposes of detraction and abuse. His course will be decidedly independent. He is pledged to no party, and will always write and publish what he believes will tend to the public weal and suppress what in his judgment would be injurious.

And finally, as we shall ask the favor of exchanging with the best papers of the country, we hope to be always ready to keep our readers informed of the important transactions passing at home and abroad.

TERMS.—The "Highland Messenger" will be published with a new press and types, and on a large sheet at $2 50 per annum, if paid in advance, or $3 00 at the end of the subscription year.
No subscription will be received for a less period than twelve months, nor will any paper be discontinued, except at the option of the publisher, until all arrearages are settled.
Asheville, June 5, 1840. 48

A CARD.—Miss MELISH returns her grateful acknowledgements to those, who, with generous confidence, have entrusted their children to her care. As she is a stranger to many in Raleigh, it has been suggested to her that she ought to state to those who may deem the information important, that her education has fitted her for the office of a teacher. In Europe, she was for some years a pupil of the celebrated BAKER, Professor of Rhetoric and Eloquence, and she completed her studies under the best masters in Philadelphia. In New-York, she was engaged as Governess in the first families, among whom were FERRISS, COOPER, Esq., author of the Spy, PIONEER, &c. GEORGE GUYTON, Esq. Col. TROSKY, now in Europe. She is prepared to teach the plain and higher branches of a thorough English Education, together with French and Spanish and Italian Languages; also Music.

Miss Melish recommends to her pupils to study French upon the Oral system, introduced by Messrs. MARCELA and VALER, but she will teach either upon the old principle, or the new, as she has studied both. As to her mode of instruction, she would beg leave to state that her object is not to cram her pupils with masses of undigested matter, because she is fully aware that the memory can be cultivated at the expense of the higher faculties of the mind. For instance, a child might commit the contents of a Geography or Grammar, and recite it perfectly, and yet be very ignorant on the score of both studies, and so on with every thing else. Miss Melish cannot conscientiously teach upon that plan. She will endeavor, therefore, to proceed cautiously, grounding her pupils thoroughly, step by step. This may be slower work, but long experience has convinced her of its superior efficacy.

If she succeeds, she will have her School room fitted up with the best Maps and Globes; in short, with every thing that will be necessary to facilitate her Pupils' improvement.

As she has limited herself to a very small number, she begs those who may wish to avail themselves of her services, to apply early in the Session. Her second Session will commence on Monday, the fifteenth of June.
For Terms, &c. apply to Miss MELISH, at Mr. WILLIAM TUCKER'S, Hillsboro' Street, Raleigh.
P. S. Miss MELISH begs leave to mention that she has not discovered any royal road to science; there must be regular attendance and faithful application, or she cannot insure her Pupils' success.

JOHN IVY.—The Subscriber is brother of John Ivy, a resident of Henry County, Alabama, and desirous of hearing from and seeing his absent brother, but does not know where to find him. He left him in Cumberland County, N. C. about seven years ago, aged about seven years, living with William Johnson, a farmer, but he has since learned that he has been in Raleigh and left the City about eighteen months ago. This publication is made in hopes that his absent Brother will either see it, or hear of it from some one who may read it. In which case it is hoped he will either pay him in a visit, or drop him a few lines stating where he is, and what is his present situation. A letter addressed to the Subscriber at Asheville, N. C., will be received by him, as he is at present at Edward Green's in that vicinity, and will remain there till the 1st of July next.

Nos. 23 and 30, Starksville, Lee co. (town lots.) Seven hundred and twenty acres. To call county on the A'tamaha River, adjoining lands of Ambrose Gordon and others.

These lands are offered to be sold at private sale, but if not disposed of in this manner to our satisfaction, they will be sold to the highest bidder, on the first Tuesday in December next, at the Court house door in the city of Millidgeville, one-third cash, the balance in two equal annual payments, with interest, and undoubted personal security.

We offer for sale also two splendid settlements of land, in Baker county, one containing 1250 acres, the other 2250 acres. The first settlement embraces the following lots: Nos. 255 and 3, 5th district Baker; Nos. 19, 20, and 22, 7th district Baker—1250 acres.
—The other settlement contains the following Lots of Land, to wit: Nos. 255, 256, 265, 295, 294, 266, 267, 229, 252—2250 acres, and all in the 2d district Baker county.

In regard to the character of these two last named settlements of land or plantations, it is sufficient to say, they have been pronounced by competent judges to be inferior to no body of land north of the Saline River. Their location, fertility, and production, for corn and cotton, cannot be surpassed; they lie between the Chattahoochee and Flint River; a section of our State that is rapidly attracting public notice, and in a very few years will stand unrivalled as a cotton growing section of the Southern States. These were selected with great care and expense, by one of the best judges of such property in his life time, for his special use and accommodation.

The undersigned are very desirous to dispose of these two bodies of land, in two separate plantations, and will do so at private sale, to a fair purchaser, even on good time. But if not so arranged, they will be offered at the same time and place, and on the same terms, as the first mentioned scattering lands, lot by lot, and they are offered to the public at this early notice, in the hope of their receiving the strictest personal examination.

T. C. JONES very respectfully informs the Public, that he has lately purchased the Hotel occupied by H. S. SEVIER, and is prepared to accommodate gentlemen and ladies as well, and on as liberal terms, as can be met with in the State. His Stables are attended by as faithful Outlets as reason could desire. His Bar is well supplied, as extra-charge could ask, and his personal attention given in so unremitting a manner, that no one should have cause to complain of his accommodation. His House is now undergoing a most thorough repair, and he earnestly hopes that those who feel disposed to give encouragement to honest exertion, will call upon him.

PROSPECTUS
HENDERSON GAZETTE.

The undersigned proposes to publish a Weekly Paper under the above title, in the Town of Henderson, Granville County, N. C. It will be devoted to the proper purpose of this class of publications—the enlightenment of the People; and, at such a time as this, when diverse and adverse opinions upon subjects of general concernment are dividing the public mind, the Editor will best promote this purpose by setting forth the different doctrines held by opposing parties; and advocating those which he believes to be true.—So far, then, as the Gazette assumes a political character, it will espouse the cause of true Republicanism, in opposition to the policy and principles of the present Administration, and fight manfully the good fight against the powers that be, in behalf of the power that will be, when truth shall triumph over error.—And the Editor will account himself fortunate, if the exertion of his feeble abilities shall contribute a mite to the extension of Whig principles, and the elevation of General HAMMOND, to the highest station of dignity and trust in the National Government.

It will be the aim of the Editor to preserve the dignity of the Press, amid the turmoil of political strife, from the degradation to which it too often sinks—first, from rancor and virulence of party spirit, which ever proves the greatest drawback to the cause it is designed to promote. And the undersigned pledges himself that this paper shall be conducted with fairness and truth—shall show all respectful courtesy to honest opponents—and maintain a gentlemanly bearing towards all. He has chosen his ground—the firm foundation of well settled principles—and with all openness and candor, he will rear upon it a structure of reason and argument as a strong hold of the cause he believes to be just. From political friends, he expects patronage and support—from enemies, nothing but the respect due to an honorable enemy—and this it will be his endeavor to command.

A considerable portion of the Gazette will be devoted to the entertainment of the lovers of Polite Literature—and in this department, the publisher will exert himself to recommend it to men of intelligence and taste.

The publisher can command the most ample means for obtaining the latest news from all parts of the country—and the Gazette will always supply full intelligence upon all subjects of general interest. The daily arrivals of Goods, &c. by the Rail Road—the prices current of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond, Norfolk, Petersburg, Henderson, Raleigh and Wilmington, will be regularly published, with all other matters of interest to the people of this immediate neighborhood. The Gazette will be of the size of the Raleigh Register, and of a neat and elegant appearance. In short, no expense will be spared to render it an acceptable paper to all who may favor it with their patronage.

Terms.—$3 00 a year in advance; but if payment be delayed until after the issuing of the twelfth No. $3 50 will be demanded. The first number will be issued as soon as Subscribers enough can be obtained to warrant the expense of publication.
All Postmasters are requested to act as agents, and forward money to the Publisher.
THOS. C. DODD.

Editors friendly to the cause, are requested to give the above an insertion.

LAW NOTICE & GENERAL LAND AGENCY.—HENRY B. S. WILLIAMS, Attorney at Law, will attend to the adjustment and collection of claims throughout the Western District of Tennessee, and also act as Gen'l Land Agent in selling, listing and clearing old disputed titles. Persons residing at a distance, especially North Carolinians, whose interest is so extensive in this country, would do well to notice more strictly the situation of their Land claims.

DWELLING HOUSE FOR SALE.—Building is removed to the corner part of the City, I offer for sale my present Residence on Fayetteville street. To persons not acquainted with the premises, it may be remarked that the Lot on which the Dwelling House is situated, contains about half an acre, in the heart of the business of the place, has an excellent Well and Ice House in the yard, and all convenient offices and out houses. The Dwelling is in the form of an L, is well arranged for the accommodation of a large family, and all in excellent repair. Appurtenant to the Dwelling, but on the opposite side of the street, is another half acre of which is situated a good Garden, Stables, Granary, Carriage House &c. &c.
A very liberal credit will be given to the purchaser if desired.
