ANECDOTE OF PULASEL

We heard the other day, the following interesting statement respecting the Polish Count Pulaski, said to have been handed down from some of the Revolutionary Patriots who witnessed the transaction. The gen-Houston, of the army of Texas; whose terse and beautiful style of graphic description we shall have a task to unitate.

Pulaski, as is well known was as adroit a swordsman as he was perfect in horsemanship, and he ever rode a powerful and fleet charger. During the retreat of the American army through New Jer-ey, in the darkest hour of our national adversity, Pulaski was. with a small party of horsemen, pursued by a large party of British ravalry, the leader of which was a good horseman and mounted nearly as well as Pulaski. Pulaski rode in the rear of his detachment and the British captain in the advance of those be comman-

The morning sun was chining brightly, casting oblique shadows, and as the pursued party entered a long narrow lane, Pulaski, having satisfied himself of the superior speed and command of his horse over that of his HERIFF'S SALES .- I shall sell at public Aucpursuer, slackened his pace and kept his horse close to the side of the lane farthest the following Tracts of Land as will be sufficient to in hot haste, his sword elevated. so as to former years, together with incidental costs and chargmake the decisive cut upon Pulaski as soon he could reach him. Pulaski rode as tho' he heard not the rapid advance upon himyet kept his eyes warily fixed upon the ground upon the side of his horse towards the sun on his right. As soon as he saw the shadow of his pursuer's horse gain upon him, and found that the horse's head, by the shadow, had gained about half length of his own horse's hody, he gave the sudden sword cut of St. George, with his powerful arm. and saw the decapitated head of the English officer follow the stroke. His mathematical eve had measured the distance, by the position of the shadow, so accurately, and his position giving a long back reach of his right arm, while the crossstroke of his pursuer must have been made at a much shorter distance to have taken effect-that the pursuing officer lost his head before he suspected that his proximity was known, or that a blow was meditated.

Persons wishing to procure Spectacles, or to have new glasses fitted in old frames, are informed that they can be suited with glasses of different colors and forms, and suited to any age, which he can determine by inspection of their eyes. The glasses which he furnishes, he will warrant to hold their power of vision from five to eight years. From his knowledge of the science of Optics he can determine the glasses suitable for any age. Persons with weak eyes can be supplied with glasses which will greatly benefit them and not strain the sight ; also spectacles for Petition, or it will be taken pro confesso as to them. near-sighted persons, and those who have been operated upon for a cataract of the eye. He would particularly call the attention of the public to a new sort of glasses and conservers of the sight, made of the best fint and szure glass, and ground perspective. These glasses have been recommended by the most celebrated doctors and professors, as the best in their effects on the eye. They are the best of the kind-for preserving and in-proving the sight in continued readin and writing, in which case they not only relieve th eve, but also strengthen and improve the sight. It not necessary to say more than that he has testimo nials of the most celebrated professors of Germany, invited to call as early as possible, as Mr. W. stay will be very short. Also a neat and expeditious style of Land-cape painting taught by Mrs. W. in a course of 12 Lessons; including drawing and perspective, price $10 or a class of 6 $6 each. COLUMBUS AND LUTHER.

Twenty years only intervened between the discovery of America and the first preaching of Luther. The christian scholar may be pardoned if he lingers for a moment upon the analogy which subsists between these remarkable events. Columbus, pursuing his perilous course across the Atlantic, and led forward by the single star of lofty and inspiring hope, may be regarded as no inapt. emblem of that adventurous Reformer, who embarked upon a stormier sea than ever rocked the pillow of the intrepid Sailor. How magnificent the result! a land of beauty opened its flowery valleys to the navigator; bat a richer land of promise blossomed before the eyes of the Reformer. *

Gen. Washington and Lord Erskine .-A Volume was presented to Gen. Washington in 1797, by Thomas Erskine, on a blank page of which, he wrote the following note. containing perhaps the happiest elogium of the many bestowed upon that wonderful man. "Sir-I have taken the liberty to intro duce your august and immortal name in a short sentence which is to be found in the book I send you. 1 have a large acquaintance among the most valuable and exalted classes of men, but you are the only human being for whom hever felt an awful reverence. I sincerely pray God, to grant a long and serene evening to a life so gloriously devoted to the happiness of the world."

A very good widow lady, who was looked bonged as an example of piety, contrived to bring her conscience to terms for one little indulgence. She loved porter, and one day bust as the was requiring half docum hereign and other needfal out-houses for the accommodation of a family; also a Store-house just as she was receiving half dozen bottles and Blackshith Shop. This is considered a very from the man who usually brought her the good situation for a country store.
