WOMAN'S WIT.

The following dramatic passage is concerning Guswhen that distinguished monarch took efuge from the Danish ususper in Delacarlia, to me ture his noble plan for the deliverance of his country

On the little hill just mentioned, stood very ancient habitation, of so simple an architecture, that you would have taken it for a hind's cottage, instead of a place that in times of old had been the abode of nobility. It consisted of a long farm-like structure, formed of fir, covered in a strange fashion with scales and odd ornamental twistings in the by the virtues of its heroic mistress, who saved, by her presence of mind, the life of the future deliverer of her Country.

Gustavus, having, by an evil accident been discovered in the mines, bent his course towards this house, then inhabited by a gentleman of the name of Pearson, whom he had known in the armies of the administration. Here he hoped, from the obligation he had formerly laid on the officer, that he should him with every mark of friendship; may, ated him with that respect and submission which noble minds are proud to pay to the truly great, when robbed of their external honors. He exclaimed with such vehemence against the Danes, that instead of awaiting a proposal to take up arms, offered, unasked. to try the spirit of the mountaineers; and declared that himself and his vassals would be the first to set an example, and turn out under the command of his beloved general. Gustavus relied on his word, and promising not to name himself-to any while he was beent, some days afterwards saw Pearson leave the house to put his design into execu-

It was indeed a design, and a black one.-Under the specious cloak of a zealous affecthe Danish tyrant, and the expectation of a large reward, induced him to sacrifice his honor to his ambition, and for the sake of a few ducats, violate the most sacred laws of hospitality, by betraying his guest. In pursuance of that base resolution, he proceeded to one of Christiern's officers commanding in the province, and informed him that Gustavus was his prisoner. Having committed this treachery, he had not the courage to face his victim, but telling the Dane how to surprise the Prince, who, he said, believed himself under the protection of a friend, he proposed taking a wider circuit home, while they, apparently unknown to him, rifled it of is treasure. "It will be an easy matter," said he, for not even my wife knows that it

The officer, at the head of a party of well armed soldiers, marched directly to the lake. The men invested the house, while the leader abruptly entering, found Pearson's wife, according to the fashion of those days, employed in colinary preparations. At some distance from her sat a young man in a rustie garb, lopping off the knots from the broken branch of a tree. The officer told her he came in King Christiern's name to demand the rebel Gustavus, who he knew was concealed under the roof. The dauntless woman never changed color; she immediatey guessed the man whom her husband had introduced as a miner's son to be the Swedish hero. The door was blockaded up by soldiers. In an instant she replied, without once glancing at Gustavus, who sat motionless with surprise, 'if you mean the melancholy gentleman my husband has had here these two days, he has just walked out into the wood, on the other side of the hill .-Some of these soldiers may readily seize him, as he has no arms with him.

The officer, not suspecting the easy simplicity of her manner, ordered part of his men to go in quest of him. At that moment, Abner Robinson, R. H. and giving him another knock, she flung the Mick after him and shut the door. . 'Sure added she, in a great heat, 'never woman was

RECORDER'S COURT.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION .- Frank Smith and Reddin were up before Recorder Baldwin on Saturday morning. They were arrested for being noisy and intoxicated:

"Smith" said the Recorder, "about what did you and Reddin quarrel?"

"Nay, about the old thing, your honor," said Smith.

"What do you call the old thing?" said the Recorder. "Vy this here Presidential helection," said

"Oh, you differ in politics, do you?" said the Recorder.

"Certainly we do," said Smith-" he is Rabbit locofoco and I is a vig."

"A what?" said the Recorder. "A wiolent politician, and in favor of Van Buren," said Smith. " But I'll tell your honor as how it is. Ve both lives in the same yard, and venever I passes him he says there goes Hard Cider; there is one of the party wot aint got no principles; there's a supporter of the man wot's been made brave by certificates and not by his sword; and he goes on in that vay wich no good Republican can stand. Ven he finds the other vigs out carved wood. But the spot was hallowed what live in the yard and the locofocos at home, he is sure to take the vote, and then he calls it a Gen. Wan Buren wictory, and a he calls it a Gen. Wan Buren wictory, and a nigts of the most celebrated professors of Germuny, sign of the times, and all that. The fact is, that his glasses are made of the best and finest matefor an office, I doesn't mind he'd be half as are, therefore, far preferable to the mass of rough, irdemocratic as he is."

" Redden," said the Recorder-" is your conduct such as Smith describes it?"

"Not a bit on it," said Reddin-" if I vas to be let alone I'd never do nothing to nobody his glasses. find at least a safe retreat. Pearson received but he's heternally talking politics. Ven my old voman locks the door and goes out, he makes a fox on it with chalk, and writes un-without frames; Concave and Convex Glasses without frames; Concave and Convex Mirrors; Gold derneath it, this here is sly Renard from Vin- and Silver-steel Spectacles of all kinds; different desperhook, vot vos for some time in the Lon- criptions of Magnifying-Glasses; large and small don Zoological Gardens, but now is in the menagerie at Washington; he's the most cunning hannimal vot's known to naturalists. This is not all your honor. Ven I vants to sleep at night, I'm blowed if I can get a wink, he kicks up such a rumpus, singing Tip & Ty songs the whole time, and crowing like regular rouster.

"But can't you both retain your respective political opinions without quarrelling?" said the Recorder

"Vell, then," said Redden, "your honor must bind him over not to sing Arrison songs between the hours of ten o'clock at ion for Gustavus, the traitor was contriving night and six o'clock in the morning, and not his ruin. The hope of making his court to to be frightening my children out of bed by firing off that old rusty musket in celebration of Ving wictories every night. Yes, and prewent him your honor," continued Redden, "from making his big dog stand on his hind legs in my presence, and saying, as he their patients, can be supplied by Mr. Wise upon the points to him, 'here's one of Wan Buren's most reasonable terms standing harmy:' nor I wont stand no more from him about negro testimony.

On the part of Smith, it was provided that Redden was not to disturb him any more .-They made mutual promises to act with more forbearance towards one another in future, and to display a greater degree of political charity than they have evinced heretofore, and were discharged.

SPECTACLES, &c. MR. WISE respectfully informs the citizens of Raleigh. Raleigh and the public generally, that his Store is on Fayetteville street, next door to Messrs. W. & A STITE, in the House occupied by S. R. Anker, where he will be happy to attend to all orders in his kne.-

He will also, if required, go to any part of the City where his services are wanted. Persons wishing to procure Spectacles, or to have ew glasses fitted in old frames, are informed that they can be suited with glasses of different colors and forms, and suited to any age, which he can deter-mine by inspection of their eyes. The glasses which he furnishes, he will warrant to hold their power of vision from five to eight years, From his knowledge of the science of Optics he can determine the glasses suitable for any age. Persons with weak eyes can be supplied with glasses which will greatly benefit them and not strain the sight; also speciacles for near-sighted persons, and those who have been operated upon for a cataract of the eye. He would particularly call the attention of the public to a new sort of glasses and conservers of the sight, made of the best flint and azure glass, and ground perspective. These glasses have been recommended by the most celebra-
