T is a a rare occurrence in the History of popula remedies, that any article should be found to maintain a good reputation for twenty years tog ther, and continue to receive fresh testimony in its favour from gentlemen of known intelligence and in egrity. Such, however, is the fortune of BECKWITH'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS, as will appear from the following Letters, in addition to the large mass of evidence

From Dr. E. Marks, President of the Female Institution near Columbia S. C. BARNANSVILLE S. C., June 15, 1840

Dear Sir: I beg leave to offer you my testimony in favor of a medicine calculated to do much good in itself, and to supercede the introduction into families of

Your Anti-Dyspeptic Pills were prescribed by me for a lady in whose case the usual remedies had failpills to be taken as soon as approaches of a paroxysm were observed, the result was that in every instance where timely administered, they either warded off the attack, or rendered it very mild. In a few weeke after using the Pills, the patient, from a state of much JAMES M. WIGGINS, Clk. languar and comparative exhaus ion, increased in strength, ficsh and spirits, and now enjoys excellent

Since witnessing the above cases, I have prescribed your Pills in many cases of derangements of the sto-mach attended with sympathetic headach—the result has been in every instance favorable. In giving you these facts, I believe I am contributing to the cause of humanity, and do not hesitate to say, that I know of no family medicine more calculated to afford relief in abnormed affection of the stomach, and sympathetic affections thence arising.

Greenville, Ga. July 7, 1840. Dear Sire A simple acknowledgement of benefits is certainly due from those who receive, and but a reasonable return to those who confer them; as such please to receive this letter containing a very brief account of my sufferings, and of the relief I obtained from the use of Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills.— When I reseided in the Western part of North Carolina, I was long and severely afflicted with a diseased liver, and dyspepsia—my nerves were in a wretched condition, my mend weakened and depressed, with occasional attacks of blindness, pain and lightness in the head, stomach and bowels greatly deranged—alternate costivness and painful diarrhoes, strength and flesh wasted, so that I was reduced in weight from 195 to 120. In 1834 your Pills were recommended to me and I commenced taking them, three a day, and I continued them for some months before any material change in my health took place. I then began to improve, and I am happy to say that I recovered the tone of my stomach and bowels, ate any thing I liked, and now weigh 160 bs. and have as much health and strength as could be expected in one at the age of $1. I believe I owe my relief from that dreadful disease for your happiness. Respectfully yours &c. SAMUEL McCOMB.

and a lengthening of my days to the use of your pills, for which please to accept my best thanks, and wishes

From Mr. William Irving Hyslop

New York, July 11, 1840. }

My Dear Sir: I have delayed for several months sending to you the acknowledgements which I have felt to be due from me, for the benefits I have received at your hands.

I had been in a low state of health nearly two years, suffering from indigestion, palpitation at the heart, headach &c. &c , rendering me extremely nervous and experiencing all the many changing and distressing symptoms in mind and body attendant upon this malady. I had the advice of several eminent Physicians which I followed without any seeming benefit, and was induced to visit the South, and pass my winter these states. ters there, with the hope of protracting an uncomfor-table life. At Columbus, Georgie, (on my way out) I met with a friend, who on hearing my complaints, advising me to give Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills a fair trial. I resolved to follow his advice, and took four boxes according to the directions. The effect produced was most happy, giving me case and comfort unknown before for years. And now, sir, I am enjoying health and elasticity of both mind and body, for regard of a friend, Very truly. which you have my most sincere thanks, and the best
