FOUR FUNNY FELLOWS.

THE OLEO.

Theo. Gibber, in company with three others, made an excursion. Theodore had false set of teeth, a second a glass eye, a third a cork leg, but the fourth had nothing particular except a remarkable way of shak. ing his head. They travelled in a post place they would all affect the same singuarity. When they came to breakfast they were all to squint—and language cannot express how admirably they all squinted, for they went one degree beyond the superlasupper which was at the Ship at Dover, each 'Here, you fellow, take out my teeth.'-Unscrew that wire, and they'll all con er performed, than a second called out-Here you-take out my eye.' 'Sir,' said the waiter, 'your eye!' 'Yes, my eye .-Come here you stupid dog, pull up that eye lid, and it will come out as easily as possi-ble.' This done, the third cried out—'Here you rescal take off my leg.' This he did with less reluctance, being before apprized that it was cork, and also conceiving that it would be his last job. He was however mistaken; the fourth watched his opportunity, and while the frightened waiter was surveying with rueful countenance, the eye, teeth. and leg lying on the table, cricd out in a out of the room and after tumbling down stairs, he ran madly about the house, as if terrified out of his senses.

David Crockett, when quite a youth, fell in love with a beautiful Quaker girl; and he thus graphically describes the effect on an ardent and susceptible mind, produced

"I found myself over head and heels in love with this girl; and I thought that if all the hills there were pure chink, and all belonged to me, I would give them if I could talk to her just as I wanted to, but I was afraid to begin; for, when I would think of saying any thing to her, my heart would begin to flutter like a duck in a puddle; and if I tried to out do it and speak, it would get night smack up my throat and choke me like a cold potatoe.

"Do you want any body for the harvest? inquired a little Irishman of a stout brawny farmer .- "Yes, but you're too short," replied the husbandman. "Arrah, now, and do ye cut yere corn at the top ?"

IT is a a rare occurrence in the History of popula remedies, that any article should be found to main tain a good reputation for twenty years tog ther, and continue to receive fresh testimony in its favour from gentlemen of known intelligence and integrity. Such, however, is the fortune of BECKWITH'S ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS, as will appear from the following Letters, in addition to the large mass of evidence and the next session will commence on the 15th of DYSPEPTIC PILLS, as will appear from the followperetofore published :-

From Dr. E. Marks, President of the Female Institution near Columbia S. C.

BARRAMSVILLE S. C., June 15, 1840 Dear Sir: I beg leave to offer you my testimony in favor of a medicine calculated to do much good in itself, and to supercede the introduction into families of pernicious quack medicines. Your Anti-Dyspeptic Pills were prescribed by me for a lady in whose case the usual remedies had failnal applications. I directed three or more of your pills to be taken as soon as approaches of a paroxysm ry possible care will be taken to promote the adverse observed, the result was that in every instance. where timely administered, they either warded off the each student placed under our care. attack, or rendered it very mild. In a few weeks after using the Pills, the patient, from a state of much or twenty students with board, and good out rooms.

Since witnessing the above cases, I have prescribed your Pills in many cases of derangements of the sto-mach attended with sympathetic headach—the result has been in every instance favorable. In giving you these facts, I believe I am contributing to the cause o humanity, and do not hesitate to say, that I know of no family medicine more calculated to afford relief in abnormed affection of the stomach, and sympathetic affections thence arising. I am dear Sir yours &c.

From Maj. Samuel McComb.

Greenville, Ga. July 7, 1840. Dear Sir: A simple acknowledgement of benefits is certainly due from those who receive, and but a reasonable return to those who confer them; as such please to receive this letter containing a very brief account of my sufferings, and of the relief I obtained from the use of Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills.—When I reseided in the Western part of North Carolina, I was long and severely afflicted with a diseased liver, and dyspepsis—my nerves were in a wretched condition, my mind weakened and depressed, with occasional attacks of blindness, pain and lightness in the head, stomech and bowels greatly deranged—alternate costivness and painful diarrhosa, strength and fiesh wasted, so that I was reduced in weight from 195 to 120. In 1834 your Pills were recommended to me and I commenced taking them, three a day, and I continued them for some months before any material change in my health took place. I then began to improve, and I am happy to say that I recovered the tone of my stomach and bowels, ate any thing I liked, and now weigh 1600bs. and have as much health and strength as could be expected in one at the age of 51. I believe I owe my relief from that dreadful disease and a lengthening of my days to the use of your pills, for which please to accept my best thanks, and wishes for your happiness.

Respectfully yours &c., SAMUEL McCOMB.

Dr. JOHN BECKWITH.

From Mr. William Irving Hyelop. New York, July 11, 1840. 2 220 Pearl street.

My Dear Sir: I have delayed for several months, sending to you the acknowledgements which I have felt to be due from me, for the henefits I have received at your hands.

I had been in a low state of health nearly two years, suffering from indigestion, palpitation at the heart, headach &c. &c., rendering me extremely nervous, and experiencing all the many changing and distress-ing symptoms in mind and body attendant upon this malady. I had the advice of several eminent Physiing symptoms in mind and body attendant upon this malady. I had the advice of several eminent Physicians which I followed without any seeming benefit, and was induced to visit the South, and pass my winters there, with the hope of protracting an uncomfortable life. At Columbus, Georgia, (on my way out) I met with a friend, who on hearing my complaints, advising me to give Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills a fair trial. I resolved to follow his advice, and took four boxes according to the directions. The effect produced was most happy, giving me ease and comfort unknown before for years. And now, sir, I am enjoying health and elasticity of both mind and body, for which you have my most sincere thanks, and the best regard of a friend.
