

THE GRECIAN MOTHER.

Arm ! arm thes quick, my gallant boy !
And speed to the battle field,
The widow's prayer—my only joy,
From danger be thy shield.
Away—away ! and join the glorious band,
Who are battling in blood for their native land.

Heard you not that wild, startling cry ? There's vengeance in the sound ; The Moslem bosts are drawing nigh, Their blood shall stain the ground ! Thou art soon prepar'd—yet a moment stuy— Another kiss, and then—away, away !"

Swift he sprung to his charger's back, The errand pleas'd him well; And bounding o'er the well known track, He waiv'd his fast farewell." The tear-drop glisten'd in the mother's eye-It was her only child-and should he die!

There was a quick, convulsive start, An ashy paleness on her brow, That told a pang had cross'd her heart, Remains there aught of veror now ? Her visage fluch'd—she rais'd her hands on high While a woman's soul shone in her eye,

And should be die !- 'twere better thus To sleep on the battle plain, Than live degraded to the dust, Galled by a tyrant's chain. "Twere better to weep o'et a freeman's grave, Than blush for a son who lives a slave."

The next day came-the fight was o'er, The mother sought her son, And strangers bore him to her door, His earthly race was run ! He found what many sought in vain-a tomb; The freeman's refuge from a tyrant's doom.

The mother bow'd beside her child, And sought (in prayer) relief; So pale, she seem'd the spirit mild Of sad and tearless grief. For still she shed no tear-she heav'd no sigh, But every look was full of silent agony.

Ye who have heard the fervent prayer Ascend in accents strong and wild, Would quick have deem'd a mother there Was penying for an only child. Long and eliently she knelt, beside the dead-One groan escap'd-where has her spirit fied ?

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE National Intelligence

THERE never has existed a public Journal hathe National Intelligencer, whether their general character, their intelligence, or even their general com-petency, be considered. This list has been and now is daily augmented by the addition of names which we are proud to enrol among its readers ; so that within a few years past, the number of its regular Subscribers has more than doubled. In some parts of the country, which can be readily reached by collectors, we have every reason to be satisfied with the punctuslity with which the yearly accounts are promptly as presented. But in parts of the country which cannot be readily reached by collectors, the subscriptions are too olten suffered to fall in arrear, and to such an extent as to cause us serious embarrassment. This would never happen, we are persuaded, if each individual Subscriber were to reason with himself for one moment on the subject. If, instead of each one saying to himself, I owe to the publishers of the National Intelligencer one or two years' subscription, it is true, but that is only some ten, or fifteen, or twenty dollars, and that sum cannot make any dif. twenty dollars, and that sum cannot make any dif-ference to the publishers; if, instead of reasoning thus, each one would consider that an aggregate number of such delinquents (say three thousand, a moderate computation) would leave the publishers thirty, or forty-five, or sixty thousand dollars out of pocket, he would arrive at something like a just estimate of the actual condition of this establishment, and of the importance to us of punctuality in his own case. He could not fail alson or preceive the absolute necessity of our resorting to some means of ensuring greater punctuality and promptitude in the returns of our bu-siness, upon which alone this and every other Newspaper depends, not only for its prosperity; but for its existence from one day to another.

OWN LOTS FOR SALE .-- The Com missioners appointed by an Act of the last Gene-ral Assembly, to select a site whereon to erect a Court House and other Public Buildings for the new County of Caldwell, having fixed on a very eligible situation, on a beautiful ridge adjacent to the main road leading from Morganton to Wilkesboro, and about half a mile from Waugh's and Harper's Store :---We, the undersigned Commissioners, duly appointed for the purpose, have proceeded to lay off a Town, on said selected site, and will, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 1st and 2d days of June next, offer for sale the Lots thereof, to the highest bidder, on a credit of one and two years, by the purchasers giving bond with approved security. Being impressed with a belief that all persons inclined to purchase will view the premises, we deem it unnecessary to go into a lengthy and detailed description thereof, and will only add, that the situation is agreeably handsome, the soil gray, with about a sufficient mixture of sand and gravel, to insure, with proper care, nice streets and yards, and with the aid of some manure, beautiful and products ive gatdens; the water is good and the air pure and healthy, coming from the lofty mountains in the neighborhood, all of which will contribute much to make it a desirable residence ; and being adjacent to April 23.
