THE YANKEE AND DUTCHMAN.

By the Statute Law of the State of New-York, from December to April all persons were prohibited from killing Deer, under a ten lashes on the naked back.

" Mine Cot-if I had mine gun bere, and teer for mine tinner."

mediately shot the Deer, and threw his rifle eloped, and was married. into the snow, unobserved by the Dutchman. and running up to him, said-

"Ah! my good fellow, you have been killing a Deer-for I saw you-you shot him with your shovel."

The Dutchman replied— "Mine Cot !- I did not think mine shovel VIRGINIA MONONGALIA LOTTERY, was loaded. I did not think it vould go off. I never knew it to go off before." "Well," said the Yankee, 'you have killed the Deer, and I will go to the Justice and complain of you, and make you pay your fine, unless you give me the skin and two dollars."

"Vell," said the Dutchman, "tho' I did not think my tam'd old shevel would go off, dat is better den pay ten dollars."

So the bargain was concluded; the Yankee receiving the skin and two dollars, left the Dutchman to take care of his vension.

While the Dutchman was taking care of his vension, and before he had put it out of the way, another Dutchman came up and threatened to complain, upon which Hans, the Shovel Shooter, related all that had passed between himself and the Yankee.

Vanderhausen told Hans he had been imposed upon ; that the Yankee killed the Deer himself. The two Dutchmen then agreed to pursue the Yankee, and to bring him before the Justice and have him fined. They soon overtook him and carried him before the Justice; and Hans entered his complaint, pro bano publico. Whereupon, the Justice, after hearing all the testimoney, pros and cons, and taking the subject matter in cool, serious and deliberete consideration, came to the conclusion that the Yankee killed the Deer with a certain instrument called a rifle, and that he pay a fine of ten dollars, or be whipped ten lashes. The Yankee chose the latter. The Justice then ordered the Yankee to be stripped, tied to a tree, and the whip applied. There being no officer present, the Justice concluded to do the whipping himself, and at it he went. After he had given the Yankee five lashes, and was, proceeding to give him the other five, the Yunkee bawled

" Vot," said the Justice " there is five more to come."

The Yankee informed the Justice that half the fine went to the complainant. Justice. - Dat ish the Law, by Cot ontie the Yankee; tie up the Tutchman; give him half the fine." was an accordant

COMING TO A CONCLUSION.

Some fifty years ago, at the time the present City of Lowell, in Mass, was just springing into notice, a large number of drishmen were employed at that place digging canals; ditching and excuvating for the first factory company. A number of New-Hampshire Yankees were also engaged, with their oxen and carts, in carrying away stones and dirt: Among them was a little fellow named Paylor Rhodes, who though small himself, had the largest voke of oxen of any about the red the fierce displeasure of an Irishman, who at once determined upon getting some kind of satisfaction. Thinking it impredent ession in advance, $20. Fuel $1.742 5d to attack Rhodes on the spot, lie formed a plan of giving him a "bating," in the burn where he put up his oxen. Taking a trusty friend along, he repaired to the barn; and leaving his friend in the yard to see fair play, he soon stowed himself away to await the coming of his enemy limit, against ad I It so happened that Rhodes liad employed a stout double-fieted consin of his named Ray, to take care of his oven that night. About dusk, and not dreaming there was an enemy within gun-shot, he was on the burn floor foddering his cattle. It was too dark for the Irishman to diseem any thing but the outlines of the Yankee, but supposing, as a matter of course, that he was the individual sought, he squared away, threw himself into a scientific attitude, telling his enemy to look out for himself, gave him one of his heaviest blows. Although he hit his mark, the blow had no more effect upon him than it would who his enemy was, but at any rate was resolved to have him out of the way. He therefore aimed a tremendous blow at his face and eyes, hit his mark, and faid him sprawling upon the barn floor. The Irishman picked himself up as soon as possible, and made out of the barn as fast as his legs would carry him.

"" Hallo, Jimmy," said his comrade, 'what have you done?"

" I've come to a bit of a conclusion."

BROKWETH'S BURLS. From the Hon. W. C. PRESTON, U. S. Senetor.

WASSIDETON CITY, July, 1841. I for some years used Beckwith's Pills in cases of indigestion, and dyspeptic headachs, with the most agreeable effects, and having recommended them to many friends, the same results occurred. W. C. PRESTON.

From Hon. BEVIELE TUEERS, Law Professor in William and Mary College: LEE's SPRINGS, Va. August 7th, 1840.

Sir: An accidental meeting with a friend of youre, has determined me to offer you the acknowledgements which I have long felt to be due from me, for the benefits I have received at your hands. Fourteen years agu I was left by a most malignant fewer with a discusruins. My Physicians permitted me to hope that with care and pradence I might drag on a few years of precarious existence, and assured me that the loast indiscretion must be fatal. Some afterwards I found myself becoming dyspeptic, and became acquainted with all that indescribable misery which dyspeptics alone can know. This, as usual, grew upon me, tho' less rapidly than in most cases, because a conscious, ness of my danger put me on my guard, and experie.ce had made me familiar with the proper manage. ment of myself. By the constant use of the most and proved remedies, the magness of the disease was yes arded, and my life was made tolerable; but not comtarded, and my life was made tolerable, but not comfortable. I rarely ate two meals in regular succession, and for some hours of almost every day, was incapable of any exercise of thought or teeling. A prevish impatience of existence occupied my whole mind,
Two years ago, I met with your Anti-dyspertic Pills, and confiding in the accompanying certificates of res, ectable gentlemen whom I happened to know.
I took them according to directions. The result is, that I now cat what I please, do what I please, sleep soundly, and enjoy life as much as any man living.
Your young friend, who has been with my man living.

Your young friend, who has been with me a week; will tell you that he has never seen my strongth he spirits flag, or my elasticity of mind or body for for a moment. For this, it gives me pleasure to say, you have my thanks, and to add the assurance of my high Dn. Brenwick and some some states
