Never did I stand so much in need of mind, or deplore this want so much, as on this occasion. 'Frue, the evening was serene and beautiful, and might have warmed the breast that had the least spark of poetical feeling about it; but mine had no dormant energies of this nature to awaken, and neither the kindling influence of fine weather, nor the more inspiring power of Fanny's presence could remove my constitutional inability to thyme. To attempt it, I knew very well that the failure would be so completely shameful that I should lose much of her esteem, and yet not to do it, must inavitably ineur her most serious displensure. Bring flowers for the lucks of the fair young bride. The long parlor was splendidly illuminated. The chandelier, suspended in the centre, threw around a brilliant light, which the mirrors argumented by reflection, whilst the warm flashes from the sparkling eyes of the laughing girls still added to the blaize, and made the room glow with the lustre of the skies. The light of heaven was there, and merciment was there. The young voices mingling in sprightly conversation, were so many separate tones of melody; and mirth. was in all-all was gladness; and to one whose heart had not been rendered impenetrable to joy, it was so sweet to look upon the innocent faces, and the unaffected vivacity that prevailed! Once I could have enjoyed the scene : but the chord in my bosom that might have vibrated in unison, was now anapped asunder; and amidst all this gavety and joy and beauty, my heart retained its midnight darkness, still brooding over its ruin, and nourishing its gloomy wrath. I mixed not with the joyous company; but retiring to the remotest corner of the room. I folded my arms, and impatiently awaited the coming of the bridegroom and his bride, SWEETS for the SWEET! when I might take, even at the alter of Hymen, that sanguinary vengeance which despair prompted, and my wrongs justified.

They soon came. There was a silence in the hall. I ruised my eyes and beheld the happy couple standing on the floor, their attendants ranged on either side. The whole company pressed forward to look upon the fair young bride. Never had one shone so beautiful; never had Fanny appeared so lovely to my eyes as then. Her tresses were durker every thing at his Store that pertains to his immediate than the raven's wing-they rolled in glosey curls down the neck, and spread upon her ivory shoulders. Her form was the perfecting of human symmetry; she was the statue of Medici animated to life by the warmest, brightest fire of heaven, exhibiting a constellation of beauty, where every charm mingled its light in one unbounded blaze .- I gazed upon her, and the recollection of former times came rushing on my soul. I thought of the many evenings I had spent with her in this same hall, under happier circumstances; of the many protestations of eternal love exchanged between us as we walked arm in arm to church of Sabbath mornings, and 'o the times that we had loitered on the bankthat play upon the brown cheek of night, but tear, as I thought quivering in her soft blue of a neighboring river, and sitting beneath the umbrageous oak, would talk of the fairest prospect of happiness when we should be united in marriage as we were in affection. One of the many peculiar virtues of the Vegetable Pills, is, that while very powerful in their effects, they are particularly mild and gentle in their action. Unlike the generality of medicine, their application is never attended with nausea or griping.

Peters's Vegetable Pills are now regarded by those who have had an opportunity to decide upon their me-rits, as an inestimable public blessing.

Without an exception in any age or country, no medicine has spread with such rapidity and given such universel estisfaction.

The above Pills are for sale in the City of Raleigh, by Messre, Wellershus & Harwoon, and W.

M. Mason & Co.; and in Payoueville, by E. J. Harn,

$10.50 have business at our Banks, as well as collect and remainder of selling Goods and 5.50 Produce on commission and at suction. I thank the public for its patronage for the last twelve years, and in the above business, hope still to be found worthy of a share of public favor.

WILL: PECK Raleigh, January 4, 1842.
