

Wesley B. Gales, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TERMS. SUBSCRIPTION.—Five Dollars per annum—half in Advance. ADVERTISEMENTS.—For every Sixteen Lines, first insertion, One Dollar; each subsequent insertion, Twenty-five Cents.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE TWO BRIDEGROOMS.

By J. G. WHITTIER.

The sun went down on the plains of Palestine, tinged with a redder hue the dark stains of the battle. The infidel had retired; and a field from whence but a little time before the clang of arms went into the still skies of Syria, where the brazen helmet and the pale crescent gave back their double flood of sunlight—and where the chivalrous lances of Christendom bore down the infidel scimitar, lay silent beneath the darkness—save when some stifled groan, or muttered prayer of the dying, told that the work of death was yet unfinished.

Bravely had Rupert Merton and his bosom friend, the young Knight of Anselm, borne themselves in the terrible strife of that day. But in the last struggle—just as the vast sea of turbans and scimitars rolled backward from the fierce onset of the Christian chivalry, they had been separated from each other; and Rupert with a bounding heart discovered that his friend was not among the weary war spent soldiers who gathered together in the Syrian twilight, with those emotions of pain and triumph, which victory, attained only by bitter sacrifices, must always inspire.

Fearful were the sights and sounds that pained the senses of Rupert Merton as he stole watchfully among the ghastly wrecks of the death grapple. On one hand lay the tall and graceful form of the Molein, with his brazen helmet and light armor, and on the other the stalwart Knight of Christendom, girded in his cumbersome armor, like a thrown down statue of iron with his cross-handled sword still grasping in a hand which might never more lift its heavy gauntlet. The writhing forms of the dying are around him—their glist'ning countenances turned upwards to the dim twilight—with here and there a friend hurrying onward. A low moan at his side arrested his attention. He paused, and by the dim light he saw the familiar countenance of his friend. The helmet was off—and there was a ghastly paleness in the features, which faintly smiled upon him.

Rupert knelt at his side. The wounded man rally in his last energies, murmured faintly:—“Merton, tell my lady-love how I have fallen. Let her know that her Knight died in his armor as a Knight should die.” There was a struggle on his ghastly features—his lips moved—the ear of Rupert listened in vain.

“Peace be to thee, valiant!” said Rupert Merton, as he rose from bending over the inanimate form of his friend—“a braver never knelt at the shrine of beauty!” And he left him to the loneliness of the gathering night which now hung over the battle field with the darkness of the funeral pall.

Two years had passed away: and one of England's pleasant villages was enlivened with the gaiety and splendor of a merry bridal. It was the bridal of Rupert Merton, to the lady love of Robert Anselm—the knight who fell with a good sword in his hand and his armor on, in the wars of Europe.

Marvel not, reader, that the betrothed of Anselm should so soon yield herself to the addresses of another. Did she forget her lover—the good Knight who had borne her name on his helmet through the reddest fields of Palestine? Did she cease to remember him, who had laid at her feet the wrested sword and conquered banner of his enemies—whose armor she had herself laced for its last trial—him, at the mention of whose name her heart had beat prouder, and for whose return she had looked forward with the anxiety of love? Never! She had wept sadly at the story of his fall—glorious as it was—she had offered to many a shrine, prayers for the noble spirit which had passed away for ever. But tears may not always flow—the fountains which have been unsealed by the rude hand of affliction may close again. So it was with the lady Eleanor. The tide of agony settled down into the calm melancholy of a spirit sanctified and made better by the trial of grief. And when she knew the early love of M.—a love which his friendship for Anselm had checked in his bosom, she listened to his words of affection, consolation and sympathy. And she gave her plighted troth to the dearest friend of her dearest love.

They stood up together before the altar of the village church, and the multitude gazed on them with gratified eagerness. Both were pale, there was a melancholy on their features that told how deeply they had tasted of the bitter fountains of existence. But in the nobler bearing of Rupert, and in the christened beauty of his lovely partner, those who looked on them found much to admire; and a whisper of delight ran around the assembly for one moment, and then, as the imposing ceremony commenced, all became silent once more, in breathless attention.

A clatter of hoofs, as if a horseman was hurrying with the speed of life and death, startled the assemblage. The next moment the tall form of a knight in armor darkened the door of the church. The multitude gave way before his hasty and fierce strides. “Hold!” he exclaimed, in a loud tone of command, “that lady is my betrothed bride, Lady Eleanor, I adjure thee, remember thy vow—break it not for a false traitor!”

All started, and Rupert laid his hand on his sword, “Sir Knight!” he said, sternly—the hot blood rushing up to his pale face—“at another time thou shalt be fully answered, if it so prove thou art worthy of knightly dealing.” And he turned again to the Priest at the altar.

The eyes of the stranger shone like fire beneath the bars of his vizor. “Rupert Merton!” he shouted, in a fierce and loud voice, “let the ceremony be stayed or the sanctuary of the living God shall not protect thee!” “Dastard!” returned Merton, conveying his trembling bride to the hand of his kinsmen, and confronting the intruder “Rupert Merton asks no other protection save his own good sword. If thou hast the spirit of a Knight follow me!”

They strode through the church aisle together, in another moment the quick clash of steel rang sharply in the ears of the horror-stricken assembly, the struggle was short but desperate.—Reckless of his own life each seemed only to seek that of his enemy.—Rupert covered with wounds, reeled forward and grasped the throat of his enemy with that fierce strength which passion lends to the last struggles of existence. His glaring eye blazed wildly open as he passed his sword like lightning through the body of the stranger. It was a fatal blow. Both fell at the same instant; and when the multitude gathered around them they were dead.

“Uhnhel!” the stranger, said the priest, as with a shudder he surveyed the death forms before him. The helmet was unbound; and the haughty and dark features of Robert of Anselm were disclosed, features familiar to many who were present, although settled into the grimness of death. The Knight of Anselm had recovered from his wounds; he had escaped from the captivity of the infidel, and sought his own loved England the home of his betrothed—to die by the hand of Rupert Merton!

“May God deal in mercy with their fierce spirits!” said the priest in a trembling voice. And the people murmured, Amen. The lady Eleanor died in the cell of a Convent, after living for years with a withered heart and a weary spirit—that cold, dull torpor of despair which is broken only by the releasing touch of earth.

THE MOURNER.

“It is very lonely, mother,” murmured a fair haired, lovely girl, as she rested upon the sofa one evening, “it is lonely now, and the nights seem very long. Shall I never see father more?” “Yes my love, you will see him again in a brighter world than this.” “But this is a fair world,” said the little girl, “I love to run and play in the sunshine; and pick the water cresses from the brooks and when the weather is a little warmer, I shall go down and gather the blue-eyed violet that father said was like me.”

“Too like, I fear,” said the mother as the crystal tear trembled on the drooping lid.—“But my dear child, there is a fairer world than this, where flowers never fade, where clouds never hide the light of that glorious sky; for the glory of Him whose name is Love, beams brightly and forever in those golden courts; and the trees which grow on the banks of the river which waters that blessed place, never fade as they do in this world, and when friends meet there, they will be parted no more, but will sing hymns of praises to God and the lamb forever!”

“And shall I go to that happy place when I die? and will you go home with me?” said the little child. “Yes,” said the mother—“we shall both go in God's own time, when he calls us from this life, we shall dwell in his presence.”

“It was a little while, and the mother bent over the grave of this pale flower of intellect, withered by the untimely frost of death.—But was she alone when in twilight shade she sat upon the grassy mound where the deep and yearning hopes of that fond heart were gathered in obvious silence? Oh no. The soft and silvery tones of buried love whispered to the breeze that lifted the drooping flowers o'ercharged with the dewy tears of night. The diamond stars that one by one, came forth upon their shining watch, seemed beaming with the light of that deathless flame, which burned undimmed upon the immortal shrine of her heart; and she enjoyed, in the holy hours of solitude, that communion of pure spirits, which our exalted faith can bestow.”

Beautiful extracts from the address of Mr. PEABODY, at the consecration of the Springfield Cemetery on the 5th inst.—

“When I saw this great audience just now winding up through the glades of the Cemetery to take their places on this ground I was deeply affected with the thought, how soon shall we take our place in the dust below.—With this deep thought upon our minds—with these hills and valleys around us—in presence of these venerable trees and these sparkling waters—with the green earth beneath, and God's own bright sky above us—I need not ask your attention—I need not labour to bring you to solemnity; for I doubt not that voice is now saying in every heart, the place whereon thou staidest is holy ground.”

Reflect how many tenants will soon be here to claim their freehold in the dust below. One fair and gentle child has already come—a fitting herald to take possession in the name of the dead. Here he has laid himself down on a colder pillow than a mother's breast. Many such will be here—morning stars quenched in the brightness of their rising—before they have known the sting and sorrow of life below.

Children in tender years will follow their parents to this place; the domestic circles will be fearfully broken and thenceforth the wide world will be their home. The husband will follow the fond wife of his bosom—the light and consolation of the fire-side, and the wife the husband, on whose strong arm she had hoped to lean—through all her days.

The young, sinking under the slow torture of wasting disease, will flee away and be at rest in this holy ground; the aged after years of labor and sorrow, will depart to this place. The pale marble will raise every where around us; telling of the dead, sometimes what they were, and still oftener what they ought to have been.”

CANINE SACRIFICE.—The Jewelry Store of Messrs. Turner & Cooly, at Utica, took fire in the second story—two lady were sleeping in the Store, and a dog was also there. The latter, on discovering the fire, commenced barking furiously, of which they were conscious, but being in a state of partial suffocation and dreary stupor, had not the power to move until finding barking ineffectual in waking them, the dog sprang upon the bed and commenced pulling the clothes off of them, and pawing and wounding one of them in the breast, which restored him to consciousness in time to see the flames burst through the ceiling over his head, and run crackling along the wall and partition of the room, composed of thin and dry boards, setting fire to their clothes by the bed side, and filling the room and the whole building almost to suffocation with dense smoke; they both sprang simultaneously upon the floor and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before much damage was done and without making an alarm.

CONFECTIONARY, FANCY, MUSIC, JEWELLERY & DRY GOODS.

Thankful for the encouragement they have heretofore received, inform their friends and the public in general, that they have opened at the new stand, corner of Fayetteville and Hargett Streets, a choice assortment of Goods in the above branches, by far larger than formerly kept, and as they always sell at very moderate prices, they hope to merit a continuance of favors.—Part of the new supply consists in:—300 lb fresh Raisins, 25 boxes Candles, Sperm 35 cts, Tallow 20 cts, and the celebrated Hill's patent; Soap, white, yellow, castile, perfumed, &c. Sperm Oil, winter strained best 800 lb Crackers, butter, lemon, ship-brad; best Porter, fine Wines, and French Cordials; Choice 3 sorts; Chewing Tobacco, 25 box Segars, Figs, Prunes, Dates, Filberts, Palm, Wall & Cocoanuts, Almonds, Sweet Oil, Preserves, Brandy Fruit, Oranges, Lemons, Seidlets and Soda Powders, Macaroons, Currants, Citron; 300 lb Candies; Pease's Hound Candy; Chocolate, Peppercorns, Pickles, Lemon Syrup, Nutmegs, Licorice, Cinnamon, Sardines, Anchovies, Bologna Sausages, Smoked Tongues, very best Mustard, Starch, Tea.

PERFUMERY.

Essence, Oil of roses, Maccassar, Bears, Antique Oils, Cologne, Florida and Lavender Waters, Shaving soap, Essences, Opod-lin, pink Saucers and Lilly White, Freckle wash, Bergamot.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, Finest Violins, bows strings, bridges, screws, Fingerboards, Guitars, Flageollets, Pipes, Flutes, Clarionets, Accordions, Brass Trumpets.

BOOKS.

Books, Spanish, French, German and English Grammars and Readers, Almanacs, Geography, Primers, Spelling, Picture and Song Book, Key of Heaven, (Catholic).

Fencing and Boxing Apparatus.

Foils, Swords, Gloves, Masks, Hats, Breastplates.

Fancy Goods, &c.

Painted Glass Mugs, artificial Hair and Flowers, Mohair Caps Ladies Work and Fancy Boxes, Looking-glasses 3 and 4 feet square, Baskets, Snuff-boxes from 5 cts to 4; Combs, shell and other; Clocks, wooden and metal; Walking Canes, finest Razors and shaving utensils, Thermometers, Compasses, Dirk, Pen and Pocket Knives of the finest quality, Pistols, Teeth, Cloth, Hair, Hat and Shavebrushes, Blacking; States, Bells, Fishing Utensils, Coffeemills, Pins, Needles; 6 gross Matchets, Fireworks, Glass 14 x 18 Lamp and Candlesticks, Pipes, Pocketbooks, Night Caps, Powder flasks, Shiketts, Birdbags, Percussion caps, Smoking Pipes, Corkscrews, Whips, Scissors, Necklaces and Beads, Paper, Pens, Quills, Ink and Inkstands, Wafers, Sealing wax, Letterstamp, Pencils, Buttons, Pictures.

GAMES.

Games, as Dominos, Chessmen, Backgammon, Ke-no, Tennis, Cup and Ball, Graces for Ladies, slipping ropes, Tivoli billiard, Rollo.

TOYS.

Toys of every description, as Marbles, Humming Tops, Drums, rattles, Whistles, Mouth Organs, Harps, Trumpets, Magic Lantern, Paintboxes, Magnetic Toys, False Faces, Cannons, Dolls, Malescops, Microscopes, painted Trunks for children, &c. &c.

JEWELLERY.

Fine gold and silver, as well as german silver, viz. Breastpins, Ear-rings, Pencils, Finger-rings, Thimbles, of german silver and pinchbeck. Table and Tea Spoons, Dessert Knives and Forks, Side, Pocket, and others. German silver Combs, Hand Bells, Watchgards, Chains and Keys, Bellducks, Spectacles.

DRY GOODS.

Postaloon stuffs, Vest patterns, Handkerchiefs, Camlet, Jeans, Linen Collars and Bosoms, Stocks, Gloves, Stockings, Irish Linen, Salinett, bleach and unbleached Cottons, Flannel, &c.

In fact the variety of articles is too numerous to mention, all of which will be sold on very reasonable terms for cash. G. W. & C. GRILLEME, Corner of Fayetteville and Hargett Streets.

EXCHANGE.

HARGETT ST. Raleigh, N. C.

HAVING purchased the entire assortment of Liquors heretofore belonging to Cook & Wickes, the Subscriber feels himself authorized in assuring the Public, (in conjunction with his stock on hand) that no establishment in the City affords a more ample supply, or one which will excel either in quality or price, the articles he offers for sale. The following articles comprise a part of his stock:—French Brandy, a superior article; Holland Gin, best quality Jamaica Rum, excellent Irish Whiskey, direct from the Custom House Apple Brandy, old Scotch Whiskey, of good quality Common, Medium, and other Liquors, of every kind Scuppernon Wine, Monongahela Whiskey, Best Rectified do Madeira Wine, recently imported Brown Sherry, do Champagne Wine, mountain brand, and there never was a better article in this market Port Wine, superior Malaga do Lamp Oil, winter strained Double Rectified, best Sugar Common do do do Best Orleans Sugar do Java Coffee, at other qualities Green Hyson Tea, good article Bacon, Lard, Meal, Flour, Potatoes, and in fact every thing in the Grocery line Miller's best Lemon Syrup Best Chewing Tobacco, common do. Smoking do Snuff, in bottles or by retail Hardware, Crockery and Queensware Potter's Ware do Stoughton's Bitters, Pickles, Wingraves (London) best Candles, Segars, Spices, Indigo, Soap, &c. London Porter, Albany Ale Cheese and Crackers, Powder, Lead, Shot, &c. Horse Collars and Harness Ready-made Clothing, and Staple Dry Goods, Together with a general assortment of articles not here enumerated.

The Subscriber has made an arrangement with a gentleman in Norfolk, to supply him regularly twice a week with Fresh Fish, & Fresh Oysters, which will be sent at the time to private dwellings.—All orders filled on Wednesdays and Friday nights—Oysters, and all other articles will be served up at his Exchange, at any hour. His Fish and Oysters, for the supply of families, will be carried to their doors, without any additional charge. The Subscriber intends devoting his entire time to the business, and will be aided by an Assistant, always accommodating. Anxious to deserve public patronage, it will be his endeavor to merit the support of a generous public. His terms are cash, but credit will be extended to those who merit their liabilities with promptitude. O. SUGG, Agent. Nov. 1, 1841.

BERNARD DUPUY, No. 10, FAYETTEVILLE STREET, RALEIGH.

part of WATCHES

Gold independent seconds, duplex, anchor, Lever Watches, a general assortment of Silver do. of every price and quality. JEWELLERY. Gold guards, ring, neck Chains, Seals, Keys Diamond Pins & Rings, Ruby and Emerald do, neck and head Ornaments, rich cameo & mosaic Pins & Ear-rings, gold Pencils, Phibbles, Vinigrettes, Medallions, gold Hearts and Crosses, Jet do. and a great variety of other rich Goods.

SPECTACLES.

Gold, Silver, Blue, and polished steel Spectacles to suit all persons and eyes. Very superior flint glasses, that may be adapted in any frame, at a moment's notice.

SILVER AND PLATED WARES.

Silver Cups, Spoons, Ladles, Sugar Tongs, Salt and Mustard Spoons, Butter Knives, silver mounted Cocoanuts, Castors, Candlesticks, Snuffers and Trays, Waiters, Cake Ladders, Coffee Graces, Britannia Wares, in sets and single pieces, &c. FANCY GOODS. Mantel Clocks, and Lamps, Plated and Japanned Waiters, Gold and Silver Mounted Canes and Whips, Chess men and Backgammon Boards, Visiting Card Cases, Gold and Silver Pencils Cases, Patent Steel Pens, Rogers' superior Pencils, Congress Knives and Scissors, Saddlers' colored razor Straps, Dog Collars, do. Colls silk Purse, Pocket Books, Imitation Fruits, Guns and Pistols, Ladies' Toilet and work boxes, toilet bottles, of HARRISON'S Breast Pins Metals, Canees, and Boxes, &c. &c. PERJUMERY. Fairin's celebrated genuine Cologne, Rose Laven de Florida, and Bay Waters; Guirain's Cream of Soap, Naples, and Sapsacine compound, for Shaving, Rose, Almond, Camphor and Windsor toilet Soap, pearl Powder, Cologne, Pomatum, bear's Oil, hair, tooth and shaving Brushes, and a variety of other articles for the toilet.

MUSIC.

Spanish Guitars, Viols, Clarionets, Flageollets, Flutes, Octave, &c. &c. Lutes & Accordions. Preceptors for all the above. Guitar and Violin strings Extra Violin bows, &c. Clocks and Watches of all descriptions cleaned and repaired in the most accurate superior style Gold and Silver mantel clocks, to order with expedition and punctuality; highest price given for old gold and Silver.

INFANT SCHOOL.—The Infant School under the Superintendency of Mrs. Peat, will re-open on Monday the 17th of January.

TERMINER SESSION.

First Class $10 50 Second Class 8 50 Alphabet Class 6 50 Fuel per Winter Season 5 50 No pupil admitted less than a Season, except at the discretion of the teacher. Visitors admitted to witness the exercises, on Tuesday morning of each week, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

SWEETS for the SWEET!

Come on Macduff, And kick'd be he that first cries hold, enough! [Shakspeare Revisited.]

New & Fresh Arrivals!—S. L. TUCKER has just returned from the North, and is now opening a new and splendid assortment of Groceries, Toys, CONFECTIONARIES, UMBRELLAS, &c. &c. all of which he offers at the lowest Cash prices. It is impossible within the limits of an Advertisement to give a list of all the articles in a large assortment, but a few of the principal ones are subjoined, and the public are assured they will find every thing at his Store that pertains to his immediate line of business, and many rare and curious notions besides. Amongst the assortment are—10 doz superior French Cordials, in China bottles 4 doz Brass Whips Cordials of every kind Vegetable and white Windsor Soap Shell Almonds Beef Tongues Percussion Cane Bone Dog Calls Dried Beef Bologna Sausages 3 doz large Silver Guards 1 doz small do do Porter and every variety of Wines Fine Antique Oil and Octagon Soap Pease's Hoarhound Candy Assorted Fancy Glass Boxes and Dominoes Violins and Silk Purse, Cork Straws, &c. &c. Brass Watches Harmonious Oil Cloth Baskets Dates and Brandy Peaches, Cherries, &c. Macaroui 12 doz Superior German Cologne Water 10 doz. Brass Buckets 2 doz. Brooms Nest Tubs 3 doz Wood Buckets Fresh assortment of Nuts of every variety Macaroy and Scotch Snuff in bladders and bottles Orange & Lemon's, a fine assortment Earthen-ware Cheese, Crackers & Segars of every variety & price Sugars of every quality Old Java Coffee & Starch Chewing Tobacco and very superior Wax Candles Table Salt, Prunes, Preserves and Pickles of every variety; and great many articles too tedious to mention, which I will take great pleasure in showing to any person who may favor me with a call. I also return my thanks to the public for past favors, and hope to merit the same. S. L. TUCKER. September 24. 77

CHEAP GOODS.

J. A. CAMPBELL WISHES to inform his friends and the public, that he has this day, Tuesday, 25th January, made very heavy reductions in the price of every article of Goods in store. He is making preparations for the Spring trade, and anxious to reduce his present stock of Dry Goods as low as possible, before the new arrivals come to hand; he has marked the prices down at once to such rates as must ensure the desired object. The cheap days will continue for a few weeks only, and during that time, he would be pleased to furnish his customers, and the public generally, with Rich and desirable Goods. To give some idea of the extent of the reductions, a few articles and prices are enumerated—

SILKS.

A large lot of beautiful Chees, sold at $1 60, and now offered at $1 25. A few pieces of Rich Satin figured Peak, sold at $1 35 to $1. Mazarine blue, figured, plain and figured, at 60 and 75 cents. Figured and striped blue blacks and Peckin Repts at 90 cts and $1 00. Black Italian Levelling, at 60 to 80 cts.

MOULINE DE LAINES.

A large quantity of very excellent Mousline de laine are reduced to 25 and 30 cts per yard. All the 50, 60 and 65 cts Goods, comprising many beautiful patterns, are all offered at 40 cts per yard. The rich Paris Wool de Laines, only 50 cents. Rich embroidered, reduced to $1 per yard.

CALICOES.

A large lot of Domestic Calicoes are offered at from 6 1/2 to 10 and 12 1/2 cents per yard. The finer qualities reduced from 20 and 25 cents, to 15, 17 1/2 and 20 cts. The whole of the English Prints to 15 and 20 cts. Furniture Chintz equally low.

BROAD CLOTHS AND CASSIMERES.

A large assortment of all the different shades, colors and qualities, will be sold at much lower prices than any thing ever offered in this market before.

Merinos and Flannels unusually cheap.

Linen Goods of all kinds remarkably low.

Hosiery, in Cotton, Silk and Worsted, very cheap.

Blankets of the best description have been greatly reduced, and are well worthy the attention of housekeepers.

Quilts & Counterpanes, great bargains.

Bleached and brown Cotton Goods, Apron Checks, Muslins, &c &c all offered at prices much below their value.

NEW FIRM AT OUR HOUSE.—The subscribers would respectfully beg leave to inform their friends and the public generally, that they have just opened at the Store formerly occupied by J. D. Royster, next door to Williams & Graywood, a general assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, where they would be happy to see their friends at all times. Intending to sell at a small profit, they deem it necessary to state that they ask but one price for their Groceries, from which they will not deviate. They have also refitted the bar, and furnished it with the very best of Liquors, where gentlemen can be accommodated with hot and cold drinks, of every kind, and at all times. Lovers of OYSTERS, may always find the very best article at “OUR HOUSE.”

JAMES H. LOVE, CALVIN BETTS, Raleigh, Jan. 8, 1842.

Look out for a full-grown Loafer.

A fellow, who calls himself JOHN BOZE, a Baker by trade, left the People's House in this City, without paying his board or letting the Proprietors know of his intention to leave. He is about six feet high and weighs 170 or 180 pounds—had on when he abandoned, a blue home-spun coat with a velvet collar, cassimeres pantalons and wore a dirty red silk handkerchief about his neck. He is much addicted to the use of obscene and profane language, says on it necessary to state in the press, altogether, the personification of a full-grown Loafer. All we can say to Inn-keepers is, to beware of said BOZE—he is a notorious eater, and settles his bills by taking “French leave.”

ZIEGENFUS & UFCHURCH.

N. B. Whenever Mr. Boze pays his bill, the proprietors will make ample acknowledgments for this step, which they are determined to take towards all who serve them in this way. Z. & U.

JOB PRINTING.

EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE, With great neatness and despatch.

NEW GOODS.

JOHN T. WEST, Fayetteville Street next Store to the CITY HOTEL, has just received from New York, his winter supply of Dry Goods Shoes, Hardware, Groceries, &c. &c.

SILKS, watered, plaid, striped, figured, embroidered, changeable, and plain. Mouslin de Laines, plain and figured, Merinos, French & English, Bombazines, Alpaccas, American, French and English Calicoes, Plaid & striped Muslins, Swiss, Mull & Cambric do. Ribbons, Artificial Flowers, Homestead Handkerchiefs, Linen and Cotton Laces, Scarfs and Handkerchiefs, Thread and Cotton Laces. Lace and Linens. Sewing and Edging. Stockings, Sewing Silks, Spool Cotton, Flat Thread Needles, Pins, Scissors, &c. &c. Pongee of various colors. Bleached and Unbleached Domestic, Apron Checks, Woolen Shawls, Kentucky Jeans, Negro Cloths. Programs from 40 cts. to $1 25 per pair, &c.

Ready-made Shirts.

Ready-made Shirts, Ready-made Bosoms, Ready-made Collars, Satin and Bombazine Stocks, Suspenders, Gloves, Silk Pocket Handkerchiefs, &c. &c.

SPUN COTTON, from the most approved factory.

TEAS—Green and Black.

COFFEE—Java and other kinds. SUGAR—Loaf, Lump, and Brown—Ground Ginger, Pepper, Spein Candles, Palm Soap, Starch, Tobacco, Mrs. Miller's best Scotch Snuff, in bottles and bladders, &c. &c.

PRINCIPLE SEGARS, in quarter boxes.

Principally Truly the genuine article, Imported by Holt & Owen, New York. Raleigh, N. C. Nov. 23, 1841.

RALEIGH INSTITUTE BAPTIST GROVE.

THE next Session of this establishment will commence on the first Monday in January.

TERMS AS FOLLOWS: For Classical Students, $20 00 For English do 15 00 No Pupil received for less than one Session of five months. If withdrawn before its expiration, payment to be made for the full time. Half the Session to be paid for in advance, and the balance at the end of three months. The School Building is now undergoing such suitable repairs and additions as comfort and convenience demand.

ROBERT GRAY, Principal. Raleigh, Dec. 21, 1841.

TO DYSPEPTICS.—Among the number of distinguished gentlemen who have, from personal experience, expressed themselves in terms of commendation of the effects of Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills, Mr. VAN BUREN, late President of the United States, has, upon request, permitted the Proprietor to say, that having been presented by him some years since with a box of his Pills, was induced to take them as a remedy for disordered stomach, that he has given them a fair trial, and is well satisfied, that they have contributed greatly to the perfect re-establishment of his health. These Pills may be had in any quantities, and upon liberal terms, on application to Dr. JOHN BECKWITH, at Raleigh, N. C., by whom alone they are prepared.

January 4, 1842.

A NEW CONCERN.—JOSEPH J. BIGGS.

(Successor to Oliver & Smith.) MERCHANT TAILOR.—The undersigned would respectfully inform the citizens of Raleigh, the public generally, and particularly the friends and patrons of OLIVER & SMITH, that he has bought out the entire interest of said firm, taken the stand occupied by them, and intends carrying on the business in all its various branches as heretofore. He has engaged the services of Mr. OLIVER, and those heretofore patronizing the establishment may rest assured that no expense or pains will be spared to please. My stock consists of every thing desirable or fashionable and I will keep constantly on hand a supply of the best goods the Northern markets afford.

JOS. J. BIGGS. January 5, 1842.

NEW GOODS.

GERST & LISBERGER have just received from the Northern cities, a large assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods—Ready-made Clothing of every description—together with an unusually large supply of Handkerchiefs, Hosiery, Gloves, Suspender, Bosoms, Collars, &c. The citizens of Raleigh, and persons from the country, will find it to their interest to give us a call, as we are determined to sell at the most reduced prices for Cash.

Raleigh, December 20, 1841. 103—1m

NOTICE.—G. V. RAMBAUT respectfully informs his friends, and the public generally, that he has associated with him, in the Tobacco business, Dr. E. R. ROBINSON; and the business will be conducted hereafter under the firm of RAMBAUT & ROBINSON, at the old stand, on the Long Wharf, where he would be pleased to see his former patrons and customers, and particularly his old well tried Market Square friends.

G. V. RAMBAUT. E. R. ROBINSON. January 1, 1842. 5 2w

ATTENTION!

Commissioned Officers of the 25th Regiment N. C. Militia.—You are hereby required in obedience to an order of the Brigadier General, to appear at your usual parade ground in the City of Raleigh at 11 o'clock on the 29th inst. for the purpose of electing an officer to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Major Gen. M. T. Hawkins of the 7th division, N. C. Militia.

By order of the Col. Comd. G. H. WILDER, Adjutant.

Jan 17, 1842. Standard.</