MISCELLANEOUS.

THE WRECK OF A GENIUS.

How does my boy! Art cold I am cold myself. Where is this straw my fellow! The art of our necessities is strange.

Poor McDonald Clarke, known in this city for nearly twenty-five years past as the mad poet, was found in the street one day last week bare headed, like another Lear, in a state of raving madness.

You never perceive the least evidence of ill-temper, or a cruel disposition, on the part of Clarke. On the contrary, his bosom has appeared the abode of great natural kindness and good feeling. True, he has been wandering up and down our streets, solitary and alone among the million, with an apparent cloud upon his brow, and always averting his eye even from those he knew—not as though he disliked them, but as though he was apprehensive that they might prefer not to receive his recognition.

When Byron was in the hey-day of his career, Clarke was among the most ardent of his admirers, and, as he supposed, of his imitators. He conceived that their minds had been cast in the same mould—and not knowing that he was crazy, he supposed that his own moodiness was necessarily like that of Byron.

He was at that time exceedingly poor—so poor, that at times he had not a place to lay his head, or a crust to appease his hunger. He then slept wherever he could find a covering; and he has told us, as the tears gathered in his eyes, that his wife, living upon her slender wages, would stealthily supply him such food as she could, by taking from the table a potatoe and a crust of bread, and wrapping them in her handkerchief, meet him at some appointed corner in the evening, when unperceived he could eat from her hand the scanty fare she could thus supply.

We could relate some amusing anecdotes of poor Clarke. One of those we could from the unwritten records of memory. It was about the year 1829, that in the course of one of the late Mr. John Lang's short controversies with the Commercial, he offended Clarke to whose brains he applied the term zig zag. Clarke's feelings were really wounded by the attack and he came to beg permission to reply.

"I can tell Johnny Lang, in the way of a laugh, since he's dragged my name into his pen and ink brawl."

A Tall Proprietor.—Stephen the traveler mentions in his work on Central America, a Planter who owns 200,000 acres of land—ten thousand head of cattle—one thousand mules and mules—700 horses—four volcanoes—7 large rivers—and 800 boiling springs.

An affectionate Son.

A day or two since, a man, pretty respectably rigged in the way of apparel, was seen leaning against a wall in the neighborhood of Pratt street wharf, in a very decided state of alcoholic intoxication. A crowd soon collected around, and in a brief space of time a young man stepped up and claimed to be his son. He expressed a vast amount of shame or account of his father's public exposure in the condition of a very insensible inebriate, and kindly took charge of his pocket book, lest its contents should be lost.

The Drummer Boy of Lund's Lane.

Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott, while on the frontier during the border difficulties, at a complimentary dinner given him by the citizens of Cleveland, related the following characteristic anecdote that occurred during the battle of Lund's Lane, in the last war.—In the very midst of the battle, his attention was arrested by observing at a little distance, where a whole company of riflemen had just been cut down by the terrible fire of the enemy, three drummer boys quarrelling for a single drum, all that was left to them. Soon the two stronger ones went to fist-cuffs while the third quietly folded his arms, awaiting the issue of the contest.

The age of Superstition not passed.

A lady arrived in Exeter last Monday week, bringing a female servant with her.—On the day after her arrival, the latter broke a looking glass. She became greatly alarmed at the trifling circumstance, covered over the glass with a handkerchief, and turned it to the wall that she might not see it. She expressed her conviction that it foreboded a life of trouble and misfortune, and could not dismiss the subject from her mind. She said "she should never prosper in the world again."

Michigan.—The Legislature of this State has passed an exemption bill in favor of debtors—and a tolerably sweeping one it is. It exempts household furniture to the amount of $250—two cows—five pigs—ten sheep—a yoke of oxen, with chains, &c., or a span of horses, &c.—a horse and dray—all necessary farming utensils—a library worth $150—schools, six months provisions, &c. In short, leaving the debtor comfortably situated and sweeping away from the creditor, in many cases, pretty much all on which he could rely for the collection of his demand.

Dr. Morr, of New York, has come out in favor of the use of Tobacco; he says it is a preventive, or perhaps a cure of Laryngeal Phthisis and Bronchitis.

Dr. Morr, of New York, has come out in favor of the use of Tobacco; he says it is a preventive, or perhaps a cure of Laryngeal Phthisis and Bronchitis. If that is the case, there will be less difficulty in answering the question why the clergymen fifty years since were not troubled with bronchial complaints as much as they now are, as we believe in the old time, few clergymen neglected the need in all in all its forms, and a pipe some two feet long was almost as necessary in clerical dignity as was a large white wig, a cocked hat, or a canot but tempora mutatur, and pipe, cocked hat, cane, and wig have gone.—U. THE Subscriber has now on hand at his finishing Ware Rooms, just in the rear of Messrs. Turner & Hughes' Book Store, a general assortment of Articles in his line, made in the most faithful manner, after the newest and most fashionable patterns, and which will be warranted. They will be sold at such prices, as to leave no excuse for sending to the North for Furniture. Call and look before you send from home. WILLIAM THOMPSON, Raleigh, April 4, 1842.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH, AND ITS VICINITY—FOR SALE.

THE subscribers, as Executors of the last Will and Testament of JOSEPH GALE, deceased, will expose to public sale at the Court House, in the City of Raleigh, on Saturday, the 23d day of April ensuing, the following described property, viz:

The Dwelling House and Lot in the City of Raleigh, situate on Fayetteville street, nearly opposite the residence of William H. Haywood, Jr. Esq. and formerly occupied by James McGuffie. The House is a two story one, with eight rooms, six of which have fire-places, and the lot has on it all requisite out-buildings.

An unimproved acre lot, described in the plan of the City of Raleigh as No. 98, but better known as Gale's Spring Lot—on which there is one of the purest and most copious springs of water in the county.

A number of vacant building Lots, just without the Corporation limits, near the premises of Charles Manly, Esq. containing from a quarter to half an acre and offering convenient settlements for persons of limited means.

Twenty-two acres of unenclosed Land, adjoining the City on the East, the Stone Quarry being the extreme boundary. The land is said to be of good quality, and has, probably, timber enough on it to fence it around; though its proximity to the Quarry will render a rock fence nearly or quite as cheap as a rail one.

A very valuable tract of land, nine miles west of Raleigh, containing upwards of eighteen hundred acres. To suit purchasers, this tract will be divided into lots of three or four hundred acres each. This body of land lies on the waters of Swift and Williams creeks, in as high and healthy a region as there is in North Carolina, and offers a fine location for invalids of the low country, who may desire summer residences in this part of the State.

Three hundred acres only have been cleared—the balance lies in its natural state, covered with a luxuriant growth of walnut, hickory, oak and pine. There is on the premises, a frame dwelling house, and all necessary out-buildings; an excellent orchard, and fine meadow. A portion of the tract is rich bottom land, and the residue strong high land which produces well. The range for stock is also excellent.

Three hundred acres of pine land, adjoining the last named tract.

Thirty-five acres of land, about three miles North of the Paper-mill, on the waters of Mine creek, formerly belonging to Nathan Harshfield.

Nineteen acres of land, adjoining the last described tract.

The whole of the above will be sold without reserve, to the highest bidder. The conditions of the sale will be Six and Twelve months credit, the purchaser giving bonds with security, to be approved of by the Executors.

"DISEASE A UNIT Impurity of the BLOOD the only Disease."

HOW simple, yet how wise, how good and beautiful are all the laws of nature! Simplicity and truth are stamped upon every law of the creation.—The mighty works which roll in space in every degree of velocity and direction are all governed by attraction of matter to matter. This principle governs the human body. Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills, attract all impurities of the blood to the bowels, which organ expels them from the body. Attraction and disease are both unita. All accidents or infections only affect the body in proportion as they occasion impurity of the blood.

The bowels for instance any constipation, this most important organ is closed—the consequence is a great accumulation of impurities, which, as they cannot get out by their usual passage, are forced into the blood, occasioning impurity of blood. This Fever, Cholic, Rheumatism, Gout, and Colic are often produced. But let Brandreth's Pills be used in such doses as will effectually evacuate the bowels, and health is restored at once.

The unworthy have counterfeited the Doctor's Medicine so extensively, that his travelling Agent is now taking in all the old boxes, and putting new ones of a different figure, with 25 Pills in their place. Some are not necessary at WILLIAM PECK'S DRUG STORE, Raleigh, March 1, 1842. 18-17

WHEATON'S UNIVERSAL PILL.

THESE Pills have been more than eight years before the Public, and their great superiority to the cathartics claimed for them, clearly ascertained and tested by a great number of persons, who intelligent to be deceived, and too deeply interested in the results not to observe with care, and judge with favor. Experience has not weakened their pretensions, but strengthened and confirmed them by a mass of testimony of such respectable character as has never sustained any article in this form in any country.

The original design was to relieve Dyspepsia, and those functional derangements upon which it constantly depends. They were however found, by preserving the stomach and bowels in a healthy state of action, to lead greatly to ward off those "bilious attacks" to which many are liable, but not in a single instance, in the common signification of the term. Those, therefore, who expect in them, an active purgative (though to many they are such,) may have been disappointed; yet few instances of failure have been ascertained among those who have faithfully employed the article according to the design, where relief might reasonably have been expected.

In addition to the habitual dyspeptic, those who from custom or from necessity, are in the habit of business, take their meals hastily, find in the use of these Pills great protection, or relief, from consequent occasional attacks of indigestion; and, indeed, all whole habits or pursuits are salutary, may take them with safety and benefit.

The chief objection urged against them is, that they encourage indolence in the pleasures of the table by the immunity they give from the painful effects of excess. That the public may feel assured that no imposition is attempted to be practised upon them, the Proprietor has obtained permission to refer to the following gentlemen, (among many others) who, from personal experience of the efficacy of these Pills, are willing to recommend them to their friends, viz:—

Me Van Buren, late President of the U. States, Hon. George E. Badger, Esq. L. D., late Sec. Navy, Rt. Rev. L. S. Ives, D. D., Bishop of North Carolina, Hon. James Iredell, late U. S.
