MURDER IN PHILADELPHIA.

FULL AND ACCURATE PARTICULARS.

A most dreadful murder was perpetrated in Philadelphia about 6 o'clock, on Wednesday morning, the 28th ult. It seems that a young man of about 21 years of age, arrived in that City, on the cars, at 5 o'clock in the morning, by way of Baltimore, and registered his name at the Franklin House (Sanderson's) as "A. Smith, Ky." but whose real name has since been ascertained to be Milton J. Alexander, of Berkeley, Cumberland Co. Kentucky. Soon after arriving at the Hotel, he called for some peach brandy, on being told that the bar was closed, asked for some port wine, which was given him, and he drank it off. He then told the porter to take care of his baggage, and walked out.

The dreadful tragedy he then enacted, is thus described by the Philadelphia Spirit of the Times:

He proceeded from Sanderson's to Third-st. and entered the office of Mr. Noah Lougee, No. 37, just above Chesnut street. Here he offered some Missouri paper to be exchanged. A dispute arose as to its character. He maintained that it was genuine. Mr. L. insisted that it was counterfeit, and hinted some suspicions as to his (Mr. Alexander's) integrity. The lie given by Mr. Lougee, and A. drawing a dirk from his vest instantly, stretching across the counter, plunged it to the hilt in the bosom of Mr. Lougee, just above the left nipple. It entered between the third and fourth ribs, and penetrated the left auricle of his heart. The wounded man ran round his counter in pursuit of the assassin, holding his hand over the wound, crying murder, and moaning as if in great agony, until he reached the pavement. He then attempted to return, and was met by Wm. Bloom, who attracted by the groans, enquired what was the matter. Mr. Lougee was unable to reply, but walked back into his office, went behind his counter, staggered with his breast against the end of the counter near the door, and then fell back wards with his head under the desk, striking the latter as he fell. Several doctors immediately repaired to the spot, but Mr. Lougee had expired about seven minutes from the time he was stricken, and their services were useless. The deceased was insensible and died without uttering a word.

The murderer ran the moment he discovered the dreadful effects of the blow he had given. He ran down Third to Chesnut St. A porter, who was standing on the side of Third street, opposite Mr. Lougee's office, seeing Alexander run, cried "stop thief!" At that moment a young man named Teese, had his attention attracted by the cry, and looking up he perceived the murderer rushing by, crying himself to avoid detection, "stop thief!" most vociferously. Teese pursued him. The murderer ran down Chesnut St., throwing his dirk as he passed, into a pile of mortar on the side of the street. He continued down Chesnut St. to Second, where his hat blew off. He did not stop to pick it up, but proceeded on through one or two streets and alleys, and finally entered the open door of a store, and ran up to the head of the 3d story stairs, where he was arrested by Teese, and several others in pursuit.

The deceased was 48 years of age—had a wife and four daughters, the eldest about 17 and the youngest about ten years of age. He had been a broker originally in Cincinnati, as well as Louisville. He was one of those who had his office robbed during the notorious 'riots' in that city. He was indefatigable, shrewd and industrious—kept his office open late in the evening, and opened at an unusually early hour in the morning. Hence this calamitous event.

The murderer, when caught, quietly yielded himself to his captors. He seemed much agitated but made no resistance. To Mr. Teese, who did not know what deed had been committed, he said: "Yes I will go with you—he gave me the lie, and I plunged it into him." He was taken to the police office and delivered to the night-watchman who locked the prisoner up in a cell.

At 7 o'clock, A. M. several officers of the night watch, visited the prisoner. They searched him, and found on his person the scabbard of the dirk, ten dollars in gold, and $7.50 in silver, and some papers. The latter he snatched from the officer's hand and destroyed, declaring that nobody should see them. The papers appeared to be bills and letters. He gave his name here as John Smith. He now asked if Mr. Lougee was dead, and being assured of it, exhibited much fright, expressed the deepest contrition for his guilt, and lamented in tears the consequences. When questioned particularly, he said that he had good connections—his people had always done right by him—that no one should know who he was—thats he would not disgrace his parents." He first said that his friends lived in Missouri. Afterwards he acknowledged that they lived in Kentucky.

In reply to one of the officers he said:— "I'll tell you all. I was a love scrape altogether. I had a falling out with my people. The girl that I was courting refused to have me. Riches was all that was wanting. I left home determined to get wealth at all hazards, even if I had to kill some person to obtain it. I went into the broker's office. We had an argument. The lie passed. In an instant I struck him with a dagger. The alarm was raised so quick, I hadn't time to take any money, but ran. I was caught, and here I am in the worst fix I was ever in, in my life."

At 11 o'clock A. M. the prisoner was brought before the Mayor, and after the examination of several witnesses, was fully committed to take his trial for murder in the first degree. The office was thronged to suffocation by a dense mass of human beings, also the pavement and steps every where adjacent. The prisoner seated himself behind his counsel, where he sat during his examination perfectly composed. Every one in the office appeared struck with his youthful, interesting, ingenuous countenance and deportment.

P. S. We have just been informed that Alexander is known to several business gentlemen in Market street, with whom his father has been in the habit of dealing largely once or twice a year. His family is one of the first standing, very numerous and originally from Virginia.

ABOUT MARRIAGE.

We suspect that the old bachelor has got back to the editorial chair of the Boston Transcript, (we hope he has; may there be perpetuity to his humor, and restoration hang its medicine on every prescription for his complaint,) for the following outbreak, worse than Governor Dorr's, in Rhode Island, appeared in that paper a short time since:

1. One man marries a woman because she looks well when she dances—she never dances afterwards.
2. Another marries because the lady has a handsome foot and ankle, which, after marriage, he never takes the trouble to admire.
3. A third marries for love, which wanes with the honeymoon moon.
4. A fourth marries for money, and finds that his wife does not choose to die, to complete his satisfaction.
5. And a fifth, being old in wisdom, as in years, marries a young woman, who soon becomes a suitable match for him, by growing old with grief.

We are bound, in honor, to answer seriatim the above assaults.

1. If a man does marry a woman because she dances well—if the goddess is known by her gait—does it follow that he has no other use for the goddess, than to keep her promiscuous from north till noon, from noon till dewy eve?

2. If a 'handsome foot,' denotes the lady—(Dr. Chapman declared in our presence, that the likeness of William Penn had 'an ungenuinely leg')—well, if a 'handsome foot' is the exponent of a finished form, does it follow that a man must always keep his eye on the foot. It is classical and denotes a refinement of taste, a practical knowledge of anatomy, and, perhaps, of physiology, to judge ex pede.

These two modes of choosing, which the old bachelor condemns, denotes a judgment; and we suspect that, like that exercised by physicians in their attention to diagnoses, most frequently tend to favorable results. It is admitted that an unpractised eye is not to be trusted in these matters.

3. 'A third marries for love, which wanes with the honeymoon moon.' That's a real old bachelor's assertion. No affection ever waned that was reciprocal. Boys and girls sometimes marry, just about for the same reason that a portion of the lads of our city smoke cigars, not for love, or necessity, but because marriage and smoking (what a juxtaposition!) belong to maturer years, and the cigar and the affection go out together, but the honey of affection, which is sincere, (that is a pun,) till moons shall wane and wane no more."

4. 'Another marries for money &c. Very well. Suppose a man, with becoming prudence, marries a woman with, and for money, does it follow that because a woman is rich, she cannot be a good wife? or that the exercise of affections, aided by the enjoyment of her means, will not create in her husband a feeling of respect and regard, that equals, if it does not become, affection? Let us do justice to all. We have seen a great many marriages formed, as is stated, for money, and on the whole, we have found them about as productive of rational happiness as any other. If a man is brute enough to misuse, or neglect a wife, whose money he enjoys, he would treat her worse if she had no money.

5. A 'fifth being old,' &c. Very well.—The ladies will tell you that it is better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave. We would not advocate an unequal yoke, but the affectionate respect of some wives for a husband older than themselves, has won for the family circle a regard which entire equality of age has not always secured. And the lovely dependence of the wife upon the mature judgment of the husband, has made men happy, and more respectful of her situation, than she could have caused it to be by any attempt at exhibiting independence or superiority.

Worms—Worms—Worms!
Sherman's Worm Lozenges, proved in more than 400,000 cases to be infallible; the only certain worm-destroying medicines ever discovered. Many diseases arise from worms and occasion long and intense suffering and even death, without their ever being suspected; grown persons are very often afflicted with them and are doctored for various complaints, without any benefit; where one dose of these Lozenges would speedily cure them.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.—The next session of this Institution will commence on the 1st day of October, and terminate on the 4th of July following. The Schools of the University, with their respective Professors, are:
1. Ancient Languages.—Dr. Gessner Harrison.
2. Modern Languages.—Dr. Charles Kratit.
3. Mathematics.—Mr. Edward H. Courtenay.
4. Natural Philosophy.—Mr. Wm B. Rogers.
5. Civil Engineering.—the subjects of which are divided between the Professors of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy.
6. Chemistry and Materia Medica.—Dr. John P. Emmet.
7. Medicine.—Dr. Henry Howard.
8. Anatomy and Surgery.—Dr. James L. Cabell.
9. Moral Philosophy.—Mr. George Tucker.
10. Law.—Judge Henry St. Geo. Tucker.

In both Schools of Languages are also taught the literature of the respective languages, and Ancient and Modern History; in the School of Mathematics is included mixed Mathematics; in that of Engineering, Mineralogy and Geology; in that of Moral Philosophy, Belles Lettres, Logic and Political Economy; in that of Law, besides Municipal Law in all its branches, the Law of Nature and Nations, the Science of Government and Constitutional Law.
To be admitted into this institution the applicant must be at least 16 years of age; but the Faculty may dispense with this regulation in favor of one whose brother is a student.
Every student is free to attend the schools of his choice; but if he be under twenty-one years of age, he shall attend at least three, unless authorised by his parent or guardian, in writing, or by the Faculty, for good cause, to attend a less number.
All students under the age of twenty-one years are required to board within the precincts.
By a resolution of the Faculty, Ministers of the Gospel, and young men preparing for the Ministry, may attend any of the schools of the University without the payment of fees to the Professors.
The enactments which lately required students to wear a prescribed uniform have been suspended.
Every student resident within the precincts must, on matriculation, deposit with the Patron all the money, bills, drafts, &c., under his control, intended to defray his expenses while at the University, or on his return thence to his home; and the amount so deposited must be sufficient to pay his fees to professors, dormitory rent, for use of the public rooms, three months board, a contingent fee to cover fines and assessments, and to purchase the text books, &c., he may want at the commencement. All funds subsequently received by him must be deposited with the Patron, who has charge of his disbursements; and upon all deposits a charge of two per centum commission is authorised.
The act of the Legislature, prohibiting merchants and others, under severe penalties, from crediting students, will be strictly enforced. The licence to contract debts, which the Chairman of the Faculty is authorised to grant, is confined (except where the parent or guardian shall otherwise, in writing request,) to cases of urgent necessity; and these, it is hoped, that parents and guardians will, as far as possible, prevent from arising, by the timely supply of the requisite funds.
Religious services are performed at the University every Sunday by the Chaplain, who is appointed in turn from the four principal denominations of the State.
The expenses of the Session of nine months are as follows:
Board, washing, lodging and attendance, $110
Rent of Dormitory, $16; for half, if occupied by two, 8
Use of public rooms and matriculation fee, 15
Fuel and candles, estimated at, 20
Fees, if only one Professor be attended, $50; if two, to each Professor $30; if more than two, to each $25, say 75
Total, exclusive of clothes, books and pocket money, $228
In the School of Law there is an extra fee of $20, payable by students attending the senior class.
The allowance for clothes is limited by the enactments to $100, and for pocket money to $45.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA—MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.—The Plan of instruction in this department of the University, presents peculiarities to be found in no other School of Medicine in the Union. The Lectures commence on the first of October, and terminate on the 4th of July ensuing.
Owing to the length of the Session, which embraces a period of nine months, three Professors are enabled to perform all the duties which in other medical institutions are usually assigned to six; and the students are seldom required to attend more than two lectures on the same day. By this arrangement, the students have an opportunity of being well grounded in Anatomy, Physiology, and other elementary branches of Medical Science, before they investigate their applications in connection with the study of the practice of Medicine and Surgery.
Immediately before each lecture, the students are subjected to a full and rigid examination on the preceding lecture, or on portions of approved text books. It is apparent, that the plan of which the outlines have been briefly stated, is one which allows the student to commence as well as to complete his medical studies in the institution; and presents a happy combination of the advantages of the system of instruction by private pupils and that of public lectures.
Any person of approved moral conduct may offer as a candidate, and receive the degree of M. D., without reference to the time he has been engaged in the study of medicine, or of joining the school, provided he undergoes in a satisfactory manner the various examinations prescribed by the enactments.
The Professors are:
John P. Emmet, M. D., Professor of Chemistry, Pharmacy and Materia Medica.
Henry Howard, M. D., Professor of Pathology and Practice of Medicine, Obstetrics and Medical Jurisprudence.
James L. Cabell, M. D., Professor of Anatomy, Physiology and Surgery.
WILLIS H. WOODLEY, Proctor.
July 22. 59—3w.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND—MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.—The Regular Annual Course of Lectures in this Institution, will commence on the 31st of October, and continue four months. The Preliminary Course of Lectures, to which Students are admitted without additional charge, will commence on the first Monday in September. These Lectures are wholly independent of the Regular Course, which is complete in itself. The term will be considered entire to all who enter before the 10th of November.
NATHANIEL POTTER, M. D., Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine.
RICHARD WILKINSON HALL, M. D., Professor of Medical Jurisprudence and Obstetrics.
WILLIAM A. ALKIN, M. D., Professor of Chemistry and Pharmacy.
NATHAN R. SMITH, M. D., Professor of Surgery.
SAMUEL CHEW, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica, Therapeutics and Hygiene.
JOSEPH ROSE, M. D., Professor of Special and General Anatomy.

Have you a Cough? Don't neglect it!
Sherman's Cough Lozenges. Are the most pleasant, most pure and most effective remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumptions, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Tightness of the Lungs or Chest, &c. &c. The pro-prior has never known an instance where they did not give perfect satisfaction. Several thousand boxes have been sold with the last year; restoring to health persons in almost every stage of consumption, and those laboring under the most distressing colds and coughs. They do not check and dry up the cough, but render it easy, promote expectoration, allay the tickling or irritation, and remove the phlegm or exciting cause. They are made from a com- bination of the most valuable expectorant, or cough medicines, and are undoubtedly superior to everything in use for those complaints. Hundreds upon hun- dreds of certificates have been offered of their won- derful virtues, from those who have been saved from an untimely grave, and restored to perfect health, by using them.

The above Medicine may be obtained at the Drug Store of Messrs. Williams & Haywood, and of Dr. N. L. Smith, with full directions accompanying each box.
$20 REWARD.—Runaway from the Subscribers, on Saturday night last, the Negro man AARON, about 25 years of age. He carried away with him his working clothes, a new Straw Hat, a Fur cap, considerably worn, a new striped Jacket and Dark Pantaloons, a fine Shirt-bosom, &c. &c. &c. &c. Said Negro has procured free papers, and as he is a sensible, smart fellow, may attempt to make his way as a free man. He has relations in Petersburg and Cumberland, and it is possible, he may be lying about in one of those Counties.
I will give the above Reward for his apprehension and delivery, if taken up at Wake County, or Ten Dollars, if caught within its limits. Any information on the subject, can be addressed to the Editor of the Register.

The Petersburg Intelligencer and Wilmington Chronicle will insert the above 4 times and charge this Office.

Have you a Cough? Don't neglect it!
Sherman's Cough Lozenges. Are the most pleasant, most pure and most effective remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumptions, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Tightness of the Lungs or Chest, &c. &c. The pro-prior has never known an instance where they did not give perfect satisfaction. Several thousand boxes have been sold with the last year; restoring to health persons in almost every stage of consumption, and those laboring under the most distressing colds and coughs. They do not check and dry up the cough, but render it easy, promote expectoration, allay the tickling or irritation, and remove the phlegm or exciting cause. They are made from a com- bination of the most valuable expectorant, or cough medicines, and are undoubtedly superior to everything in use for those complaints. Hundreds upon hun- dreds of certificates have been offered of their won- derful virtues, from those who have been saved from an untimely grave, and restored to perfect health, by using them.

The above Medicine may be obtained at the Drug Store of Messrs. Williams & Haywood, and of Dr. N. L. Smith, with full directions accompanying each box.
$20 REWARD.—Runaway from the Subscribers, on Saturday night last, the Negro man AARON, about 25 years of age. Said negro is about 5 feet 7 inches high, not very thick, nor of the blackest complexion of negroes, and without marks, so far as I know. He carried away with him his working clothes, a new Straw Hat, a Fur cap, considerably worn, a new striped Jacket and Dark Pantaloons, a fine Shirt-bosom, &c. &c. &c. &c. Said Negro has procured free papers, and as he is a sensible, smart fellow, may attempt to make his way as a free man. He has relations in Petersburg and Cumberland, and it is possible, he may be lying about in one of those Counties.
I will give the above Reward for his apprehension and delivery, if taken up at Wake County, or Ten Dollars, if caught within its limits. Any information on the subject, can be addressed to the Editor of the Register.
