HUMOR IN THE ARMY AND NAVY.

Captain Harry P--just after the last war broke out was in command of the garrifine talents, but unfortunately addicted a pressed gratis. little too much to the bottle, and the consequence was that evil reports reached the head quarters of the general communding on the frontiers, who we believe was the late spatch an aid de camp to enquire into the matter. When he reached the garrison, he had occular demonstration of the fact, for the Captain was pretty well ' toddied.' The aid de camp said nothing about the cause of his arrival till after dinner, when being alone with the Captain he broke the ice,' and related the reason of his visit.

. 'Tis an unfortunate truth,' said the captain. ' I admit it.'

What, captain, that you do get regularly drunk ?

'Yes, the report is true.' " My dear sir, why is it ?"

'To tell you the truth, I'm stationed here with a stupid set, that, in my own defence, I have to get dunk to graduate my intellect down to their capacity." The captain was who wish to be secure from sickness. not court martialed.

An Extraordinary Sign .- The Portland Tribune tells the following droll joke of the Millerites:

'It is well known that the planet Venus can be seen with the naked eye. It was espied by the Millerites a few days since, who assembled with spy glasses to see if they could discover other stars in the Heavens. One old lady in looking through the glass, canted it a little too much, and gaping with amazement exclaimed: What do I see! as true as I am a living soul, J. P. Baker,' in large letters printed in the skies! Truly he is a holy man?' The glass had been brought so low, that the zealous old lady had been reading an extended sign in

A YANKEE IN MEXICO .- Mr. Kendall of the Picayune, found a curious character sttached to an American circus company in Mexico. "Chipman, for that was the same of the Yankee, was one of the quaintest specimens of the race I have ever seen, and I have encountered not a few samples. Ilc told an excellent story, played the trombone, triangle and bass viol, spoke Spanish well, drove one of the circus wagons, translated the bills, cracked jokes in Spanish with the Mexican clown, took the tickets at the entrance, was an excellent whistler, and made himself 'generally useful.'"

The editor of the Post Magazine in one of his articles on the shops of London, says : "When old Zachariah Fox, the great merchant of Liverpool, was asked by what means he contrived to realize so large a fortune as article, alone, in which thou mayest deal too, plying at this Office, and paying the cost of this Adif thou pleasest-civility.

As a general family and antibilious medicine they are without a rival. The lowness of spirits, scute headache, &c. &c., to which all are more or less subject in this climate, are removed immediately by a dose of the Brandreth Pill. They are slike safe for children, as to every other period of life, and require no extra attention in diet or clothing. Their virtues may be summed up as a medicine which strengthens the fee ble, and consolidates the muscles of the strong; and will be found of infinite value to females of all classes
