fault. It is in his power to ascertain the state of the lady's feelings before he "unbosoms" himself. But how? Of course she will never make a tender confession in ten der words or tender looks. Oh, no ! she will use every little artifice to convince him that she does not care two straws for him, but if she really does love him, she betrays the existence of the tender passion in a hundred different ways in the presence of the 'dear object.' If she meets the 'object' in the streets, she tries to look cold and composed. but blushes to her temples. If on entering the room, she is the last to greet his approach, he may set it down as a very favorable symptom, ad infinitum; but we have furnished enough for all useful purposes.

If, then, a gentleman finds a lady in the state which we have attenuated to describe. he may propose with perfect safety. But he must be careful as to time and place. The season of sunshine and flowers is the time -when mountain and hill, plain and valley, are clothed in the richest verdure-when the birds carrol forth their song of joy and love -when the balmy winds of the south give color to the cheek and life to the step-when upon the silence of the forest-when the rosy. goddess of the morn bathes the smiling landscape in one bright stream of golden effulgence-when the eyes become soft, tender, dewey, and the lowing of the herbs proclaim the close of the day-when each field speaks of joy and plenty-when every trembling leaf whispers of love-oh, then, then is the time !

As to the place-in some secluded walk, where there is no possibility of interruption. Tremblingly place her delicate, white, soft hand within your own mutton fist, pop the question and murmur into her expecting cars vows of love and constancy ! If she is a sensible, candid, off-handed sort of a girl, she will say "Yes !" and thank you. If she is a timid, loving girl, she will probably burst into tears, hide her head in your bosom, and re- FICHE Subscriber has made an engagement with fer you to her 'pappy.'
