"LIKE ORIENT PEARLS AT RANDOM STRUNG."

MY BIRTH DAY. Pillow thy head upon this heart, My own, my cherished wife; And let us for one hour forget. Our dreary path of life. Then let me kiss thy tears away, And bid remembrance flee Back to the days of halcyon youth. When all was hope—and thee!

Fair was the early promise, love, Of our joy-freighted bark; Sunlit and lustrous to the skies, Now all so dim and dark. Over a stormy sea, dear wife, We drive with shattered sail, But Love sits smiling at the helm, And mocks the threatening gale.

Come, let me part these clustering curls, And gaze upon thy brow-How many, many memories Sweep o'er my spirit now; How much of happiness and grief, How much of hope and fear, Breathe from each dear loved lineament Most eloquently here.

TOO LATE. BY JOSEPH R. CHANDLER.

"It is well" said the venerable man to his wife, as they sat together late one evening in July, 1841, "it is well that we discovered the character and habits of the young man before he had advanced farther in our esteem; he might else have invergled our only daughter into marriage, and brought disgrace upon us, as well as unsery upon our

"Which would have been misery to us, too, surely," said the wife.

"It would have been insupportable misery. But thank God," continued he, raising his eyes in heart felt gratitude, "I was informed in season to prevent my child from the disgrace of a connection with a-

"With a what?" said a good looking young man, bowing to a venerable pair, "with a what, sir? speak out now! I am your daughter's husband; and it seems not unfit that there should be so much confidence between father and son, as that the latter should know the opinion of the former upon his pursuits, when the former knows the relation in which each stands to the other."

"If it is too late to prevent the marriage," said the father-

The closing of the door at the other side of the room drew the attention of the suppliant, and she found that her husband was the only one left with her. It was too

Hand in hand the newly married pair left what had been to the wife an Eden of quiet happiness. The stern commands of a father were there, at least, to be obeyed; and she was yet to learn whether a serious act of disobedience on her part, would ever be forgiven by one who had seemed wrapped up in her affections-whose life was apparently en-

The pride of the new husband was just it teach? too much for his situation. He was anxious not only to maintain his wife independently of her family, but to give her many comforts to which she had been accustomed. He could easily have attained the former, and have met all hir wishes in that respect; but his pride induced him to neglect rational means of acquiring ordinary comforts, and of sudden wealth. He had before his marriage, suffered in the estimation of many respiciable persons by his associating with certain dashing young men, who, to their other social qualities, were supposed to add that

Time passed onward, and the young wife became a mother, and saw in the birth of her boy, a renewal of the attentions of her husband, which, without apparent lapse of Fourth door above Old Slip, near Pearl st. House, affections, certainly without other evidence of unkindness, had been of late pretermitted. He had absented himself from his home until a late hour at night and had appeared haggard and care worn. It was also obvious that the means of support were diminished and the wife began to feel many, very many, of her comforts curtailed. The descent was rapid, and with it, the renewal of absence of the husband at night; but no ment of Groceries, suitable to the Southern trade, open unkindness was exhibited, nor was and which he offers for CASH, at a small advance there represent on her part, unless the pale cheek, the emaciated frame, and the heart broken sigh could be so construed.

> Misery, wretchedness, absolute want, beset the family; and the husband tore himself away from the bed of his wife and child early in the evening, with a determination to bring back back to them some means of comfort. He met an old friend, who informed him that a place was vacant in an office, which, with security for fidelity, would be

" And who will be that security?" "Who? Any one-I will. I told you so wo years ago."

" Will you now, indeed?"

" Present yourself to me to-morrow free of debt, and I will insure you the place." He was not free from debt, but a few hundred dollars would make him so. He felt assured that a few hours at the gaming table, the last time he would ever darken the accursed doors, would supply him with means to pay those debts--more than that he would not receive.

He hastened to the place, and paused at the last step of the door. "Why should I go in? The few hundred dollars which I R. L. BOHANNAN, M D. Professor of Obstetrics and owe, I can soon save; and he who, knowing Diseases of women and children. ny poverty, would be security for fidelity, would not think worse of my character, if I confess my indebtedness, and my determination never to place myself within the chance of such dangers again.'

The resolution so excellent relieved his heart, and he turned with new feelings to adopt a course of virtue. It was then " too

He saw within a few yards of him, one of the officers of the institution in which he was to have a place of trust. To have turned from the door would be to expose himself, and he could not stand where he was. He entered, he played, and at midnight had won a few dollars. His " luck had turned," he said; he "followed up the luck," and daylight saw him possessed of more than the desired sum.

He left the gambling room a man of bet ter resolves than he had been, though he had always resolved well. He thought of the pleasure in store, of the good he would vet do, and the delights he could yet enjoy.

The outer door of the house in which he lived was open. He stole quietly up the stairs, and gently lifted the latch of his room door. It was dark and still. The child, at length moved. He felt that his wife had occasion to complain of his long absence, but the joy of his heart was to make her understand the new resolution he had formed, and the means he now possessed of carrying it into effect. He called her by name -she did not answer. He felt that his new intentions deserved more kindness. He called again, but in vain. He then opened a father may have ceased, those of a husband | window shutter, and the light of the morning and of a man are unimpaired; and if I can- poured upon the face of his infant. The Coroner's aid was demanded over the dead body of the wife. The verdict of the jury was, " Died of the visitation of God." But one or two thought that distress had weakened her frame so much, that the anxiety and the care, the new feeling of suspicion, or the sense of utter abandonment that night, had been too much. Her heart broke with its over freight. The pride of the injured father at length yielded, and with quiet efforts, he traced out the residence of his daughter.

PILLS! PILLS!! PILLS!!! HEALTH THE TRUEST RICHES.

THE CELEBRATED

Hygeian Vegetable Pills, Can be had at the Store John PRIMROSE, FAYETTEVILLE STREET, RALEIGH, N. C.

MOAT'S MORISON PILLS. THE GENUINE HYGEIAN VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL MEDICINE-Accurately prepared by Dr. H. S. Moat, of New York, from the original recipe used for many years by his late father, Mr. Thomas Moat, Vice President of the British College of Health. I wenty years' successful administration of these celebrated medicines in Europe, and more than twelve years in the United States, have established their high reputation. Thousands of both sexes, who have been restored to health-the numerous sufferers rescued from premature death-and volumes of certified cases of cure, embracing every disease in the long catalogue of human misery; must convince the most incredulous of their superiority and the truth of the Hygeian heory, resulting from scientific research and experience, namely, that man is subject to only one real lisease-impurity of the blood. The Medicines being composed entirely of herbs or vegetable matter, purify the blood, and carry off the corrupt humors of the body, in a manner so simple as to give every day ease and pleasure. Man will be born to days of bliss, compared to what has hitherto been his lot, weighed down as he has been by disease, infirmities, and sufferings which no earthly power knew how to alleviate, until this discovery was presented to the world. The weak, the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are in few days strengthened by their operation, and the most obstinate complaints are removed Ly perseverance without the expense of a Physician. Adapted to all circumstances and situations, they are the best Medicine ever invented for Families, or to take to sea, preventing scurvy and costiveness. requiring no change of diet, particular regimen, or care against ta-

The prepotency of these medicines, has indu ced many speculators to attempt imposition on the public, by forging the labels, or forcing their Imitations into notice through the medium of the Press -Some of them pretend to Hygeian principles, by stealing from the writings of the Hygeist and copying whole pages into their fulsome advertisements.

But as they cannot copy the medicine, their specifics or their deleterious nostrums prove to be unavailng, their puffing and piracy become evident; disappointment to the afflicted is eventual, and with just obloguy the pretenders sink into oblivion.

The Hygeian medicines first introduced into this country by H. S. Most, in 1830 have for the last four vents been prepared by him, and the increasing sale attests their intrinsic merit; they comprise two sorts of Pills, No. 1 and No. 2, in single boxes of each at 25 or 50 cents; and Packets containing both sorts, at $1. $2, or $3 The Vegetable Cleansing Powders, in large boxes, at 374 cents, with printed directions.
