MISCELLANEOUS.
A Good JOKE.—A certain young lawyer of the New York bar, whose chin bears a very strong resemblance to the goat species, and under whose arm a huge bundle of papers is invariably placed, took passage about a year since on board one of the Hudson River steamboats. After the removal of the tea-table, a number of passengers in the cabin entered into conversation, which terminated in politics. The cabin was indifferently lighted, so much so that in some parts of it the countenances of many were not easily distinguished. Our young lawyer, with his bundle of papers under his arm, rendered himself very conspicuous in discussing political matters, and, in the course of his remarks, was very abusive towards Henry Clay.

An old gentleman, who was seated rather in the back ground, took occasion to say that he had some acquaintance with Mr. Clay, and was not aware of his being guilty of the gross and indecent charges which this young gentleman had imputed to him. The young lawyer then addressed himself to the old gentleman, and, among other objections to Mr. Clay, urged that he was in favor of the bankrupt law, and taking his well-known bundle of papers from under his arm, exclaimed, "I am a lawyer, sir! I have examined this subject thoroughly, and am fully convinced that the bankrupt law is unconstitutional." The old gentleman remarked that he did not know much about law, but rather thought the law was constitutional.

The young lawyer not thinking it worth his while to enter into a law discussion with an old gentleman, whose appearance in the badly lighted cabin rather indicated that he was a farmer, rose from his seat and walked towards the stairs to go on deck. As he reached the foot of the stairs he accosted a gentleman, a resident of Poughkeepsie, and inquired in rather a passionate manner whether he knew that old gentleman who pretended to give an opinion in favor of the bankrupt law? "Why, yes," answered the gentleman from Poughkeepsie, "don't you know him?—That is Judge Thompson, of the Supreme Court of the United States!"

The young lawyer ensconced himself among the passengers on deck, and neither he nor his bundle of papers was seen again during the remainder of the passage.
N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

SMALL CHANGE.—Any one travelling along the seaboard of North Carolina will notice the immense quantity of dried herrings used by the inhabitants. They appear to constitute the staff of life in that quarter.

A gentleman on his way to the South, not long since, got out of the stage and entered a tavern for the purpose of refreshing himself. After taking a glass of whiskey, and treating the driver, he threw down half a dollar. The barkeeper looked perplexed, and said, "I have no silver change, sir, but plenty of the common, if you will take it."

Here he counted out thirty-seven herrings, which the traveller had to roll up in a piece of paper and take with him, thinking they might serve for a dinner. The stage went on, and at the next stopping place he hailed an old lady, and asked her if she could sell him a loaf of bread. She offered him a large loaf of rye, and in return he counted her out six herrings. "La me," exclaimed she, "where did you get so much change?—Can you change me a quarter?" This he did cheerfully, and had six herrings remaining to eat.

MELANCHOLY DEATH OF A YOUNG LADY.—The Louisville Journal of Monday records the death of Miss Isabel R. Keats, in that city, which occurred under the following melancholy circumstances:
On Saturday night she sat with the other members of the family, of which she was an ornament, until about 10 o'clock, conversing with accustomed gaiety. At that hour the family retired, but she, after going to her room, returned to the parlor to procure something to allay a toothache. Shortly afterwards, a loud report and a scream were heard, and the family, on rushing into the room, found her weltering in her blood upon the floor, and a gun which stood in the room lying near her. The discharge had lacerated her breast and neck dreadfully. The first impression was that the poor girl had committed suicide, and her half-frantic mother exclaimed, "Oh, Isabel! what made you do it?" She replied, "I did not mean to kill myself! Indeed, mother, I did not mean to kill myself! The best medical skill was instantly called in, but she died in an early hour in the morning. She was able to converse for several hours, and she seemed calm, though much distressed at the thought of parting from the members of her family, whom she dearly loved. Her repeated and earnest assertions can leave no doubt that the fatal occurrence was entirely accidental.

All who knew Miss Keats intimately will long and deeply deplore her early death. She was a niece of John Keats, the young English poet, who was the friend and the peer of Coleridge and Shelley, and in her features she was remarkably like him. She was a girl of genius, and her heart was the home of all the high and pure and beautiful affections.

NATURAL ATTRACTION.—"I don't like to be left alone with a gal; it's plaguy apt to set me to soft sawderin' and a courtin'." There's a sort of natural attraction like in this world. Two ships in a calm are sure to get up alongside of each other if there is no wind, and they have nothin' to do but look at each other; and nature does it. Well, even the tons and shovel won't stand alone long; they're sure to get on the same side of the fire and be scorable; one of 'em has loadstone and draws 't'other, that's certain. If that's the case with hard hearted things like oak and iron, what is it with tender-hearted things like humans? Shut me up in a 'sarvatory with a hand-saw gal of a rainy day, and see if I don't think she is the sweetest flower in it. Yes, I am glad it is the dinner bell, for I ain't ready to marry yet, and when I am, I guess I must get a gal where I got my moss, in old Connecticut, and that State takes the shine off all creation, for geese, gals, and onions, that's a fact."
Sam Stick in England.

Oxford Female Academy. THIS institution, situated in one of the most pleasant and healthy villages in the State, has been under the care of its present Principal for the last three years. During that time, it has received a very respectable share of patronage, and, it is believed, has given general satisfaction. It is designed both as a boarding and day school. The residence of the Principal is very near the Academy, and is adapted to the accommodation of a considerable number of boarders. Pupils who reside with his family, receive every attention to their health and comfort, and are moreover subject to the constant supervision, not only of the Principal himself, but also of the Assistant Teachers. The first Session of the next year will commence on the second Monday of January and continue five months.
TERMS FOR THE SESSION.
Board, $40; Tuition in English studies, $7 50 to $12 50; French, $10; Latin & Greek, $5 each; Piano-Forte, $20; Drawing and Painting, $10; Wax, Fruit, and Flowers, $5 each.

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE. TEN days after the date hereof, I shall apply to the U. S. District Court of N. C. in Bankruptcy, at Chambers in Fayetteville, for an order to distribute, on the 23d inst. the assets in my hands to the credit of the cases of Joseph B. Hinton, William M. Mason and W. M. Mason & Co. Bankrupts, of the County of Wake.
W. J. CLARK, Genl. Assignee for Wake County. December 5th, 1843. 97-10d

PRUDENT COURSE IS ALWAYS THE BEST.—Since there are so many different makers of Piano-Fortes, and each one thinks his own manufacture the best, would it not be the most prudent course for those wanting articles of the kind to take them upon trial, before making a positive purchase? The Subscriber is sufficiently acquainted with the character and quality of his instruments to offer them upon those terms. Any one therefore, who may have doubts about their quality can have those doubts removed by TRIAL. He has been eight years engaged in this business—has sold about four hundred Piano-Fortes—and never sold a bad one.—A large additional stock just received.

Warrenton Male Academy. THE FIFTH Session of this Institution will commence on Monday, the 8th day of January, 1844. The terms of Board and Tuition are the same as here before published. The undersigned takes great pleasure in informing the patrons and friends of the School and the public generally, that he has rented the large and commodious building formerly occupied by Mrs. Jenkins as a Boarding House, situated immediately opposite to the Academy, and that he will, by this means, be enabled to board as many Students as may be sent to the village from a distance. He pledges himself to the public, that the morals of all the boys entrusted to his immediate care and control shall be strictly guarded, and, to accomplish this desirable end, no Student from the Boarding House shall visit the Town, except on special occasions, and never without the permission of the Teacher. It is desirable that all Boys, who have no near relatives in the Town or vicinity, shall board with the Principal, upon whom devolves the great responsibility of preserving the morals of the Students. It is confidently hoped that the well established character of Warrenton for health, its contiguity to the lower regions of Virginia and North Carolina, its facility of access by the Rail Road, the long experience of the Teacher in the profession to which he devotes his undivided time and attention, and the reasonable terms of the Institution, and the high order of morals enforced, will all combine to secure to the School a large and generous patronage. For any information in relation to the professional standing of the Principal, he would most respectfully refer gentlemen to the Trustees of this Institution, as well as to those of the Scotland Neck and Northampton Academies, in which he has taught for the last thirteen years.

VALUABLE PLANTATION is offered for sale, near Tallahassee, Florida. The subscriber, wishing to remove to a more Northern climate, offers for sale the TRACT OF LAND, on which he resides, situated about 8 miles from Tallahassee, in Leon County. There are 1600 acres contained in the Tract, a very large proportion of which is of very superior quality. The place is plentifully watered, with excellent water; and there are not more than 30 acres of waste land in the body. About 750 acres of land are cleared, from which, with a force of forty-five or fifty hands, in a favorable season, 300 or 350 Bales of Cotton can be produced in a season, and more Corn than would serve the Plantation. The land is situated, that it can be divided into two separate Tracts if preferred. There is good land enough to employ from seventy five to eighty hands to advantage. The natural growth is Sweet Gum, Post Oak, Red Oak, Cherry, Ash and Dogwood. The upper terminus of the Rail Road, leading from Tallahassee to Stewart's, is only 8 miles distant, and the Railroad is twenty-three miles long. The improvements, including buildings of every description, are extensive and convenient. A large white family can be comfortably accommodated; and there are Cabins enough for the convenient accommodation of about 80 Slaves. There is a newly erected Gin House on the place, with all necessary appendages. The society of the neighborhood is of the most desirable kind, and the lands adjoin the Plantations of the Messrs. Cotten and N. Thompson from North Carolina. There are also several Churches, convenient enough to attend.
