PRUDENT COURSE IS ALWAYS THE BEST.—Since there are so many different makers of Piano Fortes, and each one thinks his own manufacture the best, would it not be the most prudent course for those wanting articles of the kind to take them upon trial, before making a positive purchase? The Subscriber is sufficiently acquainted with the character and quality of his instruments to offer them upon those terms. Any one therefore, who may have doubts about their quality can have those doubts removed by TRIAL. He has been eight years engaged in this business—has sold about four hundred Piano Fortes—and never sold a bad one.—A large additional stock just received.

Warrenton Male Academy.

THE next Session of this Institution will commence on Monday, the 8th day of January 1844. The terms of Board and Tuition are the same as here tofore published.

The undersigned takes great pleasure in informing the patrons and friends of the School and the public generally, that he has rented the large and commodious building formerly occupied by Mrs. Jenkins as a Boarding House, situated immediately opposite to the Academy, and that he will, by this means, be enabled to board as many Students as may be sent to the village from a distance. He pledges himself to the public, that the morals of all the boys entrusted to his immediate care and control shall be strictly guarded, and, to accomplish this desirable end, no Student from the Boarding House shall visit the Town, except on special occasions, and never without the permission of the Teacher. It is desirable that all Boys, who have no near relatives in the Town or vicinity, shall board with the Principal, upon whom devolves the great responsibility of preserving the morals of the Students. It is confidently hoped that the well-established character of Warrenton for health, its contiguity to the lower regions of Virginia and North Carolina, its facility of access by the Rail Road, and the long experience of the Teacher in the profession to which he devotes his undivided time and attention, the reasonable terms of the Institution, and the high order of morals enforced, will all combine to secure to the School a large and generous patronage. For any information in relation to the professional standing of the Principal, he would most respectfully refer gentlemen to the Trustees of this Institution, as well as to those of the Scotland Neck and Northampton Academies, in which he has taught for the last thirteen years.

HENDERSON'S MALE ACADEMY.

THE Exercises of this Institution will be resumed on Monday, 8th day of January 1844. The scholastic year will be divided into two sessions of 5 months each. The Trustees have engaged the services of Mr. Wm. H. Bass, who is a Graduate of Randolph Macon College, and is highly recommended both for his moral deportment as a gentleman, and for his qualifications as a Teacher. In this School will be taught every thing necessary to prepare young men for College, or for the ordinary avocations of life.

Henderson is a beautiful and flourishing village, immediately on the Rail Road from Raleigh to Gaston—45 miles from either place—remarkable for the healthfulness of its location, and for the intelligence and morality of its inhabitants. The location of the Academy is quiet and retired, sufficiently remote from the business part of the village. Particular attention will be paid both to the moral deportment and the intellectual advancement of the Pupils. Board, including washing, lights, &c. can be had in respectable private families in the village at $7 per month; and in the country, at $5. Each Session will close with a thorough examination of the Students on the Studies pursued during the Term.

PROSPECTUS OF THE SOUTHERN QUARTERLY REVIEW.

In commencing the Fifth Volume of this publication, the Editor wishes to urge, with earnestness, its claims upon the patronage and support of the Citizens of the South. Its circulation, always respectable, but never large, requires to be, and it is believed, may be, much extended, and the work be thus rendered a more efficient organ in maintaining the rights and sustaining the literary reputation of the Southern States.

The discontinuance of other periodicals, which have divided the public patronage, renders the present time a peculiarly appropriate one for presenting such considerations as will awaken a new interest in it, and for making such efforts to extend its circulation as will place it on a permanent basis.

It may be proper to state, briefly, the leading objects which such a Periodical proposes to accomplish and also the reasons which show the importance and necessity of sustaining one with energy, at the present time, at the South.

The general objects of such Periodicals are pretty well understood. They serve to embody the opinions of enlightened minds on all great questions in which the interests of the arts, sciences, letters and politics are involved, at certain periods in the history of the country. Their aim is, not only to review books, and in the spirit of thorough and impartial criticism, to decide upon their merits, but also, in the performance of this duty, to discuss important subjects in such a manner as to make deep and permanent impressions upon the character of the people and destinies of the age; to diffuse knowledge, not to foster prejudices; to create direct and control, not to echo opinions; and finally, to canvass principles and maintain truth in a calm and dignified manner, and in a style chaste, luminous, nervous and appropriate. The offspring of a high state of civilization, they furnish evidence of intellectual advancement, and are the object of a just and honorable pride, regarded as the exponents of the literary standing and character of communities.

The importance of sustaining such a work at the South, with ability and effect, is equally obvious. The South, like the North and the other sections of the Union, owes a duty to the age and to the country in behalf of her literature. She requires an able and high-toned Periodical, that is fitted to nourish, and call into active exercise, the literary talent of our Southern Commonwealth. But, more than this, our institutions are peculiar, and require a distinct organ through which they may be defended with power and spirit, when assailed, as they often are, by other sections of the American Confederacy. This aggressive conduct on the part of our Countrymen, so prejudicial to the general harmony, requires to be met and repelled by argument, first, and by action, if necessary, afterwards. The South is an agricultural country, and her position is different from that of other sections more particularly devoted to commerce and manufactures. Her views of her peculiar interests should be known, and require to be maintained and defended with ability, through some such channel.

The Southern Quarterly Review is issued, at Charleston, in January, April, July and October. Among its ablest Contributors, are Dew, Bachman, Burnap, Davezac, Uphur, Cushing, Tucker, Simms, Cartwright, Elliott, Garnett, Thornwell, Grayson, Holmes, Everett Breckenridge, Brantley, King, Stevens, and other distinguished American scholars, residing chiefly in the Southern States. The style of its typographical execution is not surpassed by any work either foreign or domestic. An appeal is confidently made to the generous and patriotic feelings of Southern citizens in its behalf.

Terms.—$5 per annum, payable in advance. No Subscription taken for less than a year, and all notices of discontinuance to be forwarded before the first of October of each year, or the Subscription will be binding for the succeeding year.
