We'll hail, it, boys, with joyous cries, Which ne'er shall cease till freedom dies, Huirah, &c.

And the' we fight with naught but Clay, The locos must and shall give way, Hurrah, &c.

He'll lead us on triumphantly, Hurrah, &c. And seal our cause with victory. Hurrah, &c. Then to the white house, boys, we'll go,

And tell old Chapman, crow! crow!! crow!!! Hurrah, &c.

Then Clay our President shall be, Hurrah, &c. He'll ne'er turn traitor, NO, not he, Then shout, boys, shout, Hurrah, Hurra-a! For Ashland's Farmer, HENRY CLAY.

THE CONFESSIONAL .- Some paper, the name of which we do not know, tells a tolerable good story under this head of " a confessional." In a town some fifty miles from Boston, the members of a religious society were in the practice of holding conference meetings in the church at which they made a kind of confession, technically called, recounting one's "experience." A very pious member of the church, Mr. D., was in the habit of inviting his neighbor I., who was not a member, to attend these meetings, at one of which Mr. D. got up and stated to the congregation that he was a great sinner—that he sinned daily with his eyes open-that he willingly and knowingly sinned-that goodness dwelt not in him-that he was absolutely and totally depravedthat nothing but the boundless mercy and infinite goodness of God could save him gister for six weeks, notifying them to appear at the forty-five or fifty hands, in a favorable season, 300 or from eternal damnation. After this confession of Mr. D., Mr. L., who by accident, had been placed upon the anxious seat," rose with the most imperturbable gravity, be divided, agreeably to the prayer of Petitioners; and stated that he had but little to say for him- in case of failure, the said Petition will be taken pro stated that he had but little to say for him- in case of failure, the said Petition will be taken pro vanatage.
