It was the impression of gentlemen who came in the Edith, (says the Picayune,) and with whom we conversed, that a battle was fought on the 25th ult. It was thought, however, that Gen. Taylor had reached Saltillo before that time, and also General Twiggs, Gen. Quitman's, Gen. Bufler's, and Gen Wool's commands. It was likewise hoped that the Troops from Camargo will also arrive at Saltillo in good season. If these expectations were realized, Gen. Taylor had about 7000 men to oppose Santa Anna. Our informants think Santa Anna's army was overrated ; but no positive knowledge was had

SENATE DEBATE.

The Senate, last Tuesday, had "Monsieur Tonson come again," in the shape of the famous individual liability clause, (some times called the Specie Clans,) loved by Mr. Thompson, of Wake, as an amendment to a Bill to incorporato the Cape Fear Manufacturing Company.

Mr. GILMER, in reply to some remarks made by the inexorable mover of the amendment, professed to be placed in great doubt as to his course. He had once believed, and had quite sincerely believed, that works of Internal Improvement might be of some service in redeeming the State from mediocrity, and might properly receive some aid and countenance from the Legislature. But, he had lived so long in the woods, at a great distance from the Metropolis. that he believed he had become especially green .-The lights, which burn so brightly about the Capitol, are lost in the distance before they reached him. He had been silly enough to vote for Manufacturing establishments, Turnpikes, and even Rail Roads, but the pertinacity, with which the enlightened Senator of the Metropolitan County, opposes all such efforts as public improvements, had brought him to s the Senate had better ballot for the election of s lead halt, months agreed what it w.

The people of the State had selected Wake, as the be held the Sessions of the General Assembly, and pro tem. the Supreme Court, in a building which cost over half a million of dollars. Here, is also the great State Library, in which the wisdom of ages is embalmed. From this chosen spot, it is reasonable to be expected, that patriotic suggestions, which look to the good of the State, should emanate. The sitizen, honored with the confidence of such. a County, might be supposed to be foremost in the race, which has for its goal the public good. At the feet of such a Gamaliel, we from the wild woods and Mountains of the West, might safely, it seems to me, learn political wisdom. How then, Mr. Speaker, have our crude opinions been shamed by the enlightened course of the Senator from Wake! How have our visionary schemes been rebuked! How ridiculous have gentlemen from abroad rendered themselves, by voting for various measures in which their constituents can have no interest, but which they thought would benefit the Metropolitan County, and the central portions of the State?

Mr. GILMER said, when he saw this Senator, re flecting as he must be supposed to do, the opinions of the Vice President. of this enlightened County, voting against the improvement of Neuse River to a point near Raleigh -against enclosing the Capitol, the pride of the State and the greatest ornament of the City, over which it keeps eternal guard-against the charter tenden on the table, was negatived. the House of Representatives again had the Lieut Generalship before them, and solemnly expressed its opinion, by a majority of thirty votes, against the establishment of a Military Officer of a grade of rank to supersede in command all existing officers of the Army. The majority would have been larger, had it not been known that it would, as it stands recorded, be sufficient to defeat it.

In the Senate, on Monday, the 11th, the Vice President, being indisposed, Mr. Atchison appeared in the Chair, and read a letter from that officer, desiring him to occupy the Chair during his absence. Mr. Crittenden, after disclaiming any personal feeling in the matter, questioned the authority of the Vice President to delegate the Chair to another when he himself was absent. He suggested that Vice President pro tem., as he had no doubt the re-

Mr. Speight was of opinion, that, under this rule, the Vice President had the power to delegate his authority.

Mr. Atchison said he felt much embarrassed occupying the Chair under such circumstances. He said he would much prefer that the Secretary should conduct the proceedings.

Mr. Crittenden hoped the gentleman would remain in the Chair, which he could do by common consent. The consent being given, Mr. Atchison remained in the Chair.

Mr. Badger contended that the rule did not apply to the present case. It appeared to him very plain, that the Vice President, when absent, had no power to delegate his authority. P.D. Basel of the

Resolved, That we deplote the policy which retained fourteen thousand of our gallant Volunteers in the vicinity of the Rio Grande, where some fifteen hundred have fallen victims to the diseases of the country, and have been wrapped in their blankets, and buried in the land of strangers.

In addition to this, we find in the Fredericksburg Recorder, an able Administration journal, the following :---

"For one, we think, the war has been managed badly. Not that the Government has been wa in energy, or the army in courage, for we believe both have nobly done their duty; but the means and men employed have been misdirected. The expedi-tion of Gen. ### WHAT GEN. TAYLOR DOES ENJOY, AND WHAT HE DOES NOT ENJOY.

Under this head, the "Louisville Journal" says Gen. TAXLOR enjoys the glory of having conquered the Northern Indians at Fort Harrison. But, alas ! for the unfortunate old here, he does not enjoy the honor of an approving mention in James K. Polk's message to Congress! Wanting this glory, what are all his other blended glories worth?"
