CONGRESS.

The following is the message of the President, transmitting to the House of Representatives his objections to the Bank bonus bill.

To the House of Representatives of the U. States.

Having considered the bill this day presented to me, entitled, "An act to set apart and pledge certain funds for internal improvements;" and which sets apart and pledges funds "for constructing roads and canals, and improving navigation of water courses, in order to facilitate, promote, and give security to internal commerce among the several states, and to render more easy and less expensive the means and provisions for the common defence; I am constrained by the insuperable difficulty I feel in reconciling the bill with the constitution of the United States to return it, with that objection, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated.

The Legislative powers vested in Congress are specified and enumerated in the 8th section of the first article of the constitution; & it does not appear that the power, proposed to be exercised by the bill, is among the enumerated powers; or that it falls, by any just interpretation, within the power to make laws necessary & proper for carrying into execution those or other powers vested by the constitution in the government of the United States.

"The power to regulate commerce among the several States," cannot include a power to construct roads and canals, and to improve the navigation of water courses,
