State of North-Carolina. Craven County.

By Joseph Bell and Thomas Sparrow, Esquires, two of the Justices of the Peace for said County.

WHEREAS complaint hath this day been made to us, two of the Justices of the peace for the said county, by Edmund Hatch, sen'r. of this County, that two certain Negro Slaves belonging to him, named JOHN and JOE, have absented themselves from their said Master's service, and are lurking about in the said county, committing many acts of felony and other misdemeanors. These are therefore in the name of the State, to command the said Slaves forthwith to surrender themselves and return home to their Master.

And we do hereby also require the Sheriff of the said County of Craven, to make diligent search and pursuit after the above mentioned Slaves, and them having found, to apprehend and secure, so that they may be conveyed to their said Master, or otherwise discharged as the law directs, and the said Sheriff is hereby empowered to raise and take with him such power of his county as he may think fit for apprehending the said Slaves: And we do hereby by virtue of an Act of Assembly of this State, concerning servants and Slaves, intimate and declare, if the said Slaves John and Joe, do not surrender themselves and return home immediately after the publication of these presents, that any person may kill and destroy the said Slaves, by such means as he or they may think fit, without accusation or impeachment of any crime or offence for so doing, or without incurring any penalty or forfeiture thereby.

Given under our hands and seals at Newbern, this 12th day of Sept. A. D. 1817.

JOSEPH BELL. (Seal.) THO'S. SPARROW. (Seal.)

Description of the above Outlaws.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

The convention finished their labors, and signed the constitution on the 15th ultimo. The following general view of the draft reported, and which is said to have received very few and slight alterations, may enable our readers to comprehend the principles of government adopted in this new sister of the confederation. We have now twenty states—Indiana and Mississippi having been added during the late congress.—

Every free white male person, of the age of 21 years & upwards, who shall be a citizen of the United States, and shall have resided in the state one year next preceding the election, and in the county where he offers to vote six months previously to the election, and shall have enrolled in the militia, or shall have paid a state or county tax, is deemed a qualified elector. The first election is directed to be by ballot, subject to future regulation by the legislature.

The election for members to the house of representatives is annual, on the first Monday and Tuesday in August. A member to the house of representatives must be an inhabitant of this state two years preceding his election, and the last year a resident of the county, city or town he offers to represent—shall have attained to the age of 22 years, and hold in his own right one hundred and fifty acres of land, or an interest in real estate of the value of five hundred dollars, within the state.

Towns and cities are entitled to separate representation, when they have the established ratio.—The general assembly at their first meeting, and in the year 1820, & in not less than three, nor more than five years thereafter, shall cause the census of the state to be taken, and apportion the representatives among the counties, cities and towns of the state, according to the number of free white inhabitants, and shall not be less than 24 nor more than 36, until the number of free white inhabitants exceeds eighty thousand, and after that event the whole number of representatives shall not be less than 36 nor more than 100. Each county shall have at least one representative.

The senators shall be apportioned among the districts established by law according to the number of free white taxable inhabitants, so that they shall not be more than one third nor less than one fourth of the whole number of representatives. The senators are elected for three years by the qualified
