

they remained from 12 o'clock at mid day until 12 at night.

At about half past 12 at night, entered the Stadthouze, and forcibly liberated three or four of their party, who had been confined for murder; who were next day seen to parade the streets of the city unmolested. A body of French troops had been sent for to keep the peace of the city.

By the friends we have received Dutch papers in May, from which we shall cause to be translated what may appear deserving of notice.

Letters by the Three friends mention a report having circulated in Amsterdam of an engagement on the Rhine, in which the Austrians were defeated with considerable loss.

London accounts of the 14th May state, the reports of a fresh insurrection of the Poles, on the confines of Turkey, under the command of the Chiefs DEUSKO, KOLLYSKO and LIBERADWYZKY: that they had published a manifesto, in which they declare their reliance on the assistance of the Porte to deliver their country from oppression.

Should this prove true the meditated rupture between Russia and Turkey will probably be brought to an immediate issue.

Yesterday at noon we had the Proclamation as follows:—The Commonalty of Amsterdam, with that sensibility with which they always have inspired their fellow citizens, having been informed, that a great many of the inhabitants of this city, the greatest part of them belonging to the militia which forms the artillery, have been so audacious, several days past as to make several attempts to subdue the defenceless citizens without the walls of the city, their intention being to disturb and abuse the citizens, by which their persons and property would have been brought into imminent danger.

Therefore the magistrates after mature deliberation have found it necessary, to dismiss the militia artillery, and all the citizens who have neglected to perform their duty; dismissing likewise, the colonels, captains, lieutenants and all the subaltern officers of the rioters.

The magistrates ordered them to bring their arms before the committee, at 6 o'clock P.M. of the same day, at a place by them appointed, that they might be deposited in the military stores. The magistrates also expressly forbid the officers of all ranks to wear any side arms or other defensive weapons whatsoever, under penalty of the severest punishment. However, these orders of the magistrates have not been regarded by the five companies of the artillery, consisting of five hundred men, one third of which only returned arms. A body of them assembled yesterday afternoon in the fields, from whence they marched to town, with drawn swords, being joined by a great number of citizens, & posted themselves opposite the City-Hall, in spite of a very powerful guard, which was reinforced by the cavalry. At half past 6 o'clock they sent a message to the assembled magistrates, the result of which is as yet unknown. In the mean time the mob repaired to the prison, and by force liberated all the prisoners, and committed many other outrages; but there was no blood shed.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.

Don Joseph Ignatius de Viar, contul general and charge des affaires, from his Catholic majesty to the United States of America, &c.

To all whom it may concern:

WHEREAS permissions have been granted by my predecessor, to carry flour and other provisions to the Havana, which the holders of them have not yet thought proper to put in execution: And whereas that trade has been lately stopped by Royal order: now therefore, this is to make known, that no vessel which may be cleared out from the United States, after the date of this publication, and proceeding under the said permissions, will be admitted to an entry at the said port of Havannah, agreeable to an official communication made to me by the intendat of said port, dated 21st ult. in virtue of which I give this public notice.

Philadelphia, July 12, 1796.

Capt. Carlson of the sch. Mary, 16 days from Port de Paix, informs that capt. Danton in a sloop from this port had arrived there—off Mariguane was boarded by two privateers schrs. and treated civilly. Previous to his sailing, reports were in circulation, that the Republicans had laid siege to fort Bombard—that the British sallied out—an action ensued, in which it was said, the British lost 150 horse and a number of foot soldiers—that a detachment of Republicans had gone against Cape Nichola Mole.

Fort Bombard is about 28 miles distant from Port de Paix. The accounts came by land.

Capt. Wallace informs that the 22d regiment was embarking for England—there were other troops embarking at the same place; whose destination he could not learn; further that the Republicans made a formidable appearance off Arrawa; in Irish Bay, that the British had marched to oppose them—but that no account was received as to their operations when he left Jeremie.

FAYETTEVILLE ADVERTISER

FROM LONDON, May 16.

"The business of compensation for spoliations is in the best possible train—a number of causes which the admiralty court cannot decide are left to the commissioners. Mr. Gore's arrival is daily looked for, and as one of the sufferers I feel highly gratified, that the President has appointed a gentleman so eminently qualified to investigate, and to be able to obtain us real justice;—which is all we want."

JOHN LOUIS TAYLOR,

RESPECTFULLY informs the electors of Fayetteville, that his professional engagements render it inconvenient for him to serve in the next General Assembly—he therefore requests that he may not be nominated as a candidate.
Fayetteville, July 26.

ROBERT COCHRAN,

MOST respectfully informs the electors for the town of Fayetteville, that he is a candidate, at the ensuing election, for the representation of the town, in the next General Assembly.
