THURSDAY, MAY S, 1873.

HE WANTED TO KNOW. An individual writes to one of the weekly papers for information as follows: whom I love sincerely and who returns my love. But not having been engaged long, some of her former gentlemen acquaintances come in once in awhile to spend the evening; but, as a matter of course, I generally am there first. Now, should I leave because they call, or should I stay? And if I am to stay, bow is the young lady to get rid of them, as some of them, not knowing the state of the case, Please tell me what to do under the circumstances."

which these persons can be seared off. One way is to engage a prizefighter to call and buffet them upon the nose and haul them around by the ears. Another way is to set the house on fire. Another is to and let him out suddenly when you want the company to move. Still better, why not introduce a lightning-rod and scatter them with a thunderstorm, or induce the hired girl to become insane, and charge into the parlor with a gun? Or, if you must drive them away, begin to take up a collection; or threaten to sing something; or blow out the gas and leave the stop-cock turned; or begin to tell about one of your dreams; or try to borrow money of them; or read the advertisements in the evening paper aloud to them; or induce the young lady to pretend to go asleep and to snore; or ask her aunt to come down and entertain them while you and your fair one spark sweetly in the corner. Any one of these methods will be offective; and what surprises us is that any man should have so little ingenuity as to be compelled to write to the newspapers about it.

A GRAPHIC BESCRIPTION. Byron many years ago went for HANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN the "waltz" in a style that is forever memorable. > Two FREE RIDERS RUN OVER BY A TRAIN OF CARS. -Two colored men attempted to steal a ride on the eastward-bound coal train over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, Wednesday, and to better accomplish their purpose concealed themselves in the bottom of an empty coal-ear. It so happened that the iron coal dump was not locked, and when the train was in motion it flew open from the weight of the two gentlemen on it and let them down into the middle of the track. Fifteen loaded ears passed over them, breaking the arm of one and bruising the other about the leg. The wonder is that both were not instantly killed. They were discovered by a rear brakeman, the train stopped, and the men taken on board, when it was tound they had sustained the injuries mentioned above. One of them expressed hinself as having laid low "while dat train was gwine long-

After a fove has been polished it can be kept looking very well for a long time by rubbing it with paper every morning. Rubbing with paper is a much nicer way of keeping the outside of a tea kettle, coffee pot and tea pot bright and clean than the old way of washing them with suds. Rubbing is the best way of polishing knives, tin-ware better than a dry cloth.

A prize fight between a man and two goats at Albany, last week, was won by the latter. They "bucked" him from all directions, and between his legs, and routed him at all points, while all he could do was to kick out wildly, which one ly made them more terocious. They would have killed him had not the owner interfered.
