BIBLE CAUSE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

The following extract from the fifty-seventh annual report of the American Bible Society, setting forth the progress of the Bible work in North Carolina, will no doubt be of interest to many of our readers:

"NORTH CAROLINA.—The work in this State has been conducted during the past year with peculiar efficiency and industry by Rev. P. A. Strobel, of Raleigh, whose report is as follows:

There are ninety-five counties embraced in this district. In these counties are 121 auxiliaries, nine branch societies, and seven Bible committees. The Superintendent has visited ninety-eight auxiliaries and sixteen branch societies and committees. Thirteen new auxiliaries have been organized, twenty-five have been revived, and seven branch societies and several Bible committees have been formed. Number of miles travelled, 6,000; sermons and Bible addresses delivered, 225; official letters written, 468; documents issued, 975; money forwarded to the Bible House, $3,324.79.

The work of the past year has been one mainly of reorganization. Many of the auxiliaries were virtually dead; many were without books; and, with a few exceptions, none of them had done anything in canvassing and supplying their respective territories. Besides this, a spirit of apathy and indifference seemed to prevail almost universally, and the Bible cause generally was in a languishing condition. As a consequence of this state of things, the destitution was found to be alarmingly great. From the best information that could be gathered, not less than 30,000 families are believed to have been destitute of the Word of God at the commencement of the year.

In some counties there were found two, and in a few as many as three auxiliaries; but there had been no conference among the officers of these societies; the boundaries of their respective territories had not been defined; there had been no division of labor, no co-operation, no system, and no intelligent and earnest prosecution of the work of distributing the Scriptures. These evils the Superintendent has endeavored to correct, and although he has not thus far achieved all that he desired, he thinks the field is full of promise of future good results.

The auxiliaries which have been reorganized and supplied with books have hardly had time to do much in the way of exploring and supplying their territory.

Only two are reported as having completed the canvass and supply of their respective territories. These are the Salem Bible Association and the Cabarrus County Bible Society.

To these may perhaps be added the Mebanesville and Caldwell County Bible Society. Mecklenburg, Gates, Union, Carteret, McDowell, Craven, Lumberton, Franklin and Wayne county (freedmen's) Societies report a partial canvass. Many others are believed to have taken some steps to supply their territory, but have sent in no reports. The following statistics are all that have been gathered: Auxiliaries reporting as engaged in exploring and supplying their territory, eighteen; families visited, 916; found destitute, 390; destitute families supplied, 357; individuals supplied, 543; freedmen supplied, 550; furnished for railroad cars, thirty; Sabbath schools supplied, forty-two.

From these returns it is manifest that a very small portion of the State has yet been explored and supplied, and that it will require much greater earnestness and industry upon the part of Christians throughout the State before the thousands of destitute families have been reached and supplied with God's precious Word.

Nearly all the auxiliaries during the past year have replenished their depositories. There are fully 120 localities in the State where the Society's publications can now be obtained. In this particular there has been a great improvement in the condition of the work. One Society (Wake County) which at the commencement of the year had only one Bible in its depository, has purchased over $600 worth of books. This same county gave us nothing last year in the way of collections and donations, except in the case of a single individual; this year the collections and donations amount to over $250.

Special attention has been paid to the wants of the freedmen, and a number of branch societies and committees have been organized to facilitate the distribution of the Scriptures among their families and Sabbath schools. The freedmen, in many sections of the State, are rapidly becoming educated, and they gratefully avail themselves of every opportunity to possess the Bible. Perhaps one-third of all the destitution among them has been supplied.

In this connection it affords the Superintendent great pleasure to bear testimony to the noble work which the Rev. H. B. Blake and his son are doing the freedmen in Wilmington and the vicinity, not only in educating the freedmen, but in distributing the Scriptures among them.

The Superintendent has presented the Bible cause to the various ecclesiastical bodies in the State, and he is happy to say that in all cases they have courteously received him, and have adopted resolutions earnestly commending the Bible cause to the churches, and pledging the cordial co-operation of all the pastors. To many of the pastors of these denominations, and to very many laymen, the District Superintendent is indebted for numerous acts of personal kindness. The Christian courtesies extended to him, and the words of sympathy and encouragement which have greeted him in almost every community, have tended greatly to cheer and strengthen him in the prosecution of his arduous work.

The work of supplying the destitution in this district has been very greatly facilitated by the liberality of the Parent Society, in making such ample grants for gratuitous distribution. These grants, forty in number, embrace about 10,000 copies of the Scriptures. Two thousand three hundred dollars worth of books have also been put at the disposal of the surviving members of the North Carolina Bible Society, in discharge of a sum formerly deposited with the Parent Society by that auxiliary, and from this source many books have been drawn for gratuitous distribution. On the whole, the State of North Carolina is believed to be better supplied with books than at any period since 1861. This is certainly a source of encouragement.

In reviewing the labors of the past year, the Superintendent for North Carolina would gratefully recognize the hand of a gracious and merciful God, in the preservation of his life amidst many perils, and in the large measure of health with which he was called to occupy its extensive, and demands no small measure of patience, zeal, perseverance and faith. Whatever success has attended his labors, he humbly ascribes to the blessing of God and the co-operation of Christian pastors and laymen. He is conscious of having endeavored faithfully to discharge his duty. He has sought, by faithful appeals to the people whom he has addressed, to stimulate an increased zeal and earnestness in the work of distributing the Scriptures.

THE TRIBUNE.

THURSDAY JULY 17, 1873.

He regrets that his efforts in this direction have not been more successful, and that a greater interest has not been awakened among Christians, on behalf of the thousands of families who are "sitting in darkness," and famishing for the lack of "the bread of life." May the Great Head of the Church quicken his people, by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, to a deeper sympathy with the benighted and the perishing, and to more prompt and earnest efforts for their salvation!

OLD SIMPSON AND HIS CATS.

Down in Tuckahoe there is a man named Simpson, who has a flat roof to his house, covered with tin. The roof got a leaking badly a few weeks ago, and it happened to occur to Mr. Simpson that it would be a good thing to cover the whole surface with the material out of which concrete pavements are made, "so as to make her all tight and nice," said Simpson. A man was accordingly engaged, and he covered the tin with concrete to the depth of three or four inches. The curse of Tuckahoe cats! In summer thousands of them assemble and hold ratification meetings and rehearsals, and general synods out in back yards and on the roofs. In Tuckahoe, in last July, the heat was unusually intense, and Mr. Simpson was exceedingly annoyed by the demonstrations of cats in the neighborhood. The more he "shooed" them and flung old boots at them, the more they yelled. Night after night it continued to grow more terrible, and day after day Mrs. Simpson observed that the mysterious caterwauling continued during all the hours of daylight. Simpson hadn't a bootjack, or blacking brush, or a rolling pin, or a cologne bottle to throw at them. At last one moonlight night, the uproar got so outrageous that Simpson arose from his bed and determined to ascertain what in the h—ll all this yawling meant any way! It appeared to him the noise came from the top of the house. He went into the garret and put his head out of the trap door. There he found one hundred and ninety-six cats stuck fast knee deep in the concrete which had been softened by the heat. Some of them had been there four or five days. The moment they got sight of Simpson, the whole one hundred and ninety-six doubled up their spines, ruffled up their back hair, snacked their tails, and gave one wild unearthly yell which shocked Simpson's nerves so much that he dropped the trap door and fell down the step-ladder, on the head of Mrs. Simpson, who was standing below, dressed in a thing with a frill on it, and armed with a palm-leaf fan and a bed slat, determined to protect Simpson to the death. The next day the concrete was removed, and the cats dug out. But you ought to have been present when Simpson interviewed the concrete man! There were only four rounds then Simpson got off the man's prostrate body in order to let him go and hunt for some hair restorative, and put a fresh oyster to his eye.

GRAVEYARD WIT.—An Irishman, who had been employed at the cemetery some time since, went to Washington to draw his pay. After receiving the amount, the paymaster discovering a sabre-cut in his face, remarked, "You were in the army during the war?"

"Yes," said he.

"What command were you in?"

"In General Fitz Hugh Lee's command, sir."

"Did you have the audacity to apply to a Federal cemetery for work when you were in the rebel army?"

"Yes," replied the Irishman, "I helped kill them, so I thought I had a right to help bury them."
