We had a slight shower of rain on Wednesday night, which was very much needed.

We are glad to learn that the revival at Fifth Street M. E. Church, is still on the increase, and hope it may con-

A regular free fight occurred on the corner of Front and Market streets, on Wednesday, between two colored boys, from which they were stopped by B R. King, who gave them an invitation to walk up to the "lock-up."

ACCIDENTLY KILLED. - We regret to learn of the death of Mr. John W. clude Castings, &c., for plows. Hewlett, a son in-law of Mr. Asa A. Hartsfield, who was formerly a resident of this city, but lately an engineer on the Atlanta and Chattanooga Railroad, who was killed on Tuesday night last, b; his engine plunging into a colvert which had been washed up by the heavy

The body is expected to reach here this evening.

FURE. - The alarm of fire on Tuesday was caused by the catching of the root of the old wooden building used by Mr. T. J. Southerland for a blacksmith shop, on the corner of Third and Princess streets. Fortunately it was extinguished before any material damage

And again, on Wednesday, the firealarm sent forth its shrill notes to warn the good people that there was a fire on South Water, near the corner of Dock street, in a store occupied by Messrs. Hayes & Noland, as a junk establishment. The fire originated in a lot of damaged cotton and the proprietors think it must have been caused from a spark from some steamer, passing through an open window. Loss estimated at about $150; No insurance.

The following gentlemen comprise year. We also append the names of the tion of our merchants, delegates to the Convention : '

Handle News, Wellsburg, West Va. Last eventng two men in crossing the Cape Fear, just below the mouth of the Brunswick river, discovereed a dark object on the surface of the water, moving along slowly. They were very much frightened at first but as the object did not seem to meditate on attack they remained quiet and watched the movements of the unknown stranger. The night was very dark, and although very near, nothing could be seen but the long dark form on the war er moving The Alamance Gleaner says: The fly along against the current. Our of the s about to eat up all the tobacco plants, men in the batteau, getting bolder as the danger appeared to lessen, struck his paddle lin the water, upon which the fish made a sadden dart below the water and came up spouting at a little distance farther off, and was soon out of view making diagonally toward tle jetties on the eastern shore. There is no doubt but that it was a small black whale which are sometimes seen off our coast, but we believe one never before made an appearance so near our city. Some of our oldest inhabitants may have a knowledge of one however, that put in an appearance a little nearer Fayetteville.

> THE STORY OF "ELIZABETH." -By Miss Thackeray, daughter of William M. Thackeray, Esq., the author of "Vanity Fair," is published this day by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia. Miss Thackeray posesses the happy and rare faculty of writing well, and narrates briefly, without being indistinct; and describes succinctly. without being abrupt. hurried, or ungraceful, Her keen powers of observation are happily exhibited in her "Story of Elizabeth," and in the descriptive scenes in it, she shows her intense sense and appreciation of natural and artistic beauty. It is full of touches of art, has a witching power, and is charactesized by a charming freshness, a refined humor, an artless grace, and exhibts a fine preception of the various shades of character. The volume is sense of sweet awe so vividly as she, or no one gives the thrilling suprises of life with a truer touch. No one could wish a more charming book to read than "The Story Elizabeth," by Miss Thackeray. It is published in a square duodecimo volume, paper cover, price Fifty cents, cloth cover, one dollar a copy, in uniform style with Mrs. Burnett's "Theo," "Kathleen," and "Pretty Polly Pemberton," with Bessie's Six Lovers," with "Two Ways to Matrimony," with "That Girl of Mine," and "That Lover of Mine," with "The Amours of Pillippie," by Octave Feuillet, and with Mrs. Southworth's new and popular novel, "The Red Hill Tragedy," and it will be found for sale by all booksellers. and all railroad trains, or copies of it will be sent to any one, to any place, post-paid, on remitting Fifty cents or One dollar in a letter to the Publishers, T. The Elizabeth City Carolinian says: We had supposed that ability and purity of character-intellectual and moral fitness-were the essential requisites for candidates for Judges of the Supreme Court, but on reading the heatod controversy now going on in the Democratic newspapers of the State, it would seem that no man who isn't an ultra partisan has any show for the nomination. Because Chief Justice Smith has in the excreise of the functions of his high position, resolutely ignored all political influence and partisan bias the Bourbons, from one end of the State to the other, are denouncing him.
