While the Post is ever ready to endorse any ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen that has a tendency to advance the interest of the city or to condemn any act of our City Fathers such, we must pronounce the ordinance passed at the last meeting relative to cattle running at large in the city limits, that the large portion of our citizens who own cattle should be compelled to keep them penned up during this hot weather, simply because a few owners of fine gardens are so careless as to leave open their gates, thus giving free ingress to the few cows who roan our streets, is both burdensome and of this ordinance are not only deprived of the grass with which our woods abound, but the owners are put to a heavier expense in keeping them in their stables. Never since we have beer a resident of this city has such a law been enforced, and we trust that this one will be repealed.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES FOR ALL .-The Great Art Publishing House of George Stingon & Co., of Portland, or of its way, apparently not feeling the dull times. During the year 1878 they sold over Four Million pictures of all descriptions. They publish every description of fine pictures, and the prices range from ten cents upwards to twenty dollars per copy. Their correspondence for this large business is immense; they receive, on an average, over one thousand letters per day. Messrs Stinson & Co. publish only the better class of pictures, and it is well known that anything coming from this reliable house is of standard merit. We have just received copies of four very fine steel engravings, which they have just brought out. The plates were engraved in London, at an expense of four thousand pounds sterling, or twenty thousand dollars, to which great sum must be added the customs duty of twenty-five per cent on account The Rosa capsized before entering of their being imported into the United the race losing her dead balance, for States These engravings are after which cause she was withdrawn on the paintings by great modern masters of art, and the artists who engraved the plates stand in the front rank of the worlds renowned engravers.

It is believed, and generally conceded, that these engravings make up The boats passed the judges at the the finest and most elegent set of H. M. S. American publishers. This enterprising firm, though many years in the Art Publishing business, have not grown old and unprogressive, but on the other hand make improvement and progress year by year, giving the peo H. M. S. ple better and better pictures for the same or less money. They may, we feel sure, fairly claim to stand at the Lead of the Art Publishing business in America. We can only understand the colossal proportions their trade has assumed by remembering that this is a great and mighty nation of nearly fifty million people. We cannot better illustrate the magnitude of their business than to state the amount of money paid by them for postage stamps during years 1876, 1877 and 1878. We have the figures direct from the firm, or we should think there was some error. In 1876, they paid for postage $33,104.62. In 1877, they paid for postage $37,268.76. In 1878 the amount of money that they paid for postage stamps was simply enormous-a little over $50,000 00 .-Stinson & Co. stand among the largest and most judicious advertisers in the county, and a short time since paid in a single day $24,000 00 in cash on a contract for advertising. They employ agents everywhere through out the United State and Dominion of Canada for the sale of their pictures by subscription; we call attention to their advertisement for agents in another column Those who need pleasant, profitable work should correspond with them. Besides paying the large amounts of ostage stated above, their express and freight bills are enormous-only small orders are sent by mail, the larger being sent by express and freight American homes should be made beautiful by refined works of art, and prices for really meritorious pictures are now so low that there can be no excuse for the walls to remain gloomy, unadorned and cheerless. American homes should be made beautiful, and the tendency of this will be to make more refined and beautiful the lives of all dwellers
