OH, SO SICK!

THE DEMOCRACY IS VERY SICK NO CHANCE FOR ITS RECOVERY. STATE RIGHTS TREASON MADE OBLIVIOUS.

LATE GENERAL NEWS.

The latest from Ohio is that Foster's majority is not 20,000, and that the state senate has 22 Republicans to 13 Democrats, and the house 70 Republicans out of 111, which is its full membership. If this is true the Republicans have both houses, and 33 on joint ballot.

Iowa has elected its Governor by 30,000 majority over all, and by 50,000 over the Democrats, and 105,000 over the Greenbackers.

Mrs. Joseph Gales, the widow of the late Joseph Gales, the distinguished editor of the old National Intelligencer, died in Washington on the 15th inst. at the age of 81. Mrs. Gales was one of the Lees of Virginia, was a leader in society, and for many years distinguished for her beauty and accomplishments.

The Ute Indians have all stamped from the scene of the Thorburg battle, and it is not known where they are. Gen. Merritt's command has scouted the country for fifty miles around there, and found nothing. Some think they have gone to the southern Utes, but last news is that they are friendly and had nothing to do with the late fighting. Santa Fe and Tucson dispatches are to the effect that the Apaches are organizing for depredations and have already commenced.

Gov. Jarvis and Tall are in Philadelphia attending the meeting of the Governors of the original thirteen states, held to make arrangements for celebrating the centennial of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

Capt. O. H. Blocker, Internal Revenue Agent, has unearthed extensive revenue frauds in the county of Gaston.

A severe hurricane is reported on the line of the European steamers.

Wheat in Chicago rose to $2.23 and then fell to 1.88 1/2 on Friday. Corn declined 3 cts. and hard fell 20 cts.

A great hurricane in Spain and a six inch snow storm in Austria.

Zach. Chandler in one of his speeches in New York said: In the days of Jackson South Carolina raised the flag of rebellion, and the threat was then made that unless the tariff law was changed to suit a few discontents under Calhoun they would overthrow the government, and General Jackson at once exclaimed: "Let South Carolina commit the first overt act of rebellion against the government, and, by the Eternal, I will hang John C. Calhoun!"

(applause)—and every man, woman and child in America at that time, including Calhoun, knew that he would do it. Then, again, later, rebellion raised its hideous head and threats were daily and hourly made to dissolve the Union. When they said this to Old Ben Wade of Ohio his answer was: "Gentlemen, don't delay it on any account." (Laughter.) But they went into it and were defeated, and we restored to them all their rights of citizenship. We took them to our bosoms as brethren, hoping they had repented of their sins and heresies. We killed for them the fatted calf and invited them to the feast, and they gravely informed us that they had always owned that calf. (Laughter.)

Gen. Grant is in Oregon. The yellow fever having increased is now diminishing.

The Gate City Guards of Atlanta, Ga., are being banqueted in Boston.

The Holbrooks in Carter county, Kentucky, have killed all the male members of the Underwood family, except an old man, who is wounded. No one has been arrested although these murders have been going on for several years. It was a family feud of the most delightful character according to that sort of civilization.

Thirty-six buildings have been burned in Sheldale, New Brunswick. Loss $80,000.

Mr. Ran Tucker says the people of Virginia sustained no damage by abolishing slave property; it was merely taking $1,000 from a white pocket and putting it in a black one. This shows how much he knows of the real condition of the people. The destruction of the labor of the state carried with it the soil. Land has no market value now in Virginia, and as it yields no profit as an investment, is intrinsically worthless. —Richardson Whig Dem.

At a woman's rights convention in session, the Governor and lady gave them a reception, and Ole Bull and Mrs. Bull gave them a concert. Dr. Julia Holmes Smith of Chicago read a paper upon the women of the south in which she said: The need of the south today is a deeper respect for the labor and the money it earns. This sentiment is necessarily of slow growth from former custom and education. The need of the women of the south is encouragement in poverty, loneliness, and sorrow they are working out their own salvation.

The Savannah News says that the cotton crop of Mississippi this year will turn out to be a good one, and the statistician, who is already at work, says that more than fifty per cent of it is produced by white labor. This is one of the most gratifying things we have heard of. If the white labor of the south can be utilized the south may yet grow rich.

JOHN SHERMAN.

The news from Ohio that Charles Foster the Republican candidate for Governor is elected by 20,000 majority over all the Democrats and Greenbackers combined, makes the nomination of Hon. John Sherman by the next National Republican Convention a certainty. It was understood when Foster was nominated that he was Mr. Sherman's candidate and Foster's defeat would be Sherman's defeat. Therefore Foster's election makes Mr. Sherman the strongest candidate who could be nominated by the Republican Convention.

With Sherman as the next Republican candidate we shall carry the election, even if New York should go Democratic. Sherman can and will carry a solid north. He can and will carry North Carolina by a very large majority also. Grant don't want the nomination, and will not take it, and his friends will support Sherman.

OHIO AND IOWA.

The voting of the two great trans-Alleghany states last week was as distinct in its antecedents and its making up, as it is comprehensive and conclusive in its results. The canvasses in both states was conducted openly and boldly upon the issues raised by the conduct of the Democratic Congress at the last session, on the questions cognate to resumption and resumption itself, and on the general principles of Republicanism. And under these conditions the triumph lacks no element of completeness. It is true that Iowa could not be considered debatable ground, so staunch and impregnable is its Republicanism, but the largeness of its vote and the broad volume of its utterance give it significance. In Ohio, however, it was a battle ground. The Democrats employed strategic positions of their own selection. They were assaulted in their own fastnesses, and visited with a rout as complete as it was significant. It was, indeed, a victory of the stalwarts as against the specious pleadings of "free elections," "reform" and the general baseless sophistries of the Democrats.

The fact that on this debatable ground, about which people two months ago were speculating as to chances, the result has been so decisive, goes far toward giving confidence to Republicans everywhere as to the future. It is a premonition of what is to come when the people of the two other great states of New York and Pennsylvania shall echo back the voices from beyond the Alleghenies.

DR. FUG NE GRISSOM.

We had the pleasure of meeting this distinguished gentleman in Raleigh a few days ago. He is in good health and seemed to be enjoying the glorious news from Ohio and Iowa. He looked a fox to the Fair Association for a race. The name of the fox was "Thurman," and they propose to chase the fox as the Republicans chased the foxy old Thurman in Ohio.

Dr. Grissom states that he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, and says he would not accept the nomination if tendered him by the Republican convention. He further states that he is in favor of Judge Buxton. He says Judge Buxton can be elected (if nominated by the Republicans) by a very handsome majority. He says if the Republicans will nominate Buxton he will take hold of the canvass and give it his personal attention. And he has no doubt of the success of the state ticket, if good men are nominated with Buxton. With Buxton as the candidate for Governor and Grissom in charge of the canvass, and Sherman electors in the field success will certainly be ours.

The Democratic party were exceedingly anxious for a complete capture of the southern states from the Republicans. They succeeded by the most flendish outrages ever committed by any people in making the south sectional; but now when the north have put the stamp of condemnation upon their conduct, they (the Democrats) are loud in their prayers for a better feeling between the sections. They shoot colored men and white Republicans; they bulldoze the Republicans of the south from voting; they stuff the ballot boxes to carry elections; they break up Republican public meetings; they enter secret society meetings of the colored people that are not political; they kill the children and outrage the women; they murder the ministers of the Gospel, because they are colored or white Republicans. And then, after all these heinous outrages, they abuse the Union people of the north for being solid. The mills of the Gods grind slowly, but exceeding fine.

The shot gun policy of the Democrats made the south solid for Democratic state rights. Therefore the Democrats can't complain that the north should also be solid for the nation's rights.

The Earl of Mayfield has had a remarkable success. Its publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia, have already issued the fourth edition. The leading papers speak of it in terms of the highest praise, and it has all the appreciation that the most sanguine expectations of the author could have anticipated. It is a decidedly popular romance. For sale by all Booksellers.

We call attention to new advertisements on the fourth page.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The October term of the Criminal Court closed on the 13th, at 6 o'clock P. M., having convened on the 6th ult. Thirty-four jury cases were disposed of, including burglary, perjury, larceny and other minor offenses.

The following were convicted and sentenced to the State Penitentiary: Abram McKenzie, larceny, 3 years. Daniel Richardson, larceny, 10 years each, in two cases. Daniel Brown, larceny, 6 years. Gould Foy, larceny, 3 years. Gabe Everett, larceny, 3 years.

THE SOUTH ATLANTIC.—It is always pleasant to say good words for this, our home monthly, which is deserving of much more support than we fear, it gets. The October number comes to our table with much agreeable reading. General Clingman's notes of "Grandfather Mountain, and Jim Biddle" throws a classic air around a thoroughly mountain character, and relates freshly a story of nearly fifty years ago. "John Davidson's Wife," a story which has been running a long time, is concluded in this number. And Paul Hayne, nearly, if not quite, the first of southern lyrical poets, has a ballad entitled "Dorothy—the Gift of God." We wish Mr. Hayne would improve his style somewhat in such lines as "In the haunts of the sacred dead,"

And,
"A face with its blush-rose, faint,"
And,
"Was the lady whose pity, sweet,"
And other violations of taste, and forced rhymes. But such lines as:
"With the richness of mellowed summer,
And the calm of the golden South,
O'er the lines of the snow-white forehead,
And the curves of the breathless mouth,
are a compensation for many faults.

BULLDOZING.—On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock the editor of this paper left Raleigh. He took a seat in the back end of the last car. There was a lot of country people in the car on their way home to Johnson, Sampson and Tander counties. There were also a young colored man, well dressed, and exceedingly well behaved, sitting in the seat just opposite us, the white men were somewhat intoxicated. About ten miles out from Raleigh the colored man lay his head back on his seat and went to sleep, whereupon a very large white man from Clinton, Sampson county, who was eating an apple, got up and went to the colored man and took a piece of apple out of his own mouth and put it in the colored man's mouth, which gave the colored man (very justly) great offense, and he requested to know what it meant, and protested against such treatment, which aroused the white man and, headed by the fellow from Sampson, they swore that the colored man should leave the car and started to put him out by force, using very emphatic language in the mean time.

When the representative of the Post saw the intention of the kluks gang, he jumped in between the colored man and his would-be assassins, and told them that they could not hurt him. He also made the colored man take a seat and he sat near and protected him to Goldsboro. When the cowardly crowd saw they had some one else to deal with besides a poor defenceless colored man, they all slunk back in their seats except an upstart of a lawyer who was drunk, but he was immediately looked after by a gentleman from Pender. The balance of the crowd satisfied themselves by gritting their teeth and telling the colored man that they "belonged to the kluks and had eaten 20 negroes." We will not publish the names of these contemptible bulldozers unless they should undertake at some future time to repeat this outrageous conduct. It is about time for them to learn that colored men have some rights which should be respected, and at some time when they little expect it they will meet their just reward for imposing upon respectable colored men, for some one will be hurt.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—NEW LAW.—Under the late act of Congress relative to the organization of jurors for the United States Court, Mr. J. S. McQuigg was appointed a Commissioner, by his Honor, Geo. W. Books, Judge of the District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina, to assist the Clerk of said Court to execute the order in compliance with the act. The names of four hundred and fifty-two citizens residing in the counties of New Hanover, Duplin and Brunswick were deposited in a box, from which the following thirty-five names were drawn to act as jurors, and are required to assemble November 4th, 1879, at the U. S. District Court Room, viz: P. Heinsberger, C. D. Morrell, C. Lilly, Norwood Giles, J. H. Durham, E. J. Pennypacker, S. McL. Green, E. B. Wiggins, Morris Bear, A. R. Black, S. A.
