CHARLES W. WARREN--TURNED UP AGAIN.

It gives the exploits of Charles W. Warren, whom our citizens will remember as the general Charley is still on his travels, and has lately been now [illegible] hundredth delusion taken up, and he has fooled a good people of Fall River, Mass., including the Fifth Street Methodists, and some other people of [illegible] and effrontery are [illegible] and he is evidently carrying on the career of humbug- [illegible] deception as he was a few years ago.

W. W. Warren, who recently created a sensation at Globe Village [illegible] temperance orations, [illegible] a few months ago was engaged as a roller work at Lawrence [illegible] Haverhill, where his "usefulness" was [illegible] destroyed by the appearance [illegible] and wife upon the scene of labor, and the insertion, over the [illegible] of a letter setting forth [illegible] had confessed through his negligence [illegible] desertion. When he arrived [illegible] he was accompanied by a [illegible] young lady whom he passed as his wife. After he had delivered [illegible] two lectures he so won his way into the hearts of some of his hearers that the gentleman insisted that he should accept for himself and "wife" the hospitality of his home, and accordingly Warren removed from his hotel [illegible]. It was also thought unreasonable to allow him to labor for nothing, and a voluntary subscription was made and given to him, with a regret that it was not more. He accepted it thankfully, but wished it to be understood that he was impelled by philanthropic and not mercenary motives in the cause, to which he devoted all his time and energies. He was getting along gloriously, and the Young Men's Protestant Temperance Society began to grow interested. He ought not to be allowed to hide his light under a bushel, or in a corner, like Globe Village, and so they graciously tendered him their large hall in the heart of the city. It was accepted. But the fatal paragraph in the Boston Herald appeared on the morning preceding the evening when the lecture was to be given in Concert Hall. After visiting the city, and getting a good first glimpse of the Herald [illegible] he returned back to the house [illegible] and his supposed wife were [illegible] and with some perturbation, in the presence of numerous [illegible], said: "Wife, I've just received a telegram stating that my [illegible] is dying. You must go at once. I will stay to deliver my lecture this evening and follow in the morning." He then procured a hack and departed with his wife. That was the last his friends here saw of him.

Year ending Sept. 30th, 1879, the total receipts of the State $552,839.95 and the total expenses $577,658.45.

Edison's scientific agent and mining expert declares "that North Carolina is absolutely the best field for minerals in the world; that nowhere is there anything like the variety which she furnishes, and, as a rule, they are by far the most perfect specimens known."

On the 1st of October, 1865, the debt of the nation, less the funds in the Treasury, was 2,741,390,922.11. The last debt statement, issued the first of the present month, showed the debt to be $2,016,049,722 83, a reduction of $725,341,199 28 in less than 15 years, or at the rate of $48,356,079.95 a year.

Professor Nordenskjold, the successful Arctic explorer, proposes to turn his discoveries to practical account, by the establishment of regular navigation to the mouth of the Jenesei River in Siberia. He also is of the opinion that communication with the mouth of the River Lena may be regularly established from both Russia and America.

Hall is the only Arctic explorer who spent five Christmases in succession in the ice bound regions of the North. During three of the winters he was absolutely alone with the natives. A sense of fear seems never to have been experienced. Absorbed in his one object, dangers, difficulties and privations found him unswerving. Moreover, to be with the Esquimaux suited him admirably, for upon them he depended largely for information and help in prosecuting his search.

A BILL.

We publish below for the information of our readers, a bill offered in Congress on the 3rd day of December, 1879, by Hon. D. L. Russell, representative from this District, which speaks for itself.

To create a new collection district in North Carolina, and to make Fayetteville a port of entry.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a collection district is hereby created to include so much of the present district of Wilmington, North Carolina, as is situated on the south side of the Cape Fear river.

SEC. 2. That Fayetteville, in said district, is hereby created a port of entry, subject to all the laws, rules, and regulations governing other ports of entry of the United States.

SEC. 3. That a collector shall be appointed for said port of entry who shall reside at Fayetteville, and keep his office there, and who shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury, not to exceed five hundred dollars.

SEC. 4. That the navigable waters of the Cape Fear river are hereby declared to be free and open to all the steamboats or other vessels duly registered or licensed under the laws of the United States which may ply between said port of Fayetteville and any other port of the United States, or any foreign port, or which may navigate said river for any purpose whatever.

SEC. 5. It shall not be lawful for any corporation or persons to exact, or to attempt to exact, tolls or other charges from any steamboat or other vessel, whether under color of any State charter or otherwise, and any person who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars for every such offense.

SEC. 6. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Democracy prefer Grant. Read what the Newbern Democrat says about him:

"Of the three, Grant, Blaine or Sherman, give us Grant every time for two reasons, one is, that we believe of the three he will be the easiest beaten, and the other is, should he be elected, he would certainly be the best man of the three, and would be the least affected by sectional prejudices."

A Democratic paper will never need them let out the secrets of its party. The whole Democratic party want Grant nominated, therefore they are certainly "Booming" him.

Galloway called Ed about it so about the hog when he assault with the pistol was made.

PURCELL HOUSE.—Yesterday the Purcell House was handsomely decorated, and Maj Howell Cobb the proprietor, set out one of the very best dinners that has been spread for many years in any hotel in the state. The bill of fare was gotten up by Messrs. Jackson & Bell, job printers, and was very fine. If you want good eating go to the Purcell House. For good and cheap job printing see Jackson & Bell, on Front street.

ARREST OF A DESPERADO.—Robert Brown alias Henry Mack, colored an escaped prisoner from South Carolina was arrested in this city Monday night last by officer Carr, and a posse selected by himself for the purpose. He is charged with arson and burglary, said to have been committed in the Darlington, S. C., District. He is said to be a desperado and no doubt would have sold his his life very dearly before capture had he not, as he said disposed of his pistol the day of his capture. He was turned over to Sheriff W. P. Cole of Darlington who came after his man.

We clip the following from the Grand Jury's report of Pender County:

Prohibitory liquor laws encircle a large portion of the county, and their benificent influence in lessening crime, decreasing pauperism, and increasing the prosperity any happiness of all classes, are striking features of every township.

Now it is known that there is more murders committed in Pender county than any other in the State, the absurdity of this report will be seen.

This same Grand Jury failed to find a true bill against a white man by the name of Walker for killing a colored man by the name of Bell. But then Bell was only a negro.

HOMICIDE.—A white seaman named William Marey was murdered at a dance house on Nutt street on Christmas morning by his colored paramour, Mary Hall. Marey had a bunch of keys in his possession which the woman claimed and upon his refusal to give them up she became very violent, left the house, borrowed a knife and sought out her victim. On finding him she thrust the blade to his heart, when he fell to the floor and died before medical assistance could be procured. The murderess was arrested and carried to the lock up when she had a hearing on Friday morning and was committed to jail to await her trial before the Criminal Court. Special Coroner Leslie held an inquest over the body of the murdered man and rendered a verdict in accordance with the fact as stated above.

FIRE.—Christmas morning an old hollow sycamore tree on the corner of Third and Market streets was discovered on fire. Promptly extinguished. The dwelling of Mr. F.M. Agostini, on the corner of Seventh and Dock streets, was discovered on fire Xmas morning, but was extinguished before the alarm was given.

FIRE AT ROCKY POINT.—The gin house, cotton press, grist mill and eight bales of cotton were destroyed by fire at Rocky Point last week, the fire supposed to be accidental. It was the property of Messrs. Westbrook & Bros. and the loss is estimated at about $3,000 on which there was no insurance.

THE EXODUS AT HOME.

Meeting of the Executive Conference Committee of the Colored People—Synopsis of Proceedings.

There was a meeting of what is called the "Executive Conference Committee" of the colored people held here last week to consider the subject of the exodus. It appears that the constant emigration of colored laborers from the south, is attracting the attention of the colored people themselves, and giving them serious anxiety.

The Hon. James H. Harris was elected Chairman, and the Hon. Geo. W. Price, Jr., Secretary.

After other business [illegible] Geo. W. Price offered the following [illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] North Carolina, [illegible] material element upon which greatly depends the future prosperity of our State and the development of her unlimited resources; and,

Whereas, such an exodus [illegible] our people [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and
