SHORT AND CHOICE. President Garfield, receiving the Farragut bronze statue in behalf of the Nation, said much in little, and in the best of taste:

ACCEPTANCE OF THE STATUE. President Garfield said:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: It is the singular province of art to break down the timitations which separate the generations of men from each other, and allaw those of past generations to be comrades and associates of those now living. This capital is silently being tilled up with the heroes of other times. Men of three wars have taken their places in stlent eloquence as the guardians and guides of the Nation they loved so well; and as the years pass on these equares and public places will be rendered more and more populous, more and more eloquent, by the presence of dead heroes of other days. From all quarters of the country, from all generations of its, from all portions of its service, these heroes come, by the ministry and mystery of art, to take their places and stand as permanent him we are not informed. But there is guardians of our Nation's glory. To- one thing we do know, Mr. Rufus Galday we come to hait this hero, who loway, the Postmaster, is a Justice of comes from the sea, down from the the Peace, and it is his sworn duty to shroud of his flagship, wreathed with protect the citizens, and if he cannot thesmoke of glory and of victory, bring- do it he should at once resign and al- ahead of any other state in the yield ing sixty years of National life and low some one else to perform the duty of cotton per acre, so says the Raleigh compatriot and perpetual guardian of his Nation's glory. In the name of the Nation, I accept this noble statue; and his country will guard it as he guarded his country. | Applause. |

STATE NEWS.

Statesville American :- There was a large attendance at the meeting of the directors of the Virginia Midland Railroad held here to-day. The hotels in Winston and Salem are crowded with delegates and attendants upon the convention. Eleven delegations were present, representing Anderson, Gaffney City, Spartanburg, Yorkville, Greenville, Unionville, in South Carolina; Statesville, Salisbury, Shelby, Mooreaville, in North Carolina, and Danville, Va., besides a large number of gentlemen from other points, Col. Barbour, president and J. A, Cowan attorney of the Baltimore & Ohio road, were present .--- Pursuant to a call for consultation, issued last week and sent to various places in North and South Carolina, south of this point, a meeting was held to consider the matter of the extension of the Virginia Midland Railroad across North Carolina. Delegates were present, as follows, from South Carolina: Statesville was, of course, largely represented in the meeting, which was called to order in Opera Hall about 11 o'clock. Mayor S A Sharpe, of Statesville, was called to the chair, and J R Caldwell, of the Statesville Landmark, T. Stobo Farrow, of the Spartauburg Herald, Charles R.
