

Falsehood exposed. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26, '82.

To the Editor of the Observer: I have had my attention called to an article in the Charlotte Observer purporting to be a correspondence from Washington, bearing date June 20th, and signed "Pickup."

The statements contained in this article are a tissue of falsehood unequalled in any publication I have seen for many years in any newspaper.

The falsehood is not only in the statement of facts, but in the very coloring and dressing which this miserable fabricator has given his effusion.

The vouchers bearing Kestler's name were for a part of the year 1872, ten years ago, and just after I took the office of collector.

But these lies were not only put in a sort of preliminary to the malicious lies which he meant to follow. He says that the production of the other vouchers was "unexpected" to me.

How could this puppy know that the production of the vouchers was unexpected by me? In point of fact the vouchers in 1872 in Kestler's name were the subject of the most rigid investigation by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue years ago.

The matter of the mistake of Mr. Clarke having been fully investigated by the proper authorities years ago, and the report of the special agent having been previously procured by Senator Vance from the Department and put in before the committee, I had full notice that it was to be made a part of the investigation, and Mr. Clarke was retained here for the express purpose of explaining the matter.

This was all explained in the press and full hearing of the lying dog who penned this article, and yet he goes on to picture in the balance of his article an imaginary scene in the committee room, which makes a climax to this disgraceful performance.

to make their bread by imposing their sensational lies upon persons and newspapers at a distance from the capital, whose limited acquaintance with the affairs and modes of proceeding...

I feel sure that you will do me the justice to insert this letter in your paper, and I beg that you will make allowance for the language used in speaking of this miserable fellow.

Very respectfully, J. J. MOTT. PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

Rules and Regulations for the Organization of the Republican Party of North Carolina: We republish below the plan of organization adopted by the Republican State convention in 1880...

I. County Organization.—The election precinct shall be the unit of county organization. Each precinct shall have an executive committee consisting of three active Republicans.

II. Congressional, Judicial and Senatorial Districts.—There shall be a congressional, judicial and senatorial district committee, composed of not less than one member from each county...

III. State Executive committee.—There shall be a State Executive committee, composed of one member from each congressional district in the state, to be designated by the district delegations in State convention assembled.

IV. The chairman of the respective county, district and State Executive committees shall call their conventions to order and act as temporary chairmen until a permanent organization is affected...

V. No executive committee shall have power to elect or appoint delegates to any convention, whether county, district, State or National.

VI. No member of an executive committee or delegate or alternate duly chosen shall have power to delegate his trust or authority to another.

VII. Representation.—Representation in county conventions shall consist of three Republican voters as delegates, and three as alternates, from each precinct in the county, and no more.

VIII. Representation in congressional, judicial, senatorial and State conventions shall consist of two delegates and two alternates only, for every member of the lower House of the General Assembly and shall be apportioned in the several counties accordingly.

IX. Delegates and alternates to county conventions shall be elected only by a vote of the Republicans of each precinct in precinct meeting assembled; and delegates and alternates to district, State and National conventions shall be elected by a convention of delegates duly elected and sent by the people for that purpose after due notice and publication of not less than fifteen days...

X. The certificate of the chairman and secretary of the meeting, setting forth regularly of the primary meeting or convention, and the election of the delegate and alternate thereat, shall be accepted, when uncontroverted, as a good and sufficient credential for such delegate and alternate.
