

Irish Convention at Philadelphia.
 (From the Morning Star's Telegrams.)
 PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—The convention of the Irish National Land League was called to order, in Horticultural Hall, at five minutes past 12, by the President Jas. A. Mooney, of Buffalo. He announced that for the benefit of the press, and the general convenience, each gentleman would, on rising, to address the Chair, announce his name and state.
 Patrick Egan, Fathers Cronin and Walsh, and a number of distinguished Leaguers, together with a group of lady delegates, took seats upon the stage.
 The convention, organized by the selection of the following temporary officers: President, Jas. A. Mooney, of Buffalo; President of the Irish Land League of the United States; Secretary, J. J. Hynes, Secretary of the Irish League of the United States; Assistant Secretaries, W. T. Sheahan, of Buffalo, and D. O'Connell, of Washington, D. C. There were no Vice Presidents.
 The galleries were filled with spectators. Frank Byrne, the recent dynamite refugee from Paris, occupied a seat in the balcony, he and his wife being here as spectators.
 Among the lady delegates were Mrs. Diggs and Miss Hettie McCreary, delegates from the Central Branch of New York city; Mrs. Dr. Kelly, Miss Mary E. Callahan, Miss Kitty Fitzgerald, of the St. Louis Lady's Land League; and Miss Alice Gallagher of the Parnell of St. Louis; and twenty-one female delegates from seven female Land League branches of this city.
 The object of the convention of the Irish National Land League of America, which was called to order in Horticultural Hall, this morning, is to wind up the affairs of that body and merge it with another body whose scope will be broader and more far-reaching. The Land League now organized itself only with a view to the relief of Ireland, and not with those of national and local self government. The new organization will grapple with all three of these questions, and some others besides. Today's convention will first endorse the policy pursued by Parnell in his efforts on behalf of Ireland. It will then endeavor to devise plans for the organization of the Irish race in America, and consist of duly accepted delegates from various branches, charitable and other Irish societies in America. The call for this second convention states its object to be to form a new league after the plan of the National League of Ireland, which will blend into one organization all the Irish societies of the United States and Canada. The new organization to be affiliated with the Irish National League of Ireland. The principles of the National League of Ireland, which were formed in Dublin in October last, are as follows: National self government; land law reform; local self government; extension of Parliamentary and municipal franchises; and the development and encouragement of Irish art and industry.
 The decorations of the hall are tasteful. Pictures, busts and statues of Washington, Parnell, Davitt, Irish Society banners, American flags fringed with green garlands and immortelles, union of green and orange, streamers of red, white and blue, and an American eagle, composed the ornaments. Across the front, proscenium arch is the Irish legend "God and my father"—a hundred thousands welcome. The body of the hall will seat 1,100 and is reserved for the delegates. The balconies, with a seating capacity of 500, are for spectators.
 At the conclusion of President Mooney's speech the temporary officers were made officers of the permanent organization.
 A committee on credentials was appointed and a recess was taken until 2:30 o'clock.
 O'Donovan Rossa was present during the morning for a while, seated at the reporter's table, having been admitted as a representative of his paper, the United Irishman. He was very quiet and took notes occasionally.
 Mrs. Parnell entered the hall about 2:30 and was greeted warmly, all present rising to their feet and cheering.—She went on the stage and took a seat near the secretary's table, and was formally introduced as the mother of the great Irish leader. She will be here during the remainder of the week, but will make no public address or speech of any kind. She was escorted on the stage by Mooney and Egan.
 During the recess a dispatch purporting to come from the Pope created some amusement among those on the stage. It was generally received as a hoax. It offered to excommunicate Irish Catholics attacking England during this convention on the ground of England's liberality to all religions.
 The convention was called to order again in the evening, and the committee on credentials reported that all the credentials were acted upon favorably.
 A committee was appointed, of one delegate from each state represented in the convention, to prepare a plan of merger with the National Irish League, which is to meet in convention to-morrow.
 A motion that all other matters concerning the reorganization of the League and all resolutions be referred to the above committee, was carried.
 It is strange that some sharp American newspaper man never thought of a scheme recently adopted by the proprietors of the Gaulois of Paris. They have announced that they will insure the life of each subscriber against railway accidents, or other accidents of travel to the amount of $1,000, and a proportionate sum for injuries not fatal. This includes the purchaser of even a single copy provided the accident occurs on the day he bought the paper. This puts American newspaper enterprises to the blush.—Journal Observer.
