OFF FOR THE MOUNTAINS.

Just before the excursion train left the C.C. Depot this morning, there could have been seen making his way through the crowd a portly looking gentleman with something less than four reams of paper prejecting from his pocket and a Centennial pencil adoraing his car. We will not trouble our readers to guess who he was. but will state at once that it was our his Editor. He has left us for a three day's trip up in the mountains, for the purpose of recuperating, and giving a little recreation to his weary brain.

"Lift him up gently" and treat him kindly, our Mountain friends; give him as much butter-milk and clabber as he wishes, for we want to see him return to his sanctum well pleased with his trip, weighing many pounds more, and with all the paper he carried, and more too, filled with pen and ink sketches. If he don't, we are ready to fight the whole of Western North Carolina.

A Quaint Old Bill.

The following curious account for restoring a chapel was engraved in French The good folks up in Wilson turned out all over last Thursday to receive the next Lieutenant Governor and whole was placed on a scroll less than an inch square. A painter had been employed to repair a number of pictures in a convent; he did it and presented his ball in full for 59 francs and 11 centimes to the curate, who refused to pay it, sayme that the committee would require a full detail. The painter produced it as Frightful Death.

The unpatural habit of kissing dogs has been the cause of a horrible death to a young lady. Lady M., a Berlin paper tells us, had for some time been afflicted with periodical indisposition, frequently becoming so serious as to produce swelling of the abdomen. The medicines prescribed by physicians availed nothing, and as little benefit did the patient receive from visiting, several years, watering places of established reputation. On the contrary, the malady grew to be so intolerable that, upon conference held, phy-stopped, and every effort is being sicians called in Privy Counselor Wilms | made to catch him. for a consultation. This physician, observing the sick lady for some time, and after having propounded several ques-tions, suddenly asked:

"Has this lady, perhaps, a dog?" Surprised at such a question, her friends shook their heads negatively. "But did she ever have one?" the physician continued. "Yes, some three years age," was the

"And the lady certainly allowed the dog to kiss her once in a while?" Mr. Wilms asked. It, too, had to be admitted, when the doctor felt fully satisfied of the cause of the indisposition. He concluded that in kissing the dog bladder worms-infinitesimal animals with which none but sick dogs are troubled, as usually-were made to pass into the liver of the patient. Rambles about the W. & W. R. R. Various Improvements going on.

On yesterday we took occasion to visit the W. & W. R. R. for the purpose of noticing the many improvements that are going on. We noticed that every one was hard at work, and that there is more industry there at present than anywhere else in the city. The work of demolishing the Union Depot is almost comof meat, the property of Thos. H. Smith ; pleted, and e're long the work of putting will be commenced. The new depot is to be situated on the embankment on which the shops now are, at the end of Front street. Its length will be about 350 feet, and its breadth 50 feet, the latter about one half the breadth of the Union Depot. The entrance will be by the bridge at the head of Front street, over the tracks below. No carriages or wagons will be allowed to pass over the bridge, but will stop at the foot of it, the passengers will walk over, and the freight be conveyed by means of trucks over the bridge to the depot. It has only been about three weeks since, that an old car shed on the embankment was torn down Onslow, at _____. Aug. 5, to make way for the new depot. The old stone wall on the North side of the tracks below the bridge, which has been standing there for many years, is now being extended about 66 feet, and being built as high as the embankment, for the purpose of supporting it.

In digging down for the purpose of making the grade lower, leading from the old shed to the Union Depot, was unearthed between Second and Third streets. the foundation of
