LOOK TO THE INTERESTS OF OUR OWN PORTS .-

We copy the following from the Raleigh Sentinel of yesterday, to draw the attention of all concerned to what it legitimately imports.

Great efforts are now making to draw trade from the ports of this State, south of us through South Carolina, and north of us through Virginia. Now we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are the advocates of the most comprehensive system of free untrammeled trade. We do not think that trade can be conrolled by legislation, or that it will flow where we wish it, in violation of its own inevocable laws. We desire free trade, and we know trade will seek and find the shortest and the cheapest route to market.

If we sit supinely down and feel satisfied that trade should come in this direction or go in that, without regard to the conditions of shortness of route, rapidity of transportation, and cost, we simply accomplish nothing. Trade rolls on in its legitimate channel, unmindful

The simple question is, will the railroads and shipping interests of North Carolina, particularly of this section of the State, suffer trade and commerce to slip through their fingers, if they can prevent it? We would ask this question of the merchants, too, but that we know they have no voice in the mat-classes we have named. And then the next question is, Is not trade slipping through their MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY .- Washington Herring, colored, charged with being a suspi cious character was the first case tried yesterday. There was but little evidence against the accused. He, however, acknowledged being out at a late hour on the previous night, and also to having taken on rather too heavy a load of bad whisky. The Mayor, after admonishing him of the impropriety of so doing, dismissed him; he promsing to sin no more in those particulars.

Oscar Brown, colored, was next arraigned for driving on the wrong side of the street, To this charge Oscar pleaded ignorance of the law. The Mayor informed him that he could not dispense that article gratuitously, and therefore charged him fifty cents for this his

Mr. R. C. Kehoe, summoned to answer for driving between Middle street Market and the Dock, was dismissed; the Mayor not deeming the evidence sufficient to convict.

The City Clerk appeared to have his hands full, issuing licenses to saloon keepers, hucksters, draymen, &c., &c.

IMPORTANT ARREST .- A man who gives the name of Andrew Mercer was arrested here yesterday under the following circumstances: train, night before last, where he created suspicion. He left immediately on foot in the direction of Newbern; and on the departure, yesterday morning, of the Newbern train from Goldsboro', parties were put upon the alert to see if Mercer would take the train by the way. Mercer did get on the train, but on nearing Newbern he was observed to jump off. Information was at once given to the police here, when the train stopped, and one or two of the force started in pursuit, but failed to come up is now in the city jail.

will probably transpire this morning at the Mayor's office.

ANOTHER ROBBERY - Yesterday, between breakfast and dinner hours, the residence of Mr. John Pearce, on George street, near the Soldier's Burying Ground, was entered by thieves and robbed of about five hundred dollars worth of clething, a gold watch, ten or twelve dollars in specie and a revolver, and perhaps other property. The thieves broke open a back window and entered, and as Mr. P. was at his place of business, and no one else at home, they helped themselves to what they found, without let or hindrance. The police were promptly notified of this robbery, and it is more than likely that the rogues will be caught. We hope they may be severely pun-

PERSONAL. - We omitted, inadvertently, to acknowledge a visit to our sanctum, on Thursday, by R P. Waring, Esq., the able and fearless editor of the Charlotte Times, Our friend was in the enjoyment of excellent health, and he left us with the assurance that his paper is in a flourishing condition, and that he himself, has quite recovered from his recent arrest and five hundred dollars fine, at the hands of the military authorities.

ASA HARTZ'S BABIES have been in Charlotte. The Times of that city thus speaks of them and their daddy:

"We were very sorry that the inclemency of the weather prevented a fuller attendance upon the lecture of our friend "Asa Hartz " The subject was a novel one, and was handled in a very novel way."

Babies, though common in the family circle, and there occupy a high and important position, are seldom introduced to society until they are grown up, when they are left to take care of themselves; but our friend "Asa" thinks they are deserving of public notice from the moment they open their little peepers to the light. He has therefore afforded them a lecture, in which the various stages of Baby-hood are discussed in his own unique style. Verily, our friend "Asa" is a "fellow of infinite jest." In order to appreciate this lecture, like Doctor Irvines lecture ou "Cock Robin," it must be heard. No synopsis will afford the public any idea of its sprightliness and superabounding humor.

As a lecturer we think " Asa" will do. We trust his bachelor hearers were greatly edified, and will be inclined to covet those connubial ties which were the subject of his lecture.
