ANOTHER LETTER FROM LIEUTENANT-GENERAL LONGSTREET.

He Unites with the Republican Party in the Great Work of Reconstruction.
NEW ORLEANS, May 16, 1867.
General James Longstreet: General:—In your admirable letter of the 6th ultimo you remark that "our efforts at reconstruction will be vain and useless unless we embark in the enterprise with the sincerity of purpose which will command success." The spirit which inspired the above paragraph, together with the fact that thousands of brave soldiers are still ready to follow their leader wherever he may see fit to call them, has emboldened me to extend to you an invitation to attend a mass meeting on Lafayette Square to-morrow evening, at which the Hon. Henry Wilson, a distinguished leader in the Republican party, will address the citizens of New Orleans. As soldiers, we were opposed to each other during the late war; but as citizens we are now united in efforts to restore Louisiana to her former position in the Union through the party now in power, and which in all probability will retain power for many years to come.
If you accept I shall be glad to hear your views on the condition of public affairs.
Respectfully yours, etc.,
JOHN M. G. PARKER.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 3, 1867.
J. M. G. Parker, Esq.: My Dear Sir:—Your esteemed favor of the 16th ultimo was duly received. I was much pleased to have the opportunity to hear Senator Wilson, and was agreeably surprised to meet such fairness and frankness in a politician whom I have been taught to believe uncompromisingly opposed to the white people of the South.
I have maturely considered your suggestion to "wisely unite in efforts to restore Louisiana to her former position in the Union, through the party now in power." My letter of the 6th of April, to which you refer, clearly indicates a desire for practical reconstruction and reconciliation. Practical men can surely distinguish between practical reconstruction and reconstruction as an abstract question. I will endeavor, however, with renewed energy, to meet your wishes in the matter. The serious difficulty that I apprehend is the want of that wisdom which is necessary for the great work. I shall be happy to work in any harness that promises relief to our distressed people and harmony to the nation. It matters not whether I bear the mantle of Mr.
Davis or the mantle of Mr. Sumner, so that I may help to bring the glory of "peace and good-will toward men." I shall set out by assuming a proposition that I hold to be self-evident, viz: The highest of human laws is the law that is established by appeal to arms. The great principles that divided political parties prior to the war were thoroughly discussed by our wisest statesmen. When argument was exhausted resort was had to compromise. When compromise was unavailing, discussion was renewed and expedients were sought, but none could be found to suit the emergency. Appeal was finally made to the sword, to determine which of the claims was the true construction of constitutional law. The sword has decided in favor of the North, and what they claimed as principles cease to be principles, and are become law. The views that we hold cease to be principles because they are opposed to law. It is therefore our duty to abandon ideas that are obsolete and conform to the requirements of law. The Military bill, and amendments, are peace offerings. We should accept them as such, and place ourselves upon them as the starting point from which to meet future political issues as they arise. Like other Southern men, I naturally sought alliance with the Democratic party, merely because it was opposed to the Republican party. But as far as I can judge, there is nothing tangible about it, except the issues that were staked upon the war and there lost.
Finding nothing to take hold of except prejudice, which cannot be worked into good for any one, it is proper and right that I should seek some standpoint from which good may be done. If I appreciate the principles of the Democratic party, its prominent features oppose the enfranchisement of the colored man, and deny the right to legislate upon the subject of suffrage, except by the States, individually. These two features have a tendency to exclude Southern men from that party; for the colored man is already unfranchised here, and we cannot seek alliance with a party that would restrict his rights. The exclusive right of the States to legislate upon suffrage will make the enfranchisement of the blacks, whether for better or for worse, a fixture among us.

It appears, therefore, that those who cry loudest against this new order of things as a public calamity are those whose principles would fix it upon us without a remedy. Hence it becomes us to insist that suffrage should be extended in all the States, and fully tested. The people of the North should adopt what they have forced upon us; and if it be proved to be a mistake, they should remove it by the remedy under republican principles of uniform laws upon suffrage.
If every man in the country will meet the crisis with a proper appreciation of our condition, and come fairly up to his responsibilities, on to-morrow the sun will smile upon a happy people, our fields will again begin to yield their increase, our railroads and rivers will teem with abundant commerce, our towns and cities will resound with the tumult of trade, and we shall be invigorated by the blessings of Almighty God. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your most obedient servant.

JAMES LONGSTREET.

MANY THINGS.

Among the most traditional scourges of our schools are long hours, studying at home, and the vicious practice of cramming. In many of the schools of Massachusetts the three Herodian agencies are in full operation—destroying the constitution, blasting the happiness and abridging the needed pleasures of youth.—Boston Transcript.

Hon. Henry J. Raymond, the editor of the New York Times, is probably the most rapid writer in the United States. Some of his feats of rapid writing for the columns of his paper have passed into the record of newspaper wonders—noticeably that of his obituary of Daniel Webster, which was written in ten or twelve hours, and made sixteen columns of the Times.

A girl in Springfield, Mass., applied to her teacher for leave to be absent half a day, on the plea that they had company at home. The teacher referred her to the printed list of reasons that the school committee think sufficient to justify absence, and asked her if her case come under any of them. She naively replied that it might come under the head of "domestic affliction."

Here's elegance for you: Does the felon of the Express want us to publish certain records of the Criminal Court of Dauphin county; to paint his picture as an apostate apostle of temperance; to prove what an arrant hypocrite he is while making loud professions of Christianity, and to show him up as he really is?
If he continues to act the blackguard we will surely do so. For the sake of his family we forbear yet a little while.

San Francisco is in proportion to its size the busiest seaport in the world.
The annual exports are about $70,000, 000, the imports nearly as much; the manufactures are worth nearly $20,000, 000, the real estate sales amount to about $12,000,000, and the cash value of the city is about $200,000,000, although assessed for taxation at only $80,000,000.
It sends away about forty tons of silver and six tons of gold every month—the former metal in bars fifteen inches long and five inches square; the latter in small bars about six inches long, three inches wide, and two inches thick. Wagons loaded with the precious metals are seen in the streets nearly every day.

The Iowa State Register, in commentary on the exultations of the Richmond press over the late great rebel victory, in the acquittal of high-treason Davis, says:
"Those Richmond editors were never lacking in 'gorgeousness.' If they attempted to describe a dog fight, they would throw a drag-net over such a mass of tropes, drawn from poetry, mythology and history, snaking them in by the neck and heels, that the dogs were generally smothered out of sight in the magnificence of the descriptions. But the ecstacy of these journalists is in this instance so great that their language by comparison seems tame."

"This world is all a cattle show For man's amusement given;
And some cry goe and some cry whos;
And some go fast and some go slow, As back and forward driven."

When the steamer Wisconsin was burning on Lake Ontario, one of the passengers—Mrs. Richards, of Manchester, N. H. was left with an infant on board.
The cabin boy, Warren Tracy, of Ogdens-burg, offered to jump overboard and swim ashore with the infant. The boy being perfectly cool, the mother reposed confidence in him, and handed him the infant.
He immediately jumped into the water, and notwithstanding he was partially stunned by some one who jumped upon him from the wreck, he reached the shore in safety with his charge. The joy of the mother, who was the last but one to leave the steamer, on reaching the shore and finding her child safe, can be better imagined than described.

A cautious fossil has been discovered in Illinois. It is a jaw of a large fish, or perhaps a reptile, about a foot in length with sharp serrated teeth, eight in number, all remaining in their normal position in the jaw—a massive bone structure more than two inches in diameter. It is one of the most remarkable fossils ever discovered in the coal measures of this country, and is quite unique.

Special Notices.

SW This is truly the "age of progress," and the American people are, beyond doubt, far ahead of all others. This is clearly demonstrated by the Sewing Machine—which is, strictly speaking, an American invention.
In this branch of manufacture, the EMPIRE SEWING MACHINE CO., office 635 Broadway, New York City, stands pre-eminent. Their "Improved Manufacturing Machine" has no rival. It is built on sound mechanical principles—in simple construction—easily understood, and not liable to get out of order.
Its sewing quality, particularly on cloth and leather, cannot be equalled; and as such, we recommend it to our friends and the public generally.

ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished
AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST, Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She states to happiness those who, from domestic crosses, con-tempion, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. This brings together those long separated, and restores concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells the business you are best called to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reveals those mysterious and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcast or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the firmament at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Full not to consult the greatest Astrophologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity.
Consultation free, with likeness and all detailed information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction. Let themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and illnesses indicated, sent by mail on receipt of the proper sum.

correspondence returned or destroyed. Return of the highest order furnished. Descriptions of your health,
