SUPPLEMENTAL RECONSTRUCTION

Bill as Passed by both Houses of Congress, July 13th, 1867. WASHINGTON, July 13th, 1867.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it is hereby declared to have been the true intent and meaning of the act of the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, entitled "an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," and of the act supplementary thereto, passed on the twenty-third day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, that the governments then existing in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas, were not legal State governments, and that thereafter said governments, if continued, were continued subject, in all respects, to the Military Commanders of the respective districts, and to the paramount authority of Congress. Sec. 2. That the Commander of any District named in said act shall have power, subject to the disapproval of the General of the Army of the United States, to have effect till disapproved whenever, in the opinion of such Commander, the proper administration of said act shall require it, to suspend or remove from office, or from the performance of official duties, and the exercise of official powers, any officer or person holding or exercising, or professing to hold or exercise, any civil or military office or duty in such district, under any power, election, appointment or authority derived from or granted by, or claimed under, or any municipal or other provision thereof, and upon such suspension or removal, such Commander, subject to the disapproval of the General as aforesaid, shall have power to provide, from time to time, for the performance of the said duties of such officer or person so suspended or removed, by the detail of some competent officer or soldier of the army, or by the appointment of some other person to perform the same, and to fill vacancies occasioned by death, resignation or otherwise. Sec. 3. That the members of the army of the United States shall be invested with all the powers of suspension, removal, appointment and detail granted in the preceding section to District Commanders. Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That the acts of the officers of the army already done in removing in said districts persons exercising the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead, are hereby confirmed. Provided, That no person hereafter appointed by any District Commander to exercise the functions of any civil officer in command of the district, or by the General of the Army, and it shall be the duty of said Commanders to remove from office, as aforesaid, all persons who are disloyal to the government of the United States or who use their official influence in any manner to obstruct, prevent or obstruct the due and proper administration of this act, and the acts to which it is supplementary. Sec. 5. That the boards of registration provided for in the act entitled, "an act supplementary to the act of the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven," passed March 23rd, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to ascertain, upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question, and no person shall be registered unless such board shall decide that he is entitled thereto; and such board shall also have power to examine, and to administer by any member of such board, any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration, but in every case of a refusal by the board to register an applicant, and in every case of striking his name from the list as hereinafter provided, the board shall make a note or memorandum, which shall be returned with the registration list to the Commanding General of the District, setting forth the grounds of such refusal, or such striking from the list. Provided, That no person shall be disqualified as a member of any board of registration by reason of race or color. Sec. 6. That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act, is, among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken the oath prescribed in the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion, or had held it before, and who was afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote, and the words executive or judicial officer in any State in said act mentioned, shall be construed to include all such offices created by law, or the administration of any general law of a State or for the administration of justice. Sec. 7. That the time for completing the original registration, provided for in said act, may, in the discretion of the commander of any District, be extended to the 1st day of October, 1867, and the boards of registration shall have power, and it shall be their duty, commencing fourteen days prior to any election under said act, and upon reasonable public notice of the time and place thereof, to revise, for a period of five days, the registration lists, and upon being satisfied that any persons not entitled thereto, have been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list; and such board shall also, during the same period add to such registry the names of all persons who at that time possess the qualifications required by said act, who have not been already registered, and no person shall at any time be entitled to be registered or to vote for any executive or judicial office in any State, or to hold any office in any State, or to exercise any office in any State, which, at the time of his registration, he has disqualified him from registration or voting. Sec. 8. That section four of said last named act shall be construed to authorize the Commanding General named therein whenever he shall deem it useful to remove any member of registration and to appoint another in his stead and to fill any vacancy in said board. Sec. 9. That all members of said boards of registration and all persons hereafter elected or appointed to office in said military districts under any so-called State or municipal authority, or by detail or appointment of the District Commanders shall be required to take and to subscribe the oath of office prescribed by law for officers of the United States. Sec. 10. That no member, commander or member of the board of registration, or any of the officers or appointees acting under them shall be bound in his action by any opinion of any civil officer of the United States. Sec. 11. That all the provisions of this act and the acts to which this is supplementary shall be construed liberally to the end, that all the intents thereof may be fully and perfectly carried out.

RECONSTRUCTION MEASURES.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT. The following is a correct copy of the amendment proposed as Article XIV of the Constitution of the United States, as the same is contained in the bill of reconstruction adopted by Congress, and published for general information and reference. The amendment has up to this date (April 4) been ratified by the following States: Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin—21 in all. The amendment has been rejected by the Legislatures of Delaware, Maryland and Kentucky, and by all the unratified States, to-wit: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, and Florida.

ARTICLE XIV. Sec. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States shall be citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for the punishment of rebellion or insurrection, or participation therein, or aid therein, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State. Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or any officer or public official, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House remove such disability. Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for the payment of military or naval debts, and for the suppression of insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation for interest on any slave or for the loss or emancipation of any slave, but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void. Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

BILL FOR RECONSTRUCTION.

The following is Senator Sherman's substitute for Stevens' bill, with Wilson's and Shellbarger's amendments in the House, as it was finally passed. Wilson's amendment is the latter portion of section five, commencing at the word "provided." The sixth section is Shellbarger's amendment: Sec. 1. That the President shall have power to call to his aid such efficient government officers as he may deem necessary for the execution of the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead, are hereby confirmed. Sec. 2. That the boards of registration provided for in the act entitled, "an act supplementary to the act of the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven," passed March 23rd, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to ascertain, upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question, and no person shall be registered unless such board shall decide that he is entitled thereto; and such board shall also have power to examine, and to administer by any member of such board, any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration, but in every case of a refusal by the board to register an applicant, and in every case of striking his name from the list as hereinafter provided, the board shall make a note or memorandum, which shall be returned with the registration list to the Commanding General of the District, setting forth the grounds of such refusal, or such striking from the list. Sec. 3. That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act, is, among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken the oath prescribed in the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion, or had held it before, and who was afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote, and the words executive or judicial officer in any State in said act mentioned, shall be construed to include all such offices created by law, or the administration of any general law of a State or for the administration of justice. Sec. 4. That the time for completing the original registration, provided for in said act, may, in the discretion of the commander of any District, be extended to the 1st day of October, 1867, and the boards of registration shall have power, and it shall be their duty, commencing and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and all persons shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments, who have taken the oath prescribed in the provisions of the third article of said constitution amendment. SUPPLEMENTARY RECONSTRUCTION BILL. The following is a copy of the bill as it finally passed both Houses of Congress, and approved March 23rd, 1867. Sec. 1. That the President shall have power to call to his aid such efficient government officers as he may deem necessary for the execution of the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead, are hereby confirmed. Sec. 2. That the boards of registration provided for in the act entitled, "an act supplementary to the act of the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven," passed March 23rd, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to ascertain, upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question, and no person shall be registered unless such board shall decide that he is entitled thereto; and such board shall also have power to examine, and to administer by any member of such board, any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration, but in every case of a refusal by the board to register an applicant, and in every case of striking his name from the list as hereinafter provided, the board shall make a note or memorandum, which shall be returned with the registration list to the Commanding General of the District, setting forth the grounds of such refusal, or such striking from the list. Sec. 3. That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act, is, among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken the oath prescribed in the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion, or had held it before, and who was afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote, and the words executive or judicial officer in any State in said act mentioned, shall be construed to include all such offices created by law, or the administration of any general law of a State or for the administration of justice. Sec. 4.
