

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1868.

Let our laws and Constitutions speak not of white men, not of red men, not of black men, not of men of any complexion; but, like the laws of God, the Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer, let them speak of the PEOPLE.—HORACE MAYNARD.

Those who deny freedom to others, deserve it not for themselves, and under a just God cannot long retain it.—ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

IMPORTANCE OF THE NEXT SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

In the event of General GRANT'S success, the coming session of the Legislature of North Carolina will be more important to every citizen, white and colored than any session ever preceeding it.

The triumph of the Republican Party will, in the first place, settle the question as to the permanency and stability of our new and free Constitution. The revolutionary projects of Blair and his adherents will have been entirely exploded.

On the Legislature that is to convene during the approaching winter will devolve the great responsibility of carrying into practical operation through properly framed laws, the various articles and provisions of the new Constitution. This will be a work that will tax to the utmost the wisdom and best legal ability in the Legislature. It should be remembered by every one, that the Constitution without appropriate and necessary legislation, would, in many respects be a sort of dead letter. A new election law is needed.

A comprehensive law, establishing a Free School System is required. The great and vital subject of taxation will demand attention. These, and many other matters of the greatest moment to us all, must be disposed of in order to put our next government into full and practical working order.

THE ENEMY AT WORK. It is really amusing, as well as disgusting, to witness the sudden burst of friendship on the part of a few secessionists and Democrats, herabouts, toward some of the colored men.

With the anxious hope that a permanent division may be gotten up in the Republican ranks, in relation to the legislative ticket, we learn that Democrats who have always denounced the right of the colored man to vote or hold office, are now running to them and fairly begging of them to bolt the regular Republican nomination for the House of Representatives.

Some of these Frank Blair Democrats go so far, we understand, as to say that their own candidate, Biddle, shall be thrown overboard, if the colored voters will only insure a permanent split in the Republican ranks. COLORED REPUBLICANS! we appeal to you to say whether you have not seen about enough of this cajoling and wheedling on the part of these Democratic wire-workers.

Every one who thus approaches you is bitterly opposed to GRANT and COLFAX. They all go for FRANK BLAIR, and you know how Blair would deal with your dearest interests in case he could get power. When these Democrats can show by substantial acts of friendship that they mean to stand by the rights conferred upon you exclusively by Republicans, then and not until then, will it be time to listen to them in political matters. They will stand watching now, as heretofore. They mean nothing but evil to the Republican party, and you know it.

REPUBLICANS OF EDGEcombe AROUSED! Great Republican Mass-Meeting!! The Republican Meeting at Tarboro on Thursday last was a grand out-pouring of the masses. Fifteen hundred persons were present. Able and eloquent speeches were made by Gen. Byron Laflyn, Gen. Brogden and J. M. Langston, Esq. The Republican spirit, both in Edgecombe and Pitt, is fully aroused. The combined Republican majority of the two counties will be so great as to gladden every patriotic heart. Old CRAVEN will have to look to her laurels.

"ONE FIRE MORE, BOYS!" At the critical hour in the battle of the Thames, General Harrison, full of enthusiasm, rode forward and exclaimed: "One fire more, boys, and the day is ours!" While the republicans of Craven intend to use paper ballots, instead of leaden bullets, we commend the rallying cry of Harrison to them. Just one more united fire along our entire ranks, and we will again be able to send the tidings of a splendid victory to our friends. We know our opponents would like very well to effect a breach somewhere in our ranks, but we must not think, for a moment, of allowing such a disaster.

The lustre of the two grand victories we heretofore achieved, must not be dimmed now when GRANT and COLFAX are in the field. From almost every direction we receive tidings of the most cheering character. The prospects of the Republican party in eastern North Carolina, have strengthened greatly within the past week. We say what we know. Now is the time to close up and move solidly and steadily on to victory.

"The issue is Peace or War, and therefore I will support Grant and Colfax."—HON. NAT. BOYDEN.

Encourage Home Manufacture, and go to Baer & Eppler's and get your suit made to order for less than you can buy one ready made.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS! Grant is your friend. He gave you all honorable terms of surrender, bid you go home, obey the laws, be good citizens and you should not be hurt. This pledge he has kept, even against President Johnson, when he wanted Lee and others tried and punished for treason. Grant said no to the suits—let Lee, all the Generals and soldiers, stay as long as they keep their paroles. It was Grant that set Gurley at liberty, because he was innocent of McCook's death. It was Grant's influence that sent bread and meat to thousands of poor Confederate wives and children. It was Grant who put an end to the war, reduced soldiers into citizens, brought the Union together, opened the channels of trade again, put an end to the immense expenditures, and gave to labor its security and just rewards. Gen. Grant is a working man, a modest man, a just man, a fair man; he has the genius of common sense, (as Henry Ward Beecher says,) his honesty is proverbial, his sagacity great, his knowledge of human nature unerring, his patriotism of the ancient order. The nation can repose in his judgment, prudence and firmness. The South can rely upon his justice and appeal to his magnanimity. He will exact from her nothing but obedience to the laws, fidelity to the Union, and support of the Government, the same as of, by and from the other States that were true all the time. She should follow his advice given two years ago, and discard an alliance with the Northern Copperheads, whose friendship is death to her. She should ally herself with the National Party that ruled during the war, now rules and will continue to rule. She should make friends of the Republican party and from it alone can she obtain help. That party is able, willing, and ready to grant relief. It but asks fidelity to the Union and Government. Grant will "let us have Peace."—Huntsville Advocate.

ZIPPORA COTTON.—We some time since called attention to this cotton, introduced into this county by Mr. H. A. Fladger, some stalks of which he sent us for general inspection. Mr. Fladger recently sent some stalks to New York, to Murray, Ferris & Co., who in acknowledging its receipt, speak very favorably of it. We have their letter before us and make the following extract from it: "We are to day in receipt of your valued favor of the 8th inst., with the very interesting sample of cotton referred to, which we have submitted to some of our most experienced brokers. In the office of one were quite a number of dealers, and they all pronounced the cotton worth to-day at least 40 cents per pound—midling uplands being 25 1/2 to 25 3/4 cents. The staple is excellent, and although not quite so fine as the "Beeler" cotton, of which so much has been said of late in the papers, and of which we enclose a sample, it is longer and fully up to it in color. These long staples will be in great demand all the season in place of Sea Island, which will be very scarce, and we have no doubt will hold their value against any decline in the general market."—Wadesboro Argus.

Among the exchanges for the current week, upon our table, we notice the "Atlantic Monthly," "Every Saturday," and "Our Young Folks," published by Ticknor and Fields. "Leppincott's Magazine," and the "Little Corporal." The first presents to us a grand literary feast of historical and political, novel and poetical writings of our best authors. Among the reviews of new publications at the close of the number, that of Miss Anna Dickenson, entitled "What Answer," receives particular and merited praise. "Every Saturday" attracts much interest from literary circles with the serial novel by Anthony Trollope "He knew he was Right." This production is one of the author's best, and deserves the attention of the public. "Our Young Folks," numbers among its contributors several who are sure to interest the class of persons for whom the Magazine is designed, while many of the articles afford equal pleasure to the old. We recommend it as a work suitable for the home circle. Lippincott's comes to us with its usual attractive pictorial among the most instructive of which is a "Scientific Expedition to Alaska," which accurately describes the "Position surface, climate and inhabitants of that country." The "Herculean Legend," "Fata Morgana," by Mary E. A. Atkinson, abounds in beauty and pathos. Those who wish to delight the "little ones" at home can very easily do so by presenting them with a copy of the "Little Corporal" for the year. We have seen no publications so well adapted to the juvenile portion of our community as this which is filled with articles both amusing and instructive. Published by Alfred L. Sewall, Chicago, Ill. Terms only $1.00 per year. ADVISE TO YOUNG MEN.—Let the business of every one alone, and attend to your own. Don't buy what you don't want. Use every hour to advantage, and study to make a leisure hour useful. Think twice before you spend a dollar; remember you will have another to make for it. Look over your books regularly, and if you find an error trace it out. Should a stroke of misfortune come upon you in your business, retrench work hands; but never fly the track. Confront difficulties with undiminished perseverance, and they will fly at last; then you will be honored, but shrink, and you will be despised. Encourage Home Manufacture, and go to Baer & Eppler's and get your suit made to order for less than you can buy one ready made.

DON'T GRATIFY OUR ENEMIES.

We all know very well that the active secessionists and democrats of this county are very anxious to have republicans divide and get into a difficulty.—We have yet, however, to find the first true Republican who is at all disposed to gratify our enemies in this respect.—The general sentiment in our ranks is, that the issues at stake are too important to be hazarded by any such folly as dividing. This feeling will increase and grow stronger and stronger between this and the election. By the time election day arrives, we will meet our opponents with a solid and united front. This is the way to win such a victory as will be felt, far and near.
