AN ORDINANCE
To lay Taxes and Provide for the Support of the City Government.

Sec. 1. It is ordained by the Mayor and Council of the City of New Bern, that for the first year ending the 30th day of March, 1869, a tax of one cent upon the value of all real estate within the limits of the corporation, be and the same is hereby laid, to be collected as follows:—

It is further ordained, That from and after the 1st day of April, 1869, every person or corporation who prosecutes or carries on either of the trades or occupations mentioned in Section 6 of this ordinance, shall be and he or she shall have obtained a license therefor in the manner hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. It is further ordained, That every person or person desiring to obtain a license shall register with the City Clerk, first his name, or the name of the firm, and the trade or occupation for which a license is desired, and the place where he or she carries on the same, and also the amount of the license, and the same shall be paid to the City Clerk, or other person authorized by the City Clerk, and the license shall be issued to the person or firm so registered, and the same shall be in force for one month, at the place or places as described therein.

Sec. 3. It is further ordained, That if any person or persons shall violate or carry on any trade or business hereinafter mentioned for the exercising of which a license is required, without taking out such license, as in that behalf required by this ordinance, or if he or she shall be convicted of such offense, respectively for each offense, shall be and he or she shall be liable to a fine of three times the amount of the sum of money imposed for such license to the use of the City.

Sec. 4. It is further ordained, That in every case where more than one of the persons, hereinafter described shall be carried on by the same person in the same place at the same time, the license for each of the same shall be taken out for each, according to the rates severally prescribed.

Sec. 5. And it is further ordained, That on and after the first day of April, 1869, the City Clerk shall grant the sum herewith stated, shall be respectively and monthly paid, any number of persons carrying on any business, in partnership with the purpose of this ordinance, in partnership may transact such business at such place, under such license, and not otherwise.

(1) Bankers shall pay ten dollars for each license, and every person shall be deemed a banker, within the meaning of this ordinance, who keeps a place of business where credits are opened in favor of any person or firm, by the deposit or collection of money or currency, and the same, or any part thereof, shall be paid out or committed from the draft or check of such creditor.

(2) Auctioneers shall pay ten dollars for license. Every person shall be deemed an auctioneer whose occupation is to offer property for sale to the highest bidder.

(3) Retail Dealers in liquors, including all distilled liquors, shall pay five dollars for each license. Every person who shall offer for sale such liquors in less quantity than one gallon, at the same time, to the same purchaser, shall be regarded as a retail dealer in liquors.

(4) Retail Dealers shall pay one dollar for each license. Every person who shall offer for sale, or who shall sell, any foreign or domestic produce, in less quantities than the whole original package, at the same time, to the same purchaser, (not including wines, spirituous or malt liquors), shall be regarded as a retail dealer.

(5) Wholesale Dealers shall pay four dollars for each license. Every person who shall offer for sale, or who shall sell, any foreign or domestic produce, in quantities of more than one gallon, shall be deemed a wholesale dealer.

(6) Manufacturers and Merchants shall pay five dollars for each license. Every person who shall offer for sale, or who shall sell, any goods, wares or merchandise, in quantities of more than one hundred dollars shall be deemed a manufacturer or merchant.

(7) Brokers and Commission Merchants shall pay five dollars for each license. Every person who shall hold a license as a broker or commission merchant, or who shall sell, or who shall offer for sale, any goods, wares or merchandise, in quantities of more than one hundred dollars shall be deemed a broker or commission merchant.

(8) Traders in Goods and Jewellers shall pay a sum not to exceed two hundred dollars to be fixed by the City Council in each case.

(9) Bowling Alleys or Billiard Rooms shall pay four dollars for each license.

(10) Horse Dealers and Livery Stable keepers shall pay four dollars for each license.

(11) Every person who shall offer for sale, or who shall sell, any goods, wares or merchandise, in quantities of more than one hundred dollars shall be deemed a manufacturer or merchant.

(12) Manufacturers and Merchants shall pay five dollars for each license. Every person who shall offer for sale, or who shall sell, any goods, wares or merchandise, in quantities of more than one hundred dollars shall be deemed a manufacturer or merchant.

(13) Lawyers, Clergymen, Photographers and Printers shall pay one dollar for each license.

(14) Express Companies shall pay five dollars for each license.

(15) All public drays shall pay twenty-five cents for each license.

(16) Cart-houses shall pay two dollars for each license.

Sec. 6. And it is further ordained, That all Ordinances and parts of Ordinances contained herewithin, be, and the same are hereby repeated.

GOOD-BYE! ANDY!

Atx.—"Jim Crack Corn."
 Good-bye, Andy, clear the way,
 You're a dog that's had his day,
 Your other days you'd better spend
 In thinking of your latter end.

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye!
 Good-bye, Andy, good-bye!
 Good-bye, Andy, good-bye!
 Good-bye, Andy, good-bye!

Maybe, down in Tennessee,
 You'll find folks that will agree,
 You're the same old chap they sent
 From Alderman to President.

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Go it! You're not wanted here,
 We've got a man to fill "that cheer,"
 All your usefulness is o'er,
 So grope around and find the door!

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Now, old fellow, don't get mad,
 Swearing is so awful bad!
 Just take it easy as you can,
 And try to be a better man!

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Don't be troubled by your fears,
 Take again the same old shears,
 You're better in your tailor shop,
 Than of the Government on top.

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Keep your temper! Draw it fine!
 Slide on down your greased incline!
 You slipped your neck Impeachment thro',
 But cannot dodge Election too!

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Go it, Andy, slide on down!
 Go it, to your native town!
 And think, at last, when you get there,
 You're the man we all could spare.

Good-bye, Andy, good-bye! &c.
 Shall the Government be Destroyed?

SPEECH
OF
HON. J. PENNINGTON, OF LEE,
In the Senate of Alabama, on Saturday,
September 19th, 1868.

Mr. Pennington said: I dislike the continuance of this discussion. I regret the turn it has taken, but as we are embarked upon the sea of discussion, I am for the widest range of political argument. I came here for the best purpose, to complete the business for which we were convened, and to adjourn this body to-day. I understand, and I regretted very much to learn this morning, that there is a feeling and determination on the part of many members of the General Assembly, to try to prevent the passage of a registration law, to stifle the voice of the people, and to prevent an election in November. It is going to deal generally with matters and things to-day, and if in the course of my remarks, it may be necessary for me to denounce gentlemen of the Republican party and their principles, and their dishonest maneuvering, as well as to condemn generally the teachings and the principles which the nullification party are attempting to fasten upon this people, I feel I shall be right. There are men in the Republican party whose dead weight we have carried too long. I wish they would go. I have good reason to believe that there are some Republicans in this city, men hanging around these lobbies, who profess to exercise a controlling influence on the Republican party, who are anxious to do so, and who are anxious to denounce any reasonable opposition to this government of the State or of the United States, and I am also ready to denounce the men professing to be Republicans, who would destroy the Republican party by their action.

The field is open, we have nothing to do but to enter and reap it. We can carry this State; I will tell these gentlemen that the white and black men whose throats have failed to intimidate or drive from us, will vote for Grant and Colfax.

Some of us bear all the odium of these disorganizers, and maintain our principles as well. I tell you I will not be driven from the Republican party. I have suffered any amount of abuse and newspaper defamation; I feel I shall be right in any reasonable opposition to this government of the State or of the United States, and I am also ready to denounce the men professing to be Republicans, who would destroy the Republican party by their action.

The field is open, we have nothing to do but to enter and reap it. We can carry this State; I will tell these gentlemen that the white and black men whose throats have failed to intimidate or drive from us, will vote for Grant and Colfax.

NEW BERNE, N. C.
THE REPUBLICAN is issued as an Independent and Progressive Journal which shall reflect the sentiments and opinions of the respectable loyal population of Eastern North Carolina, by an uncompromising opposition to the doctrines of Secession, and by a fearless advocacy of the eternal principles of the educated, native, distinguished, wealthy Union men of Alabama, that brought these woes upon you. They may have saved not only Alabama, but the whole South, the whole country; they might have saved the lives and the limbs of three hundred thousand of the bravest and best men in this sunny clime, who have fallen, or been maimed, in the infamous contest of their getting up.

Mr. Jones.—In saying all this, we would have saved our slaves!

Mr. Pennington.—Yes, I will get to the negro after awhile, if the leaders had stood up, if the men who supported Bell and Douglas throughout the South, had stood up; if they had done that I propose to do now; if they had done that, this fair land would have been saved from devastation, and the vacant places around the hearthstones of the land would now be filled by those who were formerly the support and pride of those who loved them. Shall we denounce them because they fought in the rebel army? Some of the best men in the Republican party, followed the fortunes of Lee and Longstreet. While I looked upon secession as heresy and treason to the Constitution, I honor the memory of my kinsmen who fought in the rebel army, who were voluntarily to fight for the principles which they believed to be right. In the rebel army, were concentrated the best blood, the best manhood, and the best purity of characters in the South. They were whipped, but they were honorably whipped, and there is no degradation around the banner they furled, but the support and pride of those who loved them. I am a Black Republican. I supported Douglas, and would have supported Lincoln had he had his electoral ticket. I did not desert my principles, nor am I here to denounce those who differ with me. I want to make friends, not enemies. I want to swell the ranks of the Republican party with all good men, and not to drive them from it. Obey the law, defend the law, be good citizens, and do not sacrifice your rights to any man, whatever his color may be.

Now, in defense of the adopted citizens of Alabama, I have had it thrown at me that I am not a native; my right to sit on this floor has been questioned. I have been sneered at, politically, probably I have been neglected socially, and I am content that I don't concern me, because the society that I make under my own roof is as good as I find elsewhere; but I have been sneered at. I have been sneered at, because I did not happen to be born on the soil of Alabama. I love these hills; I love the pure air and the pure waters of the mountains of Alabama. I love the brave men of your country, the men of the State; the State of my adoption as well as the one on whose soil I was born, but I will not suffer no man to insult me because I was not a native of Alabama; I allow no man to insult me because I was born in North Carolina. As a citizen of this free country, as a lover of the flag of my country, as a man who has ever stood by the Federal Constitution, and the laws of my country, I have as much right here as you, as much as your Watts and your Yanceys. So has any one, if he obeys the law, if he demans himself so as to be a good citizen.

Chivalry is played out; chivalry is dead; place and power have passed from the chivalry, never to return. The carpet-bagger will control this country hereafter. Grant, Garfield, Genies, and others, can not be confined to an eastern village; and we who were born in other States, have the same rights here as any one; the same as Mr. Cass had in Michigan, or as Mr. Douglas had in Illinois. This is our country, this is our country, from Ohio; the gentleman who spoke so eloquently on this floor yesterday, have the same rights in this country with the natives. They have the same right to make his laws, and control his civil policy as you who have had the good fortune or the misfortune to be born on these hills. It is not a matter of color, for driving out these people like social ostracisms, take them by the hand; and the sooner you do this, the better for the peace, prosperity and welfare of Alabama.

My distinguished friend from Pike (Mr. Worthy) is an honorable and high-minded gentleman. I have always found him a ready co-worker, and I have always found him to have the good sense to treat each other as gentlemen. But he does me injustice, and I want to call his attention to the fact. My worthy friend does me injustice by placing me in a position where I do not place myself. He does not mean to do a man intentional wrong. He is too high-minded for that; but in his placing Pennington, of Lee, at the head of the great injustice! When I spoke yesterday of possible results in this country, from the treasonable teachings of this revolutionary party, I did not refer to color. I appealed to the friends of good government; I appealed to the friends of peace, and the lovers of law and order; I appealed to the good men and women of this country, and I am ready to reiterate what I said. I will suffer long and endure much; but I tell him, if the teachings of his party, if the treasonable utterances of Frank Blair shall inaugurate another rebellion in this country, and we are required to fight for the right, we will do so.

Mr. Jones of Maricopa—State where, sir?

Mr. Pennington.—We will do it here, in this Capitol, if necessary, where the first breath of treason found utterance; wherever the rebel government was set up. Wherever the flag of Washington waves we will meet the enemies of the flag of our country. We will suffer long, but as men who love their country, and who will defend the right. The cowardice, the want of moral courage on the part of leading Union men in the South, deluged this land in blood. Physically strong men in the State of Alabama could have saved her fair fields from desolation; twenty leading men in the State of Alabama could have kept her fast rooted to the Union, and you would have saved your property; you would have saved your homes, your families, your gallant sons, whose memories I revere as much as you do.

Mr. Worthy, of Pike—And have perpetrated slavery?

Mr. Pennington.—And have perpetrated good government, and let slavery have taken its course. The moral cowardice of men who are leaving the Republican ranks, because Mr. Smith's family, or Mr. Brown's family or the way, didn't visit them as of yore, is having the same effect now. I tell my friends, that while I am willing to welcome the stranger, the man who does not wish to recognize me on account of my political principles, can be no friend of mine. I will not be driven from the defense of the principles of good government, or from the defense of the principles of the Republican party whom I know to be corrupt men in it. As long as I belong to the Democratic party, I found myself in it. Why have secessionists been so much precipitated upon the country, I had sense enough to follow my gallant leader, the pure statesman, and great patriot, Stephen A. Douglas, and rally myself to the principles of Mr. Lincoln. It was the moral cowardice of your rulers, of
