I Gladly Welcome Thee, Oh Death!

I gladly welcom thee, Oh Death! Were but the words of her last breath When she so gently passed away, Into that one eternal day.

A host of angels not afar, Awaited with the gates ajar ; To greet her with a kiss and smile,

And keep her with them all the while Hark, hear the distant music sweet! In mid-air now I see them meet;

Heaven resounds while cherubs sing, "Hosanna to our God and King." Triumphantly they take their flight,

A way they soar through dazzling light Just as they reach eternal banks, That spirit band to God give thanks. Her fragile bark, within the vale,

Anchored fast, reefed its sail : At home from waves and winds that blight, There! she has passed from mortal

Thus she was wafted up on high. To realms beyond the azure sky; Robed and crowned with perfectness, On Seraphs' wings she entered bliss.

Grieve not her loss, it is her gain, Though her departure gives us pain ; She's in that mansion up above : Celestial, radiant, filled with love.

She's now a cherub bright and fair, If you would see her, like her die ; Then she will meet you in the sky. RALEIGH, N. C., July 20, 1875. [We clip the above from the August

The Art Journal of America. ISSUED MONTHLY.

'A magnificent conception wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph

-THE ALDINE. THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or TIMELY interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception-alone and unapproachedor character. The possessor of a com-plete volume can not duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes For TEN TIMES ITS COST; AND THEN, THERE

IS THE CHROMO, BESIDES! The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. Frue art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources. The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnifi-cent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicous interspersion of landscape, marine, figure, and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accompaniment, worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical diss quisitions as do not interfere with the popular interest of the work. PREMIUM FOR 1875. Every subscriber for 1875 will receive a beautiful portrait, in oil colors, of the same noble dog whose picture in a former issue attracted so much atten-"Man's Unselfish Friend" will be welcome in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to the life, that The depot will be closed at 5:00 p m it seems the veritable presence of the No goods will be received after that animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it! Although so natural, no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALDINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of THE ALDINE ART UNION. The Union owns the originals of all THE ALDINE pictures, which, with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces, valued at over $2,500 of are distributed as soon as the series is full and the awards of each series as made, are to be published in the next succeeding issue of THE AL scribers who pay for one YEAR IN AD-VANCE. Full particulars in circular sent on application enclosing a stamp. TERMS: One Subscription, entitling to THE ALDINE one year, the chromo and the Art Union,
