It is understood that the Hon. Thos. S. Ashe will be a candidate for re-election in the Mecklenburg District.—Daily News.

The Board of Commissioners of the city made a formal demand upon the usurping Board of Aldermen, on the 8th, for the possession of the property of the city. The demand, on the part of the Commissioners, was made, by order, through M. B. Barbee, Esq., one of their number. Gen. Gorman also presented his demand for the surrender of the mayorality, upon Maj. Manly. The usurpers were disposed not to hear the demand, by word and in writing.

But they will be against them that no citizens in the compelled to succumb, and it is commonwealth would obey its only a question of time when the mandate sconer or with more alacwhole piratical crew will be igno- rity than they." (This is the idenminiously ejected.

If General Cox and Col. Cowles and the Hon. B. B. Houston and S. M. Finger and M. L. McCorkle and Sherift Kline et id omne genus had shown the same zeal to have had the red handed murderers and scourgers of the poor and weak and defenceless, who differed with them in political opinion, brought to justice, that they have shown about colored men accused by their political enemies of petit larceny and now in Alabama, public justice would have been much better subserved and the tender consciences of the aforesaid political saints would doubtless been much easier at midnight.

By the way, how much effort did Sheriff Kline make to arrest the cold blooded murderer of a harmless colored man in the town of Hickory lately? And how much effort did he use a few years ago to put an end to the whippings and outrages on the part of his K. K. friends that disgraced his county and shocked all humanity except Democratic humanity?

Martyrdom. "When he speaketh fair, believe him not, for there are seven abominations in his heart." Thus spoke the wisest man of whom Holy writ gives an account. As in the days of old so the proverb now holds good. Martyrs, however, in the olden days were meek and conscientions men. They suffered terrible persecutions and were subjected to exeruciating torments, but they had but little, if any, guile. The abominations of their hearts had been cast out, and, knowing their MASTERS' will, they did it. Modern martyrs are not so. They court martyrdom for selfish purposes. They speak fair, only to deceive. Seven times seven may be numbered as the abominations in their hearts. Goodly outside and silver tongued tones are cultivated to more easily dupe the innocent and unsuspecting.

The latest self-manipulated martyr of the Democratic party, struts the stage as the hero of what he believes to be the offended law. So imbedded in his heart of hearts is his love of law, that he even forthat his martyred pomposity will be suffered to relax before the coming Democratic Convention, which is expected to redress martyrs woes generally, that he continually fans the waning flame even to the extent of endeavoring to force our peaceful Governor to override all law and infringe upon the rights of a sister State by illegally seizing upon its citizens and dragging them hither to appease the wrath of what' may be termed the offended majesty of-not the law-but the so-called he affects to be misrule. All rule is misrule except his rule. If he rules not, he is martyred-in his opinion. To regain his rule, he speaks fair; but it is an effort, because the seven abominations, hatred, arrogance, deceit, party-malice, vanity, ambition and cunning almost choke his utterances. Still, policy succeeds, and ignorance prompts him to believe that his whining notes of pretense are gullibly swallowed. Thus he struts, and thus he is pictured. "When he speaketh fair," &c.

But it was without avail! Thank God, a Republican Constitution and a former Republican Legislature-in its intuitive wis-lom and sagacity comprehending even the rascality of the coming Democracy-provided a way whereby the fraud could be prevented. It was prevented! And the fraudulent Mayor-B. C. Manly-disappointed in his vain attempt to defeat the will of the people, openly declared that it was not his intention to implicitly obey the mandate of the courts, and further declared "that any Democrat who would accept the appointment of registrar and poll holder"-under the order of the court calling a three ward election-"OUGHT to HAVE HIS THROAT CUT!" This was said before the election! Ku Klux, stand aside! You are out-Heroded! An individual claiming to be the Mayor of Raleigh has openly declared that any Democrat who accepted his appointment, and thereby obeyed a mandate of the courts, OUGHTTO HAVE HISTHROAT ters of either ward. Recollect, law-abiding men, this declaration comes from him who would fain execute the law in Ragets what is law. So fearful is he leigh. Your throats ought to be cut IF YOU OBEY THE LAW!

Among the chosen friends of John Wilkes Booth's boyhood was a dashing, chivalrous young man named Jno. Y. Beal, whose home alley, not far from Winchester. mon and Pythias were not more attached to each other than were Booth and Beal. Beal was Southern in his sympathies, and planned raids on Northern cities, and at last was captured at or near Buffalo, tried for piracy on Northern lakes; and sentenced to be hanged on Bedloe's Island. One afternoon in the city of Washington while Beal was under sentence of death, there alighted from a carriage two men, who walked into the room occupied by Washington McLean of Cincinnati, who was at the time in Washington in the interest of his business. The men who called were Senator Hale of New Hampshire and John Wilkes Booth. Booth was anxious to save the life of Beal, his chum and confidential personal friend. He had interested Mr. Hale in his behalf.

They importuned McLean to go with them to the President, as a Democrat—as a friend of Booth—as a man who had much influence with Mr. Hale for any promises Booth might make in return for this great favor to him. After a protracted interview McLean accompanied Hale and Booth in a carriage to the residence of John W. Forner, who was then in bed, the hour being late. Forney was awakened from his sleep and told the object of his call. His sympathies were enlisted, as he was al ways ready to serve his friends.

night when Hale, Forney, McLean, and Booth were driven to the White House. The guard, at the request of Forney, admitted the carriage to the grounds. Mr. Lincoln was called from his sleep, and and listened to the prayers of Booth and the endorsements of those who came with him to ask the favor of Executive clemency. This interview lasted till 4 in the morning. It was one of tears, prayers, and petition. There was knelt at the feet of Lincoln, clasped man-a personal friend who, in serving the ones he loved, had come

At last President Lincoln, with tears streaming down his face, took Booth by the hands, bade him rise and stand like a man, and gave him his promise that Beal should be pardoned. He asked the party to depart that he might gain rest for work of the morrow, and said that the official document that they asked for, should be forwarded at once to United States Marshal, through him to the officers charged with the execution of Beal.

After breakfast Lincoln informed Seward, Secretary of State, what he Union, when we were marching had done, or promised to do. through the gloomy history of four | Seward said that it must not be; years, and we find beyond doubt that public sentiment in the North demanded that Beal should be hung. He declared that to pardon Beal would discourage enlistments, lengthen the war, and insult the sentiment that called for blood. He chided Lincoln for making such promises without asking the advice of his Cabinet, or advising with himself, Seward, on State policy. As the argument grew contentious, Seward declared that if the war was to be trifled with by appeals for humanity he should go out of the Cabinet and use his influence against the President, and should charge him with being in sympathy with the South. Lincoln yielded and Beal was executed. The reaction to Lincoln's nervous system was such that for days he was far from well. The effect on Booth was terrible. He raved like a mad man, and in his frenzy swore that Lincoln and Seward should both pay for the grief and agony he had been put to. From the death of Beal, Booth brooded vengeance for that which he considered a personal affront. His rage took in Seward, and he engaged Harold, Atserodt, and others to avenge Beal's death by killing Seward, while he, Booth, wreaked huma , vengeance on the President. At last came the hour. Booth killed Lincoln. His friends and the relatives or avengers of Beal tried their best to kill Seward, and when they left him stabbed, bleedwhen they left him stabbed, bleeding; and limp as a cloth, as he rolled over behind the bed whereon behind the bed whereon howing cost of advertising.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE NALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION.

THE LARGEST AMOUNT OF A valuable land ever offered in Western North Carolina! To all wishing homes, now is your time. On Monday, August 21st, 1876, I will offer for sale at public auction, the valuable tract of land situated on Little Fish River, and containing 5,000 acres. This tract of land will be divided into bes. farms in North-western N. C.; inder a high state of cultivation; fine bottom lands, with uplands, lying well: fruits, grain, tobacco and the grasses grow luxuriantly on these lands; splendid grist, flour and circular saw mills are situated on this farm; the best of water-power, lying ready to be improved. The land is well timbered, watered, and an abundance of good cool springs. In fact it is the best section in he country. Also another tract, known as the 'Saw Mill' tract, containing 1.500 acres, 400 acres of which have just been cleared and cultivated in tobacco. Wheat, corn, oats, rye, tobacco, fruits and the grasses grow luxuriantly upon well, and is well adapted for dairy,

Also another tract of land lying in the suburbs of Mount Airy, containing 456 deres, lying on Lovel's Creek, 100 acres of which is as fine bottom land as there Also another tract of land lying on the Ararat River, known as the Buck Shoals tract, on which there are good grist, flouring and saw-mills; good residence, and one large brick building 36 by 70 feet, and four stories in height, erected for a cotton factory. All the buildings and the dam are new, and the water is sufficient for 200 horse

Also another tract containing 350 acres, lying on Rutledge and Seed Cane Creeks, on which are fine bottoms, plenty of timber, and an abundance of good water.

Also several other tracts of fine farming and mineral lauds, all of which are well watered and timbered, and on of no Part line. President and Cashier Citizens' National Bank, of Raleigh: "We know well watered and timbered, and on of no Establishment turning out neater of which are good buildings, and the lands wore satisfactory jobs.
