Unnecessary Excitement. [New York ( erald ]

The present deep excitement is premature and uocalled for. There the three doubtful States. It is hardly supposable that when at list all the official returns are received their genuineners will be open to question in every one of the States now classed as doubtful. If it shall appear that Mr. Tilden has carried any one of the three the controversy will be substantially at an end; for the eletoral votes of one will insure him a majority, and it will be of no pract .tical consequence how the two others are counted. It is hardly supposable that all three will be counted to him. There is time ennough, there are motives enough, facilities enough, and there will be men enough of unquestioned high character engaged in the investigation to ferret out and ascertain the exact truth before the votes are finally counted on the second Wednesday try. ral votes can be counted in February without a full blaze of exposure pouring upon the count with the yividness of the calcium 1 ght. A deliberate and manifest fraud would ruin the party that should undertake to perpetrate it.
