Our Choice for President, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, OF NEW YORK.

The People's Choice for Congress, GEN. R. B. VANCE, of Buncombe.

The Mitchell Turpike-Work Progressing Finely-Proposed Barbecue and 4th July Celebration.

We are truly glad to learn that the work on the Mitchell Turpike road leading from Morganton to Cranberry Iron Works and Bakersville, is progressing finely.

Mr. G. A. Lovett, the principal contractor in a few days will finish grading the road as far as "Winding Stair Camp."

"Gray is ambitious, but he don't show it, and I tell you that if he is elected President he will set up a monarchy and establish himself Emperor."

"A military despotism would be established, and Grant would never leave the White House alive."

At a meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic Conservative party held on 31 day of March, it was resolved to hold a State Convention of the party at Raleigh on the 17th day of June next.

Mr. Gabriel Pearcey, Proprietor of the Piedmont Springs, has just completed a good road from said Springs intersecting with the Mitchell turpike at "Taylor Lick-log" a distance of two miles, built at his own expense.

Capt. W. M. Winters, one of the road commissioners, to whom we are indebted for a great deal of our information in regard to the road, says that the completion of the road and the barbecue as before stated are fixed facts, and the Captain further says "that persons attending the barbecue can drive a buggy over the entire route, and traveling from Morganton, when they reach the mountain can consider that they have traveled over the worst part of the road."

Lay up not your treasures in railroads which syndicates buy and thieves steal, but build good dirt roads which neither syndicates can buy or control nor thieves steal, they are the roads of "your dadies" and have no high freight, but all travel over free.

The Leading Men of New York-What they did when Boys. In the early autumn of last year the Rev. Washington Gladden, of Springfield, Mass., sent the following note to one hundred of the representative business and professional men of New York:

"I desire to find out, for the benefit of the boys, how the leading men of this city spent their boyhood. Will you be kind enough to tell me: 1. Whether the first fifteen years of your life was on a farm, in a village, or in a city; and 2. whether you were accustomed, during any part of that period, to engage in any kind of work when not in school?"

Out of one hundred persons who received the notes, eighty-eight answered the questions, and Mr. Gladden was so much pleased with his success that he embodied their reports in a lecture, which he delivered before a large audience in one of the city churches. It appears that the eighty-eight, sixty-four were brought up on farms and were farmers sons, twelve in villages and towns and twelve in cities. Of the twelve who lived in villages and towns, one-quarter were accustomed to do farm work. If is proper to say, therefore, that of these eighty-eight of the wealthiest and most influential citizens of New York, seventy were trained in their youth upon farms.

Of the eighteen boys who lived in cities and villages, five of them report that they had no work to do, while the rest were the sons of people in rather poor circumstances, and were accustomed to do all sorts of work up to the time they left the paternal roof. To sum up: Of eighty-eight solid men of New York, eighty-three were hard workers in their younger days, while only five had "nothing in particular to do."

The No-fence Law a Vesting. In our last issue we inadvertently said a petition had been gotten up in this county for the repeal of the fence law. We meant the fence law. It would be impossible to repeal the fence law, because the people are too well pleased with it, and Mecklenburg would fight the whole State with force and arms should an attempt be made to place her back in the old expensive and notorious stake and rider style in which she used to live.

Governor Holliday's opinion is in conflict to believe that the question of difference over dividing the Democratic party in Virginia will be harmoniously settled before the Presidential canvass opens. He thinks the masses of former Democratic voters will support the national Democratic ticket.

This talk about "our" "grant, or any other Republican candidate, carrying it" is not less ridiculous for Democrats to offer to elect a man, than it is to carry Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and Illinois—Chicago Tribune, Hep.

Hon Isaac W. Haynes, a distinguished lawyer, and for many years Attorney General of the State of South Carolina, prior to the war, breathed his last at his home in Charleston on the 8th inst. He was about 70 years old, and being a descendant from the Haynes of South Carolina on the one side, and from the Brevards of North Carolina on the other, had many relatives and friends, not only in the Carolina, but scattered over nearly all the Southern States.

In noticing General Grant's splendid military career, first, and his wonderful success as a traveler, later, would it not be well to also look at the eight years history of his life as President of the United States? What was done in the eight years? How much pride clings to this epoch? Who were the President's friends and advisers? These are questions to consider.

General Frank Blair had a pretty thorough knowledge of Gen. Grant. It is worth recalling what he said of "the strong man" in 1863, nearly twelve years ago, and before Grant had become President. Said Gen. Blair:

"Grant is ambitious, but he don't show it, and I tell you that if he is elected President he will set up a monarchy and establish himself Emperor."

"A military despotism would be established, and Grant would never leave the White House alive."

"The man who established military despotism in ten States is ready to establish it in all the States."

"If I tell you he has a policy as much as Bonaparte had, his policy is permanent dictatorial power. If you think he has no policy, you make a great mistake and endanger our country. I do not believe he would consent for the Presidency for four years to resign an office he holds for life. He has no idea of that. He has the military instinct about him."

The Virginia Legislature adjourned on the 9th inst., after a session of three months and eight days. Why it was born and why it lived so long will probably remain an unsolved mystery henceforth. The Richmond State, in its leader concerning its course, says:

"It will suffice to say that as a Readjuster-Republican body it is a lamentable failure. The work it had marked out, and which it came to do off-hand manner, all has come to naught, and it goes back to the people confessing its utter powerlessness to perform what it had undertaken. On the debt question they did absolutely nothing, and yet they did all that men holding their views could do."

In Alexander county (Miller's township) one day last week, a marriage took place under rather singular circumstances. Mr. Pink Lackey and Miss Bettie Miller were the high contracting partners and T. A. Hudson, Esq., performed the ceremony. The bride, the groom, the magistrate and friends met at a certain point in the woods at a given hour, and on the side of the road, beneath the branches of the trees, the magistrate pronounced the bans. It is alleged that these surroundings were not chosen for the nuptials without cause—the being, according to report, that the groom is a moonshiner and was lying out from the residence, none of whom were among the invited guests.—Stateville Landmark.

Tilden a Candidate. It is now announced authoritatively that Uncle Sammy Tilden is really a live candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. We do not know where he can count on much strength, but there is no telling what even a day may bring forth.

The Extra Session.

The First Day's Proceeding.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 19, 1889. The members of the Legislature, pursuant to the call of the Governor, assembled in the State House promptly on day at twelve o'clock, with very few seats vacant. After the call of the roll, and the organization of both Houses, Mr. G. L. Dudley, the Governor's private secretary, was announced as the bearer of a special message from His Excellency Gov. Jarvis. The message was in substance the same as that given to the State press, about the time of the issue of the Governor's proclamation convening the Legislature in extraordinary session. It touched only on the proposed sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad, and in conclusion recommended no general legislation. The Gov. regarded the extra session as having been called for a specific purpose, and he argued that its duties would be discharged when it had acted on the question he had felt it his duty to present to it in the name and in the interest of the people of North Carolina.

A canvass among the members of the fact that there is an almost universal desire that the Western North Carolina Railroad shall be sold, but the original Best bill will doubtless go by the board. The desire for the sale by no means comes the members to the text of the Best bill, objections to it are urged at every point, and this among the warmest friends of the sale. A new bill has been drawn, which has met with Mr. Best's approval, and that of Hon. Geo. Davis, and Judge Tom. Biffin, will be presented, and it will doubtless meet many of the objections to the Best bill. It has not yet been given to the public, but will probably come up for action at once. It is said to be much more favorable to the State than the original Best bill.

Senator W. T. Dortch, of Goldsboro, introduced a bill, just after the reading of the Governor's message, to stop all appropriations to the Western North Carolina Railroad, and another to sell the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, and the Western North Carolina Railroad, by a commission composed of the Treasurer of the State, and two other of them.

A resolution in the House of Representatives, not to go into general legislation was laid over for the present.

Nothing was done in either house today, except the passage, by both houses, of a resolution creating a committee of twenty-five members—fifteen from the House, and ten from the Senate—to whom the whole railroad question should be referred. The committee has not yet been announced.

Consensus of both houses were held this evening, and it is said that a strong effort is being made by the Republicans to get up combined opposition to the proposed sale, but the Best informed Democrats think they will simply try to take advantage of circumstances.

While there is much disagreement among members of the Legislature about the exact terms of the sale, there is an almost universal sentiment that a sale can and ought to be made, if the purchasers will agree to such terms and restrictions as will protect the interests of the State from unjust discriminations, and give them reasonable freight rates.

By Mr. Leaven—Bill to provide for the sale of the State's interest in the Western North Carolina Railroad. Referred to the joint select committee on Railroads.

By Mr. Dancy—Bill to amend the Board of County Commissioners of Edgecombe to pay certain school debts. Assented to by the Committee on Education.

The President designated the following Senators to comprise the select committee on the joint select committee on the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad: Messrs. Leaven, Dancy, Erwin, Everett, Davis, of Brunswick, Lenoir, Lincoln, White, Bryan, of Pamlico and Graham and Montgomery.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The House was called to order at 10 a. m. by Mr. Speaker Rev. Mr. Black. After prayer by Rev. Mr. Black, of the First Methodist Church, the journal of yesterday was read and approved.

By Mr. Dancy—Bill to amend the Board of County Commissioners of Edgecombe to pay certain school debts. Assented to by the Committee on Education.

Women to vote in Wisconsin.

MADISON Wis., March 12.—The Senate has just concurred by a constitutional majority on Assembly joint resolution No. 12, conferring on women the right to vote and hold office. The measure was filed, a large majority of the spectators ladies. Senators Kellogg, Woodman and Price made extended and happy remarks in favor of the passage of the bill. The result was yes, 19; nay, 11. Three Senators were absent, one of whom, Senator Chipman, of the Racine district, is on his death bed in this city.

The Methodist Note. [New York Sun.] The Methodist itinerancy is being assailed by many influential Methodist clergymen, and the movement for abolishing it has a strong advocacy; but the Rev. Dr. Summers comes out emphatically in its defense. A great advantage of the system, he says, is that it secures to every preacher a parish and to every parish a preacher. "Some of the charges are not very desirable; but they all pay him something for the work he performs. Some of the ministers are not accomplished men, but they are all approved by lay and clerical courts, and the poorest of them are better than none." Dr. Summers points out, too, that itinerant preachers, by using their sermons over and over, save themselves a great amount of labor. He states a third argument as follows: "What difficulties and annoyances and anxieties are frequently connected with resignations and calls among our brethren who have a settled ministry! One of the most revolting things I know is a minister going around from church to church preaching 'trial' sermons, acting as a 'supply,' criticised by incompetent persons, subjected to pertinent questions, black-balled, or called, responding with the knowledge that a respectable minority opposed the call."

It is reported to the satisfaction of the Court that the Defendant, Albert Best, William Forney, J. J. Forney, E. W. Fancette are non-residents of this State, and parties to this proceeding which concerns real property.

It is further ordered by the Court that publication be made in the Burke and Johnston newspapers, published in North Carolina, for six successive weeks, notifying the said Defendants to appear at the next Term of the Superior Court for the county of Burke, to be held at the Court House in Morganton on the 2nd Monday in March, 1889.

And let said Defendants take notice that if they fail to answer and comply within the time prescribed by Law within the time prescribed by Law with the Plaintiff's application to the Court for the relief demanded in the Complaint. Given under my hand and seal of office at office at Morganton, this 5th day of February, 1889.

HAIR VEGETABLE SICIALIAN HAIR RENEWER

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.
