

A TRUE STORY.

In a cabin at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, lived a beautiful girl with her aged father. They were very poor, and as their little "Mountain Home" was soon to be sold under a mortgage, it was with joy that the old father welcomed as a suitor for his daughter's hand, an old and wealthy friend of his youth, who having come to pay him a visit, had fallen in love with the charming girl. She having lived so long in poverty was quite carried away with the tales told her by the rich old friend, regarding the wealth and splendor of his city home, and he offered her land, gold, and diamonds if she would become his bride. She had a dark-eyed mountain lover, who was too poor to offer her anything but roses. Which did she choose? The question is answered in the (3) verse song and chorus, entitled:

"DIAMONDS OR ROSES?"

Words and Music by C. H. ADDISON.

This is one of the most catchy, brilliant and fascinating songs ever published, and being out of the ordinary line, is bound to make a "hit." Price 40c. Order from any music dealer, or the publishers.

TO MAKE PLANTS GROW.

A Frenchman—M. Ragonneau—says he has discovered how to make vegetation grow as much in 30 minutes as it ordinarily does in 30 days. He claims to have got the secret from the yogis of India, who go from place to place giving exhibitions and picking up a few cents by making a mango sprout and grow several feet in a few minutes. If the yogis of India have at last put some of their magic to a useful purpose for humanity, one is glad to know it.

The Frenchman says the secret agent that bursts the seed and heaves the sprout up through the earth like Jonah's gourd is formic acid. It is secreted in large quantities from the body of the ant. Pour boiling water over a pile of ants, and the resulting infusion will taste sour like vinegar. It dissolves away the sheaths of seeds and makes them burst into greenness. The yogis say the earth they use is obtained from ant hills. Earth moistened with a liquid containing one part of formic acid to 5,000 parts of water will make the plants just leap, skip and jump, the French man says. If the effect on a plant is anything like the effect on a man when he gets a few red ants up his trousers leg, one can well believe the story.

A Lady Jumps Into a Well.

Mrs. Lida Ingram, residing about two miles from Kernersville, this county, was missed Sunday morning some time after breakfast.

She has been somewhat demented for some time and the worst was feared. After searching around the premises for an hour or more some one went to the well and looked down and there she was hanging on to the rope for dear life. Another rope was secured and lowered down to her which she secured around her waist and she was drawn to the top. She refused to say how she got to the bottom, though it is said she evidently went down by means of the rope for she was not bruised or injured in any way, though she said the water was too cold for her. The well was thirty feet deep.—Winston Republican.

A Humorous Fact

About Hood's Sarsaparilla—it expels bad humor and creates good humor. A battle for blood is what Hood's Sarsaparilla vigorously fights, and it is always victorious in expelling foul taints and giving the vital fluid the quality and quantity of perfect health. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, boils and other blood diseases.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25c.

Want to Come South.

Recently a Norwegian Lutheran preacher from North Dakota was in Durham. He is looking out for lands for a colony. It is stated that his report of the condition of the farmers in some parts of the Dakotas is truly doleful. He says there is a strong inclination on the part of many Norwegians in the North west to remove South, which they regard as a more inviting field for them. North Carolina has the best of climates and lands for sale by the hundreds of thousands of acres.

Farming That Pays.

Mr. Leonard Ketter, of Crater P. O., South Fork township, Forsyth county, is 66 years of age and has not for 40 years bought for his own use, a pound of flour or wheat or a bushel of corn, and has never grown a stalk of tobacco. He is the oldest of 10 children. His mother is still living, and up to 4 years ago her descendants numbered over two hundred.

The Value of Coins.

The value of gold coin is in its weight; the value of silver coin is the government stamp on it. The value of Simmons' Liver Regulator is the relief it gives from Biliousness and Sick Headache. A 25-cent package of powder has permanently cured many a one.

Have you ever noticed how your system seems to crave special assistance in the spring? Just the help required is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

You should guard against a tendency to dissect everything.

Perfection easily bears with the imperfections of others, and makes itself all things to all.

WHITE CAPS IN YADKIN.

Two Informers Beaten and Given Ten Days to Get Out of the County.

WINSTON, N. C., March 1.—A citizen of Yadkin county brought news here last night of a terrible affair which occurred near Mans a few nights ago. About 120 white caps, with heavy masks, visited the homes of Amos Knott and brother and beat them unmercifully. Ropes were placed around the necks of the two men, and after tying them up to the trees the white caps proceeded with their corporal punishment. The two brothers were unable to give an alarm. Their mouths were tied so that they could not utter a word of complaint. The injuries inflicted upon both are serious—in fact one of the brothers is not expected to live. The white caps charge the men whom they treated so cruelly with having reported several blockades to revenue officers. Considerable indignation prevails in the neighborhood, but there appears to be no likelihood of the perpetrators of the barbarous deed. Knott and his brother were notified by the white caps that they would be allowed only ten days to get out of the county.

Our Legislature.

The people of North Carolina will hardly be willing to elect in 1896, such another body as disgraces the State at present. The Fred Douglas Legislature is a stench in the nostrils of all decent, self-respecting white people and of all parties. The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch writes on the 25th instant: "North Carolinians have not quit talking about the wild capers of the Pop-Radical Legislature of their State in adjoining in honor of Fred Douglas after having refused to pay similar respect to the memory of Washington and Lee. They feel ashamed of the crowd at Raleigh responsible for this act, but at the same time they find some consolation in the realization that at the next election the people of North Carolina will banish the present outfit from power. It was a sore subject to Marion Butler, Senator-elect, before he left the city."

The Advice Will Not be Taken.

Dr. Pritchard advised his congregation in Charlotte to trade with Baptists to the exclusion of members of other denominations, other things being equal. The Doctor's position has been assailed by numerous correspondents of the Charlotte Observer, who declare such a policy would be narrow and unliberal.

No matter what advice the preachers give, the members will go on trading where they can get the most for the least money, and where the best business principles prevail. There is no such thing as close communion sugar, free grace coffee, apostolic flour, or predestinated molasses.—Charlotte Observer.

C., at Chapel Hill; $10,000 to the Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina for missionary purposes; $800 to Christ Church, and $500 to the Cathedral of the Good Shepherd, Raleigh.

Tea Tasters.

There are ten tea tasters in the United States who work at the entry ports. They make, it is said, $20,000 to $30,000 a year each, in sampling cargoes of tea. They can only work or taste two or three hours at a stretch with accuracy, and in the intervals of long rest prepare themselves for the work pretty much as pugilists train for a prize-fight.

A Des Moines woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, concluded to try an old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a tablespoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she found that her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a tablespoonful before going to bed, and on the following morning awoke free from all symptoms of the cold. Since then she has, on several occasions, used this remedy in like manner, with the same good results, and is much elated over her discovery of so quick a way of curing a cold. For sale by D. A. THE MARCH OF BLOOD.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ARMENIAN MASSACRES BY AN EYE-WITNESS.

NEARLY SEVEN THOUSAND AND FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE KILLED.

The Butchered Bodies were Either Buried in the Churches or Left where they were Slain by Mooshr Pasha and His Soldiers—Those who Escaped are now Dying with Cold and Hunger—Heroic but Unavailing Resistance of one of the Villages.

The Boston Globe publishes the following from Moosh, Asia Minor, which it says is the first description by an eye witness of Mooshr Pasha's "March of Blood." (Mooshr Pasha is the Military Governor of the city of Erzerjan, and started by order of the Sultan into the Sassoun district last September. Innumerable burned villages and 7,299 lives was the price of this official visit.)

Moosh, Asia Minor, January 7.

The number of our dead countrymen in the four towns visited by Mooshr Pasha will not be far short of 7,500. This is from the bodies counted and known to have perished. We cannot tell how many others there may be.

The first town entered by Mooshr Pasha was Shinik. It contains four villages, Shinik, Mezra, Koogock and Dopy.

When our people here heard of the arrival of the Pasha, Fr Johannis, with 240 of the leading townsmen, went to meet him to beseech him to have mercy on them. They were surrounded by soldiers long before they could get to Mooshr Pasha and every one was killed. Their bodies were put in the church and burned. Then they proceeded to burn the villages. The number killed from Shinik proper number 623 and 317 from the rest of the villages. Those who escaped are now in the villages surrounding this town, but the villagers are themselves very poor and many go hungry.

Mooshr Pash left Shinik to go to the next town in the Sassoun district. This town is Ayan, and has 14 villages. The people heard of his coming, and that he had twenty-four companies each of 400 men, besides twenty-three cannon. They knew that it was useless to appeal to him, so they fled to the village of Chli, because of its rocks and steepness, and there they could better escape him. They stayed in the mountains for almost twenty days, and when all food was gone and there was nothing left to do, they fled as best they could. Two thons and bodies were left behind at Chli.

Gali-Gazan was the next, and because the town has twenty-two villages around it, Mooshr brought Kurds, Annidie and irregulars, numbering 30,000. The town was deserted, for the people with all the food they could carry had fled to the mountains.

They stayed in their fastnesses for thirty days, and at last with a frenzy born of hunger and despair they made a terrible rush down the mountain sides, and attacked the tyrants instead of waiting to be killed. Patriot Vartan was like a God, and killed nineteen men with his sword before he fell dead. Fr Bedras was a soldier, too, and encouraged his children, and when he was at last killed, his body was cut in pieces and given to the dogs.

Alpag was the last town that the blood thirsty tyrant visited and this place contains eight villages: Verion, Charden, Moodavar, Enkik, Kalakaz, Choorop and Davlorig. The people had for the most part made their escape, but when Mooshr and his soldiers went their way, 1,300 bodies were found even here. Many more were burned, but their number cannot be known.

All bodies were left where they were butchered, and those who would travel this district must risk their lives through the pestilential odors that go up from so many dead. All who escaped from the Sassoun district came to the villages of the plains of Moosh, and hungry, destitute and broken hearted, they look for hope and help and sympathy from the civilized world to whom the news of their terrible loss may come."

BEWARE OF THE DEMOCRATIC CRIPPLE.

We have been requested to publish the following poem which has been going the rounds of the Democratic press. The Raleigh News and Observer introduces it as follows:

"It has something of the dash of Tennyson's 'Charge of the Light Brigade,' though somewhat inferior to that poem in euphony. It is like Whittier in homeliness of illustration, and, like the Quaker poet, the author makes an imperishable fact live in song. The author of this poem is a Texan, which will account for the more forcible than elegant expression with which it concludes.

The Democratic party has been officially declared a corpse at least a dozen times in a hundred years. Those who have undertaken to lift the remains of the party into the coffin have had the experience of a dead mule, and had been carried away on litters.

We advise all who anticipate attending the funeral of the Democratic party to take out heavy accident policies before coming near the corpse. Dead as it may seem, it will attend the funeral of the Republican party as it has attended in the past the funeral of the Federalist, Whig, Greenback and a dozen other parties. But to the poem:

When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the fishing worm swallows the whale;
When the terrapin knit woolen socks,
And the hare is outrun by the snail.
When the serpents walk upright like men,
And doodebugs travel like frogs;
When the grasshopper feeds on the hen,
And feathers are found on people's noses;
When fishes creep over dry land,
And mules on velocipedes ride;
When foxes lay eggs in the sand,
And women in dress take no pride;
When Dutchmen no longer bear drink,
And girls get to preching on time;
When Billy goats butt from the rear,
And treason is no longer a crime;
When humming birds pray like an ass,
And limberger smells like cologne;
When ploverashes are made out of glass,
And the hearts of Carolinians of stone;
When ideas grow on Populists' heads,
And wool on the hydraulic ram—
Then the Democratic party will be dead,
And this country won't be worth a-d-n

THEY GO HAND IN HAND.

A preacher came at a newspaper man in this way: "You editors dare not tell the truth. If you did you could not live; your newspaper would be a failure." The editor replied: "You are right. And the minister who will at all times and under all circumstances tell the whole truth about the members of his church alive or dead, will not occupy the pulpit more than one Sunday, and then he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand with the whitewash brushes and pleasant words magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit, the pen and the grave-stone are the great saint-making triumvirate." And the minister went away, very thoughtful, while the editor, turned to his work, and told about the surprising beauty of the bride, while, in fact, she was as homely as a hedge fence.

South Carolina Competing With North Carolina in Tobacco.

There used to be tobacco patches upon some of the old plantations in South Carolina, from which the slaves raised as much of the plant as was needed by the owners and themselves; but not a leaf of it was grown for the trade until a few years ago. Sometimes a smoker could buy a few of the "long plantation cigars" made by the darkeys, and we have heard that they were always extolled by the buyers. Within the past ten years tobacco growing has become one of the important and profitable industries of the Palmetto State, and the annual crop runs up to millions of pounds. Some of the growers get a yield of as much as 1,400 pounds to the acre, and it pays well when sold for twelve or thirteen cents a pound.

In the tobacco South Carolina has become a competitor with North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky, and its influence must soon be felt in the Western and Northern markets.

The facts furnish an illustration of the advantages of that diversification of crops in the South about which the Sun has so often spoken. Every Southern State is giving heed to the advice upon this subject which had been emphasized by their recent years.—New York Sun.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyler Co., Va., appreciates a good thing when he does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief, and I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." PROPOSED NEW LAWS.

Stewart Brothers, of Winston, Awarded the Contract for State Printing—Monument Appropriation New Safe, Etc.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 1.—The most important new bills introduced in the Legislature to-day were to allow the penitentiary to purchase the Caledonia farm on the Roanoke river; to punish bribery in political conventions; to require all railway trains to stop one minute at all towns of 600 inhabitants; to defame and punish train robbing.

The contract and bond of Stewart Brothers, of Winston, as State printers, were presented, with a majority report, stating that their bid was the lowest, and a minority report, stating that the bid of Edwards & Broughton, of Raleigh, was $600 lower. It was also said that the chairman of the committee had said before any bids were filed that he would award the contract to Stewart Brothers. The majority report was adopted.

The election-law bill passed by a strict party vote of 28 to 5.

The bill providing for the election of justices of the peace by this Legislature and for their election in future by the people. Not only are the vacancies filled, but a large number of additional magistrates are to be appointed at once.

The bill to appropriate $10,000 for the Confederate monument passed third reading by one majority. There were a great number of ladies in the galleries, and much applause. This was prolonged when Senator White, an ex-Confederate, clasped hands with Senator Grant, who was a major in the Federal army.

The House considered the revenue bill in Committee on the Whole, and adopted the more important sections. The poll-tax is $1.24; State tax, 21%; pension tax, 3%; school tax, 16c.

The Politician.

The politician is my shepherd; I shall not want any good thing during the campaign. He leadeth me into the saloon for my vote's sake. He filleth my pocket with cigars and my bear cap runneth over. He inquires after the health of my family, even unto the fourth generation. Yes, though I walk through mud and rain to vote for him and about myself hoarse, when he is elected he straightway forgetteth me. Yes, though I meet him in his office, he knoweth me not. Surely the wool has been pulled over my eyes all the days of my life.

ORIGIN OF CLYDESALES.

One of the Dukes of Hamilton the First to Study Their Breeding. The Clydesdales, perhaps the horses most highly esteemed by farmers, especially in the hilly country, are bred in districts bordering on the Clyde, and owe their origin to one of the dukes of Hamilton, who crossed some of his best horses with stallions he imported from Flanders, says the Nineteenth Century. This breed is conspicuous for its high courage, activity and endurance. Several years ago the late Gen. Peel told me how successful he had been in mating his thoroughbred Topophillite with Clydesdales.

"When you use," said he, "a thoroughbred for draught mares always use the biggest and best you have, and you will be sure to produce draught horses second to none. Horses good as Stockwell are not too good for my Clydesdales. What I have bred will go on their knees to move the heaviest loads. They won't be beaten."

This fact proves how beneficially a good cross of fresh blood operates, and particularly so when the new blood is obtained from the thoroughbred—not from inferior specimens of this breed, but from the very best—from "horses as good as Stockwell." The Clydesdale differs from the Shire horse in that it has a long, low back, short, fat ribs, good, hard legs and long pasterns, which would seem to have been derived from a cross with a half-breed or thoroughbred horse.

This certainly is not a desirable conformation, and our Scottish brothers have, for several years past, inoculated this breed by the introduction of the best Shire blood, both male and female, which has resulted in the production of animals with shorter and stronger pasterns. This breed is in much request in England, and the best specimens are readily sold to Americans at high figures.

We must bear patiently with ourselves without self flattery.

Sin has many tools, but a lie is the handle which fits them all.
