Our market was well supplied with huge drum fish yesterday.

Steamer Newberne, of O. D. S. S. Co., will leave her wharf at noon precisely, Friday 23rd inst.

The steamer Newberne, of O. D. S. S. Co., sailed Sunday with 739 boxes peas and the steamer Pamlico, of same line, sailed yesterday noon with 1,507 boxes peas, besides other truck.

Paper was shipped to us last week, but it did not arrive until yesterday, and as we could not get any in the city on Monday it was impossible for us to give our readers the news yesterday.

The new city wagon to be hauled by the horses of New Bern Steam Fire Engine Company, has arrived and is being used on our streets. It is as fancy as a fiddle and very pretty withal.

Schr. Addie Henry arrived in this port Monday night, from West Indies, with a cargo of bananas, cocoanuts, &c. The bananas were sold at retail to our citizens, and all day large bunches could be seen carried about the streets.

Prayer Meeting.
There will be prayer meeting, D. V., at Neuse street Methodist Church this evening at half past five o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

Nominations for Councilmen.
At the Democratic meetings held in the First, Second and Third Wards Monday night, Messrs. Thos. S. Howard, of the First, W. F. Rountree, of the 2nd and Thos. Daniels, of the 3rd, were nominated for Councilmen.

These gentlemen were Councilmen during last year and their re-nomination (which is equivalent to an election) is an evidence of the appreciation on the part of their constituents, of their faithful services.

Died.
At his residence, at Point Clear, near Mobile, Alabama, on the 17th inst., Mr. NATHAN T. GOODING, formerly a citizen of Newbern.

Mr. GOODING, with his wife, the daughter of our esteemed townsman, Mr. W. G. Bryan, left Newbern many years ago for Alabama.

He leaves a wife and family, with many warm friends in Alabama and this State, to mourn his loss.

Death of Mr. Morgan.
The sad intelligence has been received in this city of the sudden death, from eating poisonous mushrooms, at Glen Oak Apiary, San Diego county, California, April 5th, of Mr. RUFUS MORGAN, of North Carolina, who at one time was engaged in business in this city and married the daughter of Judge Wm. J. Clarke, of Newbern. Mr. MORGAN's wife and two children still reside here.

Midnight Murderers, Uncivilized Barbarians, &c.

On Monday night, April 12th James Black, a negro who had attempted to commit rape on a Northern lady in Petersburg, Va., was taken from jail and lynched by a mob lashed to fury by the heinousness of the crime committed, and the New York Herald, in speaking of the affair heaps the abuse found in the following article, on the entire Southern people. If such crimes are not calculated to arouse the passions of Northern people, we are proud of our Southern birth, and desire to live and die among those who ever stand ready to deal out punishment (summarily though it may be) to those who brutally assail defenceless woman.

We do not wish to convey the idea that we are in favor of lynch law—far from it. We believe that the guilty should be brought to justice in the manner prescribed by the laws of our land, yet if there is any excuse for the violent acts of a mob, it is where vengeance is speedily visited on a villain, a cowardly fiend, a worse than murderer such as this fellow Black proved himself to be. He might have been tried, convicted and hung. On the other hand, he might have escaped from prison, and, being at heart a ravisher, commit all the crimes in the category of crimes, bringing desolation and sorrow to many households.

It is needless for us to deny the charge that Lynching in the Southern States is in the regular order of things. The South is not "hid in a corner," and ninety-nine one-hundredths of the Herald's readers know the charge is false.

The Herald's article may reflect the sentiments of its writer, but we are satisfied it is not endorsed by the Northern people at large. We have in our midst many Northern gentlemen and we believe were such a case to occur in this section, as that in Petersburg, they would join with the Southern people in wreaking vengeance, should circumstances warrant such a step.

Read what the Herald says:
"LYNCH LAW IN VIRGINIA—A surprising story is sent to the Herald this morning by its correspondent at Petersburg, Va., in connection with the lynching a few nights ago of an unfortunate black man. We do not, of course, refer to the lawless and barbarous proceeding itself. Lynching in Virginia, and, in fact, in nearly all the Southern States, is in the regular order of things. Midnight murder by masked miscreants is the rule down that way; a legal and orderly hanging is the exception. The surprising part of this lynching story is that in the neighborhood where the deed was perpetrated public opinion is so aroused and so loud in condemnation of the outrage that it is not impossible the "regulators" will be punished to the full extent of the law. At all events a special jury has been summoned to make an investigation, and, if possible discover the guilty parties. This is really encouraging. It shows that in at least one State in the South some approach is being made towards the methods that obtain in the more civilized portions of the world."

A Shower of Bugs.
There have been in other places showers of frogs, fish and flesh, but it remained for Wake to come to the front with a shower of bugs. A gentleman living about three miles south of the city stepped to the door of his house about day-break yesterday and was startled to see the air filled with objects descending in showers, but softly and lightly, like snow-flakes. He stooped down and saw that they were bugs, of a dull gray color, and a little less in size than a grain of corn. They fell thickly and as soon as they struck the ground began to crawl about in a very sprightly manner. They fell on the house, in the yard, everywhere, and it really looked like a plague of insects. A brisk breeze was blowing at the time, from the eastward, and this seemed to have borne the insects with it. They continued to fall steadily but slowly from day-break until the sun rose, and then the shower ceased. The poultry made a good use of the feast spread before them, and gathered in as many of the bugs as they could. The gentleman who observed the phenomenon says that he has known the same thing to occur before, but the shower did not continue quite so long a time. Within a space of a few yards there were hundreds, perhaps thousands, of the insects.—Raleigh Observer.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, The Almighty, in His infinite mercy and wisdom, has taken from earth Captain William Jones, who had reached the allotted years of man, and who was ready and willing, being an humble servant, and waiting the summons of the Master with calmness to go hence. Be it

Resolved, That Eureka Lodge, while having sustained a loss and mourning over a link broken in the Fraternal Chain, still points with pride to the bright example, and life of a true Patriarch, gone before, to sit in the never ending circle whose links cannot be broken, within the Courts of Eternity, Resolved That as a token of our brotherly love, we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days and cause these resolutions to be spread upon the minutes and to appear in the NUT SHELL and Newbernian and a copy sent to the family of deceased.

COUGH

SYRUP

SUGGESTED BY YESTERDAY'S NUT SHELL.

A County Commissioner, with wood on his back,
Is a horse of a feller—he needs but a sack,
To add to his burden a side of nice bacon,
Which, 'long with the wood may be easily taken,
If he'll call at my store, which is right on the track
Of County Commissioner, with wood on his back.
Old Abraham Lincoln jumped up great from a raft,
So'll County Commissioner from the style of his draft.
Let the musketry rattle, let brass cannon roar,
A brighter day's dawning for the destitute poor,
Our County Commissioner has the wood on his back
And a side of my bacon in his old cotton sack.
