

On our Southern Agricultural Concerns. If the whole of our Southern Agricultural difficulties proceed, as we venture to assert they do, from the erroneous system of col lecting the revenue of the Union, (introduced early into the country from necessity,) the remedy can only be found in a total change of that system. So long as that revenue is raised by a heavy duty on im- rit it. The plan contemplated varies materially such encroachment. I believe that Industry can ports, and the people of the United States from that of any of the American Periodicals now are thus made to support the general gov- circulated; and if executed in the style which the ernment by Indirect Taxation, so long shall will be found, they trust, to be an improvewe, in the South, be subject to the evil of ment, in some respect at least, upon the best false and foolish in theory, and rulnous in pracpaying far more than our share of the pub- of its predecessors. In the choice of matelic expense. For, as the majority of these rials, though original contributions of decided States are poor in exports, and but a small be introduced to the avelusion of other articles part of them rich in exports, the revenue of superior value. The numerous Magazines to will be levied so as to make the greatest be provided for the purpose of selection, will al weight always fall upon the few rich States | ways afford a plentiful supply of matter suitable The majority will naturally continue to do this to relieve themselves from the United novelty. Extensive arrangements have been States' taxes; but, if in addition a large made at home and abroad that will give every portion of the public treasure is to be shared out annually to greedy contractors and speculators in jobs, and through them to be divided among the poor and labouring classes in these thrifty States, the evil is increased tenfold, as well as the difficulty of cur ing it. We ask if this is not the case at present, as it regards these U. States and if this is so, is there not ample cause in the South for more than alarm, at a new and aggravated load of taxes? The Southern States are rich in exports, and they are made to pay far more than their share of the expenses of the Union, the Eastern, North Wes tern, and middle States are poor in exports and are therefore favoured and spared, while some of them in reality contribute scarcely a dollar, either directly or indirect ly, towards the public burdens. This arises from the present system of indirect taxation-the system of taxing imports: for the in exchange for these imports, and which Work, will fill its due space. On this latter subexports which are sent out of the country we know are principally the growth of the ject it will be difficult to find contributors who Southern States, are taxed from this mode can write clearly, but the engraver will be per of supporting the general government; and the growers of these Southern exports, actually pay, annually, out of the prices of their cotton and rice, without benefit to their country or to any one, a sum equal in tavo pages; to be printed on a fine super royal $6 50. smount to that proportion of the whole expense of the Union, which their share of the exports bears to the whole amount of all the exports. The fatal consequences of giving unlimited power to Congress to raise gradually bringing the Southern States to zuin and despair; but we are yet to feel them with a direr pressure, and they will bear down upon us with such grievous weight, as to crush us to the earth. Every planter and every farmer in this Southern country, will be sensible too soon, by the still greater fall in produce and by the still greater difficulties in which he will be involved, that he pays out of his crop enormously, in consequence of the error in taxing imports, and this, even, although he should not purchase or consume a single dollar's worth of foreign merchandize.

It is, we know, a common opinion amongst us, that if we do not individually consume toreign wares or merchandize, that we then, as individuals, cannot suffer loss from the duty on imports; that we are not in any way taxed, nor are our incomes made less. But this is a most fatal error. The full value of the whole duty on imports is deducted from the value of the whole exported crops, and in like manner is as much taken out f each individual's crop in proportion, provided it is an exportable crop, as if he had paid it to the govern ment in money.

But is this all? far from it. We have only stated the effect on the price of our great Agricultural staples. The tax is yet to be paid. Nor can that tax be avoided it we have dealings with any one. For if we sell our crops for cash and purchase any article, even such as are the produce of the country, or of other States, that purchase must enable the person we deal with, or some other person, to lay out the money in foreign merchandize, without which final act the exporting merchant could not send their crops abroad; and this holds good whether we buy a carriage from Philadelphia, horses and mules from Kentucky, or hats made with beaver trapped in the Wes tern wilderness.

If these things are so, and if our crops are made to pay taxes, while others do no pay, is not indirect taxation then a subject of the deepest interest to us Southern Agriculturists? Do not our comforts and our peace, nay, our very existence now, actually depend upon its being done away with, and forever abolished?

The subject is indeed a most solemn one for if these Southern States do not get redress, and that speedily, they may be driven from necessity to an extremity that wil end in some awful calamity to our common country.

The name of one of the committee men of a temperance society in the interior, is At-water Treat. He is, of course, doubly opposed to treating with spirits.

A young lady at school, engaged in the study of grammer, being asked by her preceptor, whether the word "kiss" was a common or a proper noun? the girl blushing deeply, with hesitancy, answered, "it is both common and proper, six."

PROPOSES, IN CONJUNCTION WITH LOUIS A. GODEY, To Commence on the first of July next,

Monthly Literary Miscellany,

UNDER THE ABOVE TITLE. This work will be devoted especially to the service of the Ladies, and looking chiefly to them for patronage, no exertion will be spared to mefor the Lady's Book, which, when republished, will possess, for all but a few, the attraction of facility to the ready attainment of the choicest and earliest productions. The design includes every thing which may be expected to afford entertainment and instruction, in an inviting form, to those for whom the work is intended. It is presumed too that a Miscellany deserving the notice of the Ladies, cannot but prove worthy of the attention of the other sex. Among the subjects which may be enumerated as likely to be prominent, will be found moste, including notices of new compositions, with occasional disquisitions on the science, and reprints of such new songs as may be thought worthy to be so distinguished; Biographical Anecdotes, Tales and Interesting Narratives from writers of real talent; the Fashions, with an illustrative engraving quarterry, fancifully coloured. This department will be under the superintendence of persons well versed in the art, and no pains will be spared to render not the least attractive part of the contents. A word or two now and then will be intraduced touching those exercises and sports which are generally regarded as improving to both health and beauty, among which Riding and Dancing may be specified; with appropriate wood cuts by skilful artists. Poetry, of course, will be one of the departments to which great attention will fectly intelligible.

CONDITIONS. The work will be issued in numbers on the firs of every month, and comprize fifty-six large oc paper with entirely new type, and carefully stitched in colored covers .- Every number will contain a piece of Music, one Copperplate Engraving, and at least four wood Cuts illustrative of some of the contents; and every three months a coloured plate of the latest London or Paris Fashions. The subscription price will be $3 per annually, will be added to all subscriptions the remain unpaid, and the work discontinued to those who neglect to settle up their arrears. Great attention will be paid to forwarding the work to country subscribers, that they may receive it uninjured by mail trans ortation. Agents receiving subscriptions, and remitting the amount to the publishers, will be allowed 15 per cent. discount, or a proportionate number of copies of the work. Address

RECOMMENDATIONS.

n testimony of the merits of this work, the following commendations, by some of the most distinguished medical characters of the United States, are inserted.

Baltimore Nov 18, 1822. DEAR Sin: I have been truly gratified in the perusal of the Sixth Edition of your "Medical Companion, or Family Physician." The improvements made in this new impression of your work, compared with the former editions. are indeed extensive and important. Independent of your having enlarged considerably on diseases generally you have introduced additional matter, which greatly enhances its value. The introduction of the Nurse's Guide, as also the treatise you have given on the management of fe-THE Subscriber has now landing from schr. male complaints, will have the most happy effects Supers, from New York, the following arti- in correcting the gross errors daily committed by ignorant persons, and thereby save many valua-

I do not hesitate to say, that this new edition of your Medical Companion, is decidedly the best popular treatise on medicine, that has ever been published; and considering it, as I verily do, a safe and useful guide for heads of families, as well as for young practitioners of medicine. I take much pleasure in recommending it to the attention of our fellow citizens, both in town and country. I will only add, if your book meets with that encouragement, to which it is justly entitled, you will very soon be called upon, by the public, for another edition.

I am, dear sir, with much respect, your friend and servant, COLIN MACKENZIE, M. D. Dr. James Ewell.

Philadelphia, August 13, 1816. DEAR SIR: I have looked over, with some are, the cory of the Third Edition of the " Medical Companion" which you did me the favor to present to me.

By the additions and revisions given to this new impression of the work, it is not only enlarged, but exceedingly improved. After stating so much, I need hardly repeat an opinion, which I publicly expressed on a former occasion, that I consider it, as indisputably, the most useful popular treatise on medicine with which I am acquainted. Compared with the European Books of the ame nature, it has, especially in relation to the reatment of the diseases of our own country, a ery decided superiority. I trust that the success of this literary enterprize may be equal to your very generous and benevolent disposition. With great respect. I am, dear sir, yours, &c. N. CHAPMAN, M.D.

Philadelphia, December 31, 1907. DEAR SIR; I have carefully perused your work," The Medical Companion," and take much pleasure in expressing my entire approbation of the plan, and of the utility with which you have conducted your inquiries. Your book cannot tail to be a very acceptable present to the public in general, and especially to our own country nen. I am really of opinion, that you are enti tled to much praise for the pains which you have taken in furnishing us with a work, the want of which has long been experienced among us. Your friend, &c. B. S. BARTON, M. D.
